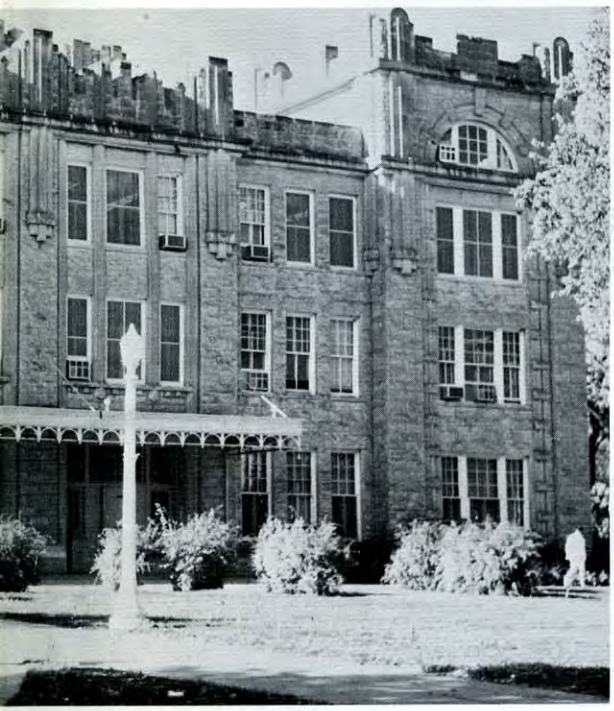
The Cunningham Era Begins



Each day becomes a part of man's pilgrimage, a touchstone of values and a milestone in the mosaic of life.

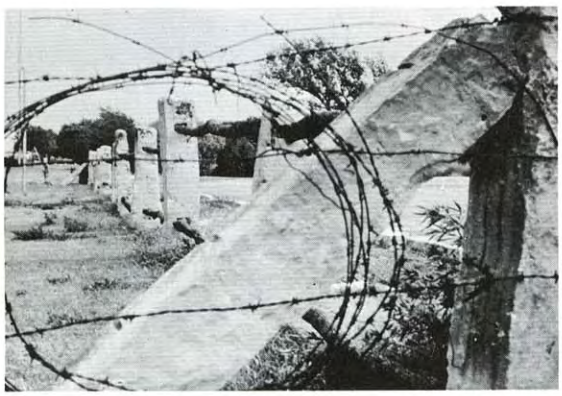
For Morton Christy Cunningham, the mosaic of life changed, and his pilgrimage took a new direction when he accepted the presidency of Fort Hays Kansas State College and left his native state of Missouri.

