Stella is Outstanding Senior Woman

Stella Howell was selected as Agnew's Outstanding Senior Woman in voting that ended Monday afternoon. Stella is an elementary education major, and is presently doing her student teaching in the fourth grade at Lincoln School. She will represent Agnew in the AWS competition for FHS Outstanding Senior Woman.

Elections coming soon

Dorm elections are coming up. Anyone wishing to run for an office should contact Jerry Mapes in the near future. Offices being filled this spring include president, treasurer, and social chairman.

Hickman to speak Thur.

Randy Hickman, student body president candidate from McGrath, will be here Thursday night at 6:00 p.m. He will present his platform and answer any questions girls might have about his stand on campus issues.

He will speak out about the bookstore prices, campus patrol, off-campus housing, and the role of Student Senate. The elections will be held April 5.

Calendar

Wed., Thur., Fri. - At the Union, a table will be set up to listen to any complaints about the campus.

April 7-8 - Derby Days

April 8 - Agnew-McGrath party

April 21-2 - Spring Fling Weekend water fights, dance at the Back Door, picnic, games, the Pagan Ballet from Salina will play at the dance.

April 22 - Grass Roots will perform

April 28-9 - Furlough Weekend

Alpha Phi Omega sponsors this - a ten-mile bike race (ten laps); a team is 6 women and the fee is $10; see Jerry Mapes if you are interested.

Do you want a Queen candidate? This also costs $10 and the proceeds go to the Endowment Association.

Baseball prize offered

The next baseball game is Thursday, March 30, at 3:30 p.m. The dorm with the most people there gets a JFK rocking chair from the Endowment Association. Here's a chance to get some new furniture, girls! In addition, the more Agnew girls in attendance at the games, the better chance we have of getting a Baseball Queen from Agnew.

Editorial Quickies

Once again we find that election time is upon us. I have resolved to remain unbiased, but I would like to stress the importance of voting. At this time in your career, it is useless and somewhat childish to burden you with the "voting is a privilege" routine. I am, however, firmly convinced that if you don't vote, you have no right to complain. So, trot on over to the IU and vote for the candidate of your choice at the April 5 Student Senate elections.

COED OF THE WEEK:

CAROL HORCHEM

Freshman Carol Horchem is this week's Coed of the Week. Carol lives in Room 312 and her hometown is Ransom. She has an older sister and one older brother.

Carol has light brown hair and blue eyes, and wire rims. Blue is her favorite color. Her list of favorites also includes "All in the Family," "Classical Gas", Paul Newman, and the movie "Red Sky at Morning".

Swimming, water skiing, horseback riding, and embroidery make up Carol's list of hobbies. She also likes Cedar Bluff Lake and gardening.

Carol's present plans for the future are school, school, and school - her major is English. A couple of years ago, she went to summer school (after her junior year in high school), and she lived in Custer at that time.

Presently, Carol is a member of the Artist and Lectures Committee.

Her October 20 birthday makes Carol a Libra. Her pet peeve is dirty rooms (hear that Debbie?) So why not drop in sometime and get to know Carol better?

WANT AD--"Wanted a roomie, tall, dark and handsome--preferably male. Contact any girl on 3rd North. Reply immediately--just lost roomie. "First come-first serve." Try it...you'll like it..."

With the outback of funds, every department on campus seems to feel the pinch. The athletic department is no exception. According to Dean Hobbs, some of the so-called minor sports are in danger of being cut out. This is the reason we have Diamond Jarrings and pep rallies - to keep the all-American sport (baseball) from fading into extinction on the IU campus.

Well, the moral of this whole story is: support the baseball team, go to the games, and have a good time.

Gee, the wind is strong, but Stella's feet are worse!

How Five Girls Spent Their Spring Break OR A Sequel to "Last Summer"

The "fearless five" have returned from spring break. Lynn Burrell, Katie Haffa, Monisa King, Marilyn Fishny, and Barb Yelek set out Friday afternoon for Garden City enroute to Colorado. The trip was not altogether uneventful--ask Lynn about the men's restroom in a park in LaCrosse! We met Lynn and Beth McGovern's parents that night and saw the sights of Garden City.

Saturday morning began the long trip west. After leaving part of a tire south of Tribune and our hearts in Sharon Springs, we bravely pushed onto greater misadventures. 400 miles later, we arrived in Windsor, Colorado, tired but glad to be there.

Sunday noon meal was eaten in a covered wagon in Estes Park. Everyone spent more money than they intended and went home sunburned.

Bright and early Monday morning, we started for Denver. Barb fought the traffic downtown in Denver, swore at other drivers, ran red lights, and managed to park the car without a scratch--on our car, that is. The first person we saw was Dean Jean. The rest of the morning we paraded around, huffed and puffed to the capital, and spent more money. Now naturally whenever 5 "attractive" girls tour Denver they hear wolf calls. We were no exceptions!

In the afternoon, we visited the Museum of Natural History and Stapleton International Airport.

That night we painted the town red. Fiddler on the Roof is an excellent movie. We finished the evening off with drinks at the Place Pigalle listening to a top recording artist. They have great cokes and "what's-his-name" will be famous someday!

We went back to Windsor the next morning and saw the rest of Northern Colorado.

Back on the road again Wednesday morning, we headed for Waterville, Kansas. 15 miles from Marilyn's home we ruined another tire.