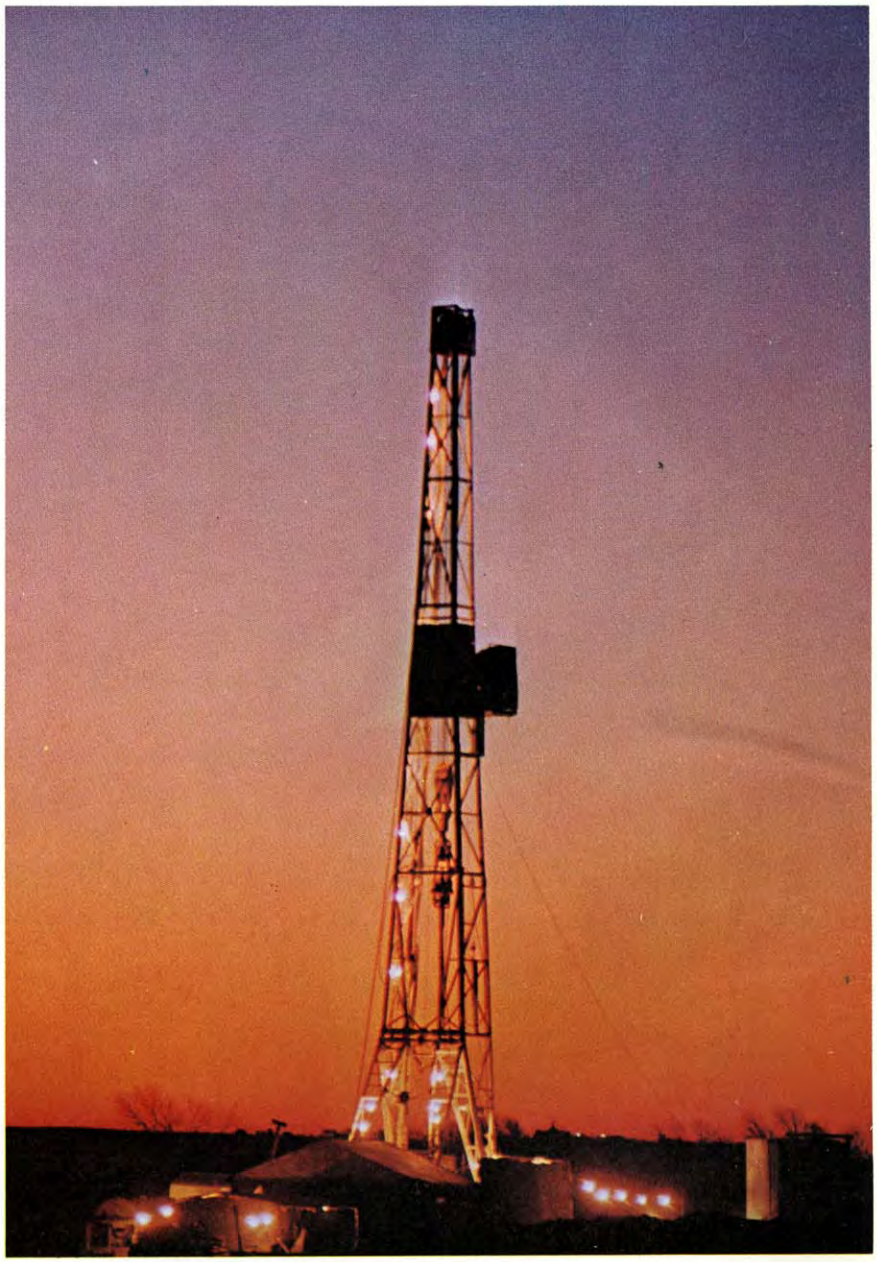
Wooded hills gave way to rolling prairie and grassland. Limestone fenceposts stood like milestones marking the way.

Fort Hays State appeared as an oasis of green in August, 1949. The wide sweep of the plains was interrupted by the meandering stream and wooded lowland.

Sturdy buildings of native limestone lent personality to the campus. In the distance the throb of a pump and a tall derrick evidenced the presence of oil, part of the natural wealth of Kansas.

L. D. Wooster, president emeritus, gave 50 years of dedicated service as teacher, administrator and builder to Fort Hays State and received tributes from the Cunninghams and hosts of friends at his retirement.





Issues A Challenge

This was to be home for the Cunninghams—Morton or "Pete," Lottie and the two "Little Hams," Chris and Marianne. Here they would live for 20 years while the children would grow to adulthood and the President would strive to provide opportunities for students to prepare themselves for responsible living.

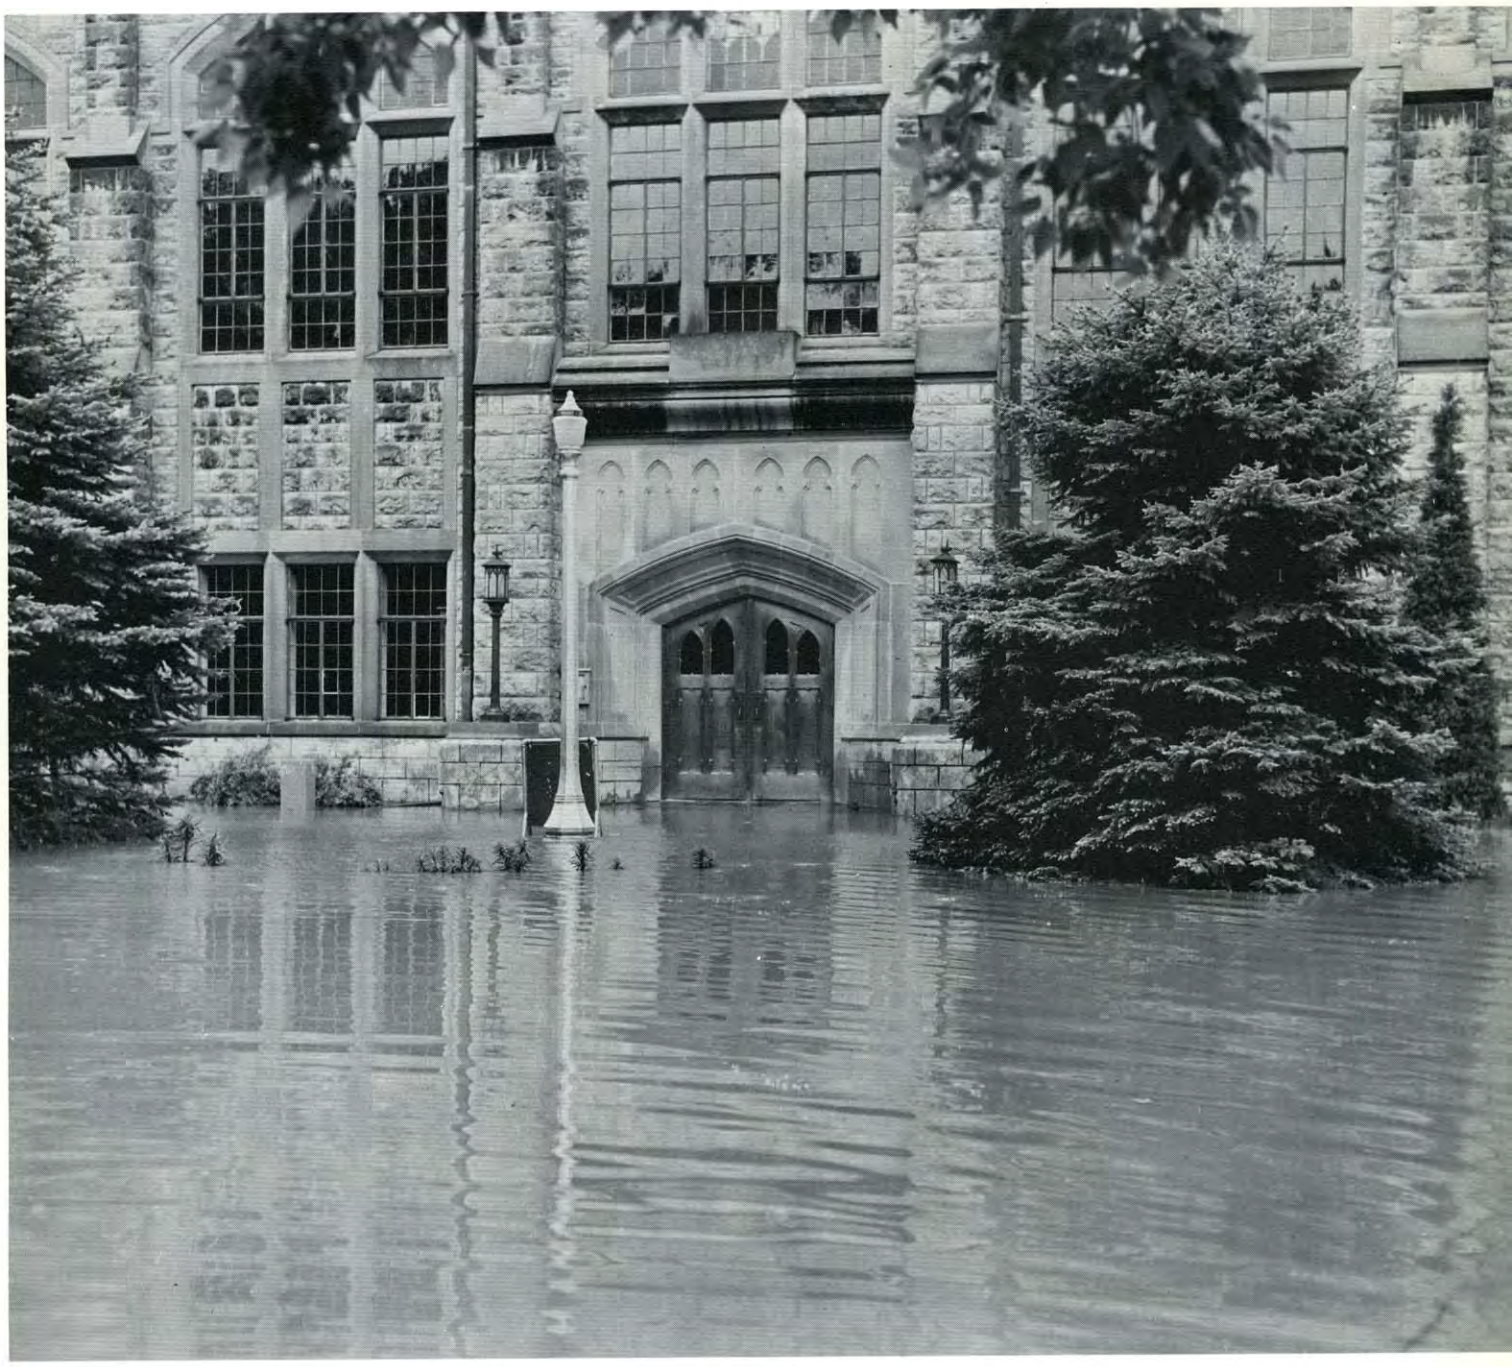
Accepting the reins of administration from retiring President L. D. Wooster, Dr. Cunningham issued a Call to Students, as timely in 1969 as in 1949. "The challenge to you today," he said, "Is that of survival in a world torn with ideological conflicts. The hope of the world lies with you and all other youth . . . Through the education that you attain here and all that which you gain throughout your life, you should develop an abiding faith in yourself, your fellowman and your God. All of your contributions toward a better world in which to live will then be made in the light of the principles and tenets of the Christian faith. Without these, man cannot hope to forge a peaceful world."

Early in the Cunningham era the elements of nature tested man's mettle.

Savage storms and flood are milestones of history. On May 22, 1951, flood waters swept through Hays and the campus, bringing death and destruction. Damage to buildings and campus made it impossible to continue classes or to house students.

The college year ended abruptly without final examinations and commencement.

Vicious winds and driving snow, as well as epidemics of flu periodically disrupted communications and routine of school life.



In a brighter tone, Fort Hays State celebrated its 50th anniversary in 1952 and launched new programs as it moved into another half century.

When the Cunningham regime began, enrollment stood at 1,023 with 110 faculty members. The post-war boom was making an impact. Buildings needed repair: classrooms were crowded and housing was at a premium.

The man destined to be known as the "Builder President" wasted no time.

Easing of war tensions and controls made possible a program of expansion. Funds had been appropriated for the applied arts building, but were insufficient. An additional grant made completion possible and the building (now Davis Hall) was opened in 1952, the first new classroom structure in 24 years.

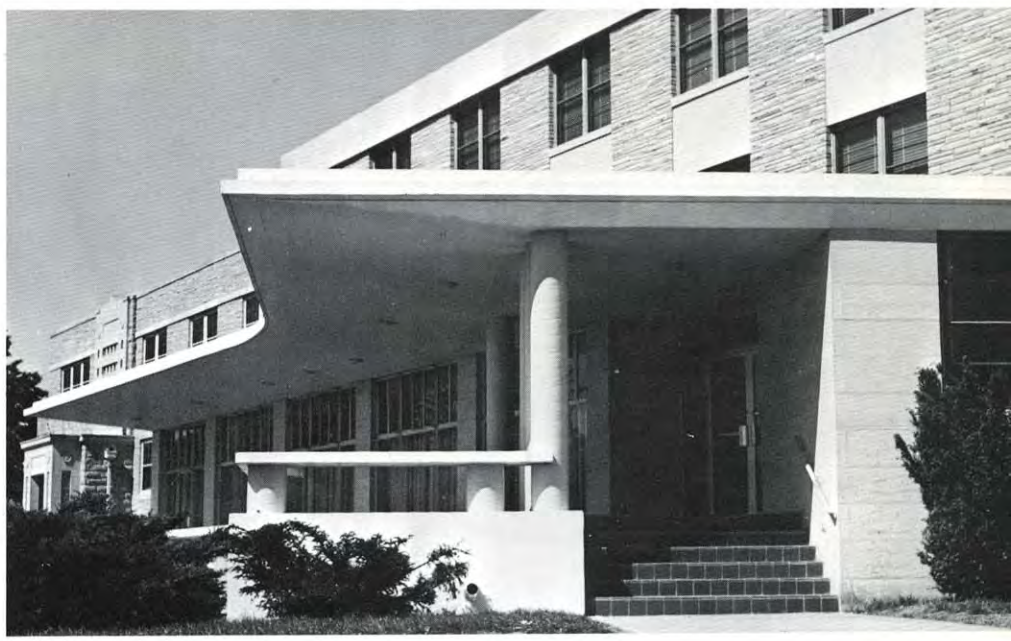
Housing demanded immediate action. Stone upon stone was laid for a wing to Custer Hall, then two wings for Residence Hall (McGrath), followed later by three new halls—Agnew, then Wiest and McMindes.

Married students gained a trailer court, then Wooster Place, an apartment complex. The President's Home was built in 1954.

Improvements were made at the stadium. Service buildings, a power plant, improvements on the college farm and air conditioning modernized the college's physical plant.

The Memorial Union opened in 1958 and provided a social center for students. A wing was added in 1961-62 to Albertson Hall, then Malloy Hall was opened in 1965. Most recently, Forsyth Library was completed in 1968.



New Buildings Rise

Meanwhile Rarick and Picken Halls underwent extensive renovation. The Social Building (now Martin Allen Hall) was remodeled. Classrooms and expanded administrative office facilities were provided in the Coliseum. Old Forsyth became a classroom building with a new name—McCartney Hall.

An allocation from the state for planning a new home for health, physical education and recreation has been made. A $2 million-addition to Wiest Hall to accommodate 432 men and an addition to the Memorial Union, doubling its size, are under construction.

Turning earth for the Memorial Union, construction of the residence halls (far left), Malloy Hall (left) and the President's Home (above), contributed to the designation of the "Builder President" for M. C. Cunningham. But he also found time for football and to crown a Homecoming Queen. (top)

Administrative responsibilities take heavy toll of a President's time, but "Pete" Cunningham has never been too busy to meet and know students.

His jaunts to the Union for coffee, casual meetings on campus with a student and major events of all descriptions have found him an active participant.

An ardent sports fan, he has frequented the practice field and is an avid fan at games.

He'll crown a queen or allow himself to be "sold" in a slave auction when it's for the good of Fort Hays State.

The Students' President

His interest in students is genuine. He seeks their friendship and acquaints himself with their problems. He has written uncounted numbers of letters of congratulation and sympathy, sharing bits of their lives.

Perhaps their attitude toward him is best illustrated by the student who remained after Commencement to tell him: "President, I just want you to know what you have meant to me at Fort Hays State. Never have you failed to speak to me when you have seen me on campus nor to show an interest in me and my progress. Twice when I was at wit's end to know how to manage to stay in school, you encouraged me with assurance that 'somehow I could manage.' I stayed in town to tell you how much I appreciate you."

LEFT: Queen candidates waited the moment when the winner was announced and the President placed a crown on her head. ABOVE: An annual custom has been the presentation of the President's Christmas Card Tree, bearing greetings from organizations.

Accreditation is vital to a college and President Cunningham has zealously guarded this seal of approval. He points with pride to full recognition by national agencies.

Administrative problems increase as a college grows. Enrollment rose to nearly 2,000 by the end of the first decade of the Cunningham era, then continued to spiral, reaching 5,469 in the fall of 1968, with 250 faculty members.

He Measures the Task

Like milestones, the college programs expand each year and at year's end the ceremonies of