Thursday we visited Waterville, Blue Rapids, and Clay Center. In the afternoon, we all headed for various homes... Marilyn to Waterville; Monisa and Lynn stayed in Clay Center, and Katie and Barb went to Topeka.

Reunited once again Sunday night we found that we were all still friends. Second middle south found we were still as noisy as ever. All-in-all it was a very educational trip. Katie and Monisa learned to change a tire, Barb supervised, Marilyn learned to use a crank telephone, and Lynn kept her cool in embarrassing situations.

Attention all maidens!

"Self Defense for Women", a 10-part course designed to teach women how to defend themselves against attackers will premiere on Channel 11 at 9 p.m., Sunday, April 2.

Terry Offstein, who holds a third degree black belt in tae kwondo karate, will conduct the lessons.

Some of the topics covered by the series are the basic stances and punches, snap kick, collar grab, hip throws, finger jabs, choke hold, arm and wrist lock, foot sweeps and choke breaks.

Floor News

1ST MIDDLE NEWS--Leggy Carswell, why were you so nervous at the candle-lighting Monday night? It couldn't have been because your diamond was almost dropped 3 times, could it?

The members of 1st Middle wish to state a complaint regarding the amount of time that Lois B. has been spending with one certain guy. We realize that she is obligated (?) to spend some time with S.Z. (especially when he comes up from Manhattan 3 times a week just to see her), but we would like her to spend a few hours a week with us. Lois, do you think you could alternate your schedule to include us?

Kathy D. couldn't stand the noise and confusion that has taken place on 1st Middle lately, so she decided to go on retreat and just relax for a couple days. But really Kathy--you didn't have to go all the way to Great Bend!!

One of the Agnew intramural bowling teams consisting of Kim T., Kathy D., Rita P., Lois B., and Helene G., have been doing rather well. They have won 2 out of 3 games. Hope you make it to the play-offs!! Remember--we'll be cheering for you!

Some of us on 1st Middle have learned a new game called Mah Jong. If anyone would like to learn one of the weirdest games ever invented just come on down to Room 110 some night. But don't come before 11 or 12 p.m.!!

Congratulations to Marsha Corder on getting AWS representative. We are positive that she will represent us well.

Marilyn D.--How does it feel to finally have a candle-lighting on your floor?

Terry C.--Could you please cover up that sparkly thing on your left hand so that it will quit blinding us?

Barb C.--How was your date with 3 pre-schoolers?

More from the Floors —

Barb C.--Who was your visitor over the weekend??

Eileen K.--Who have you been seeing lately?

Marcia J.--Are you always so weird at 2 in the morning or only when you are studying for a Psychology test?

Sue N.--Why were you in such a hurry to get back from vacation that you couldn't wait one more hour for a ride?

Kim T.--Do you always blow eggs at 11 p.m.?

Lois B.--Where were you Tuesday, Thursday, and Saturday?

2ND MIDDLE MEETINGS--Spring break brought back the gals of second middle south rested, relaxed, and not anxious to resume classes. Everyone seemed to enjoy the break even though a few of us got left in Hays, we managed to entertain ourselves. If you ever want to see the Brass Rail empty, stay up here over spring break.

Five of our gals spent a really neat spring break. Read about it on another page in the Echo.

Congrats to Kathy Moore and Karen Beavers. They're two "Diamond Darlings" who look sharp at the ole baseball diamonds. Good luck, girls.

To Marilyn L.: Why do four girls on second middle stare out my window when you date the guy with the big hat?

"True Confessions" seemed to be the hot topic in Room 216 one night last week. I dropped by just in time for a good story by K.P. and in time to hear E.J. say, "Oh, Jeanette, you embarrassed me..."

Reminder to Bunny Buddies: Your gift for your buddy should be relatively inexpensive.

What near 4.0 co-ed goes around making up new nursery rhymes with connotative meanings? "Twiddle Dee-Dee, who could that be? L.W.?"

Deb Johnson celebrated her 19th birthday last week (all last week!) The Brass Rail will never be the same, but then neither will she. Say, Deb, do you have trouble keeping up with your bed? How about your sheets? Pillow? Bedspread? Mattress?

I hear Dianna S. and Paula M. aren't very good nature trail guides. What happened? A little fog got you mixed up?

Where'd you get all your bruises, Doris?

That about wraps it up, gang. Have a nice day!

--Sharon

This has been a really WEIRD but exciting week for the residents of Third South. Nobody could find Joni and Rhonda when they cleaned up their room--they got lost in the closet!

Sharon got a promise ring from Tim. Congratulations, Sharon!!!! Also--how was your shower?

Visitors invaded the floor this weekend. Two of Linda's friends from KU came down, 2 of Joni and Rhonda's friends came down, and Kathy I. had a friend down. According to Julie, a "bratty" sister also invaded the floor.

How was your sunrise, Curt? Did you even see it?

Quotes of the week:

Kathy I.--I think I exist; therefore I exist, I think.

Marilyn--I can resist anything but temptation.

Margaret--Hell is empty, for the devils are all here on 3rd South.

Linda--Those who think they know it all upset those of us who do.

More famous quotes coming up next week!

Margaret really believes in cleanliness now. She took 3 showers Sunday since she has been going steady with Al. Well, Marge, that's what you get for going steady--all washed up.

Diane, Mary, and Sharon went to Wichita for the KLEA band trip last weekend.
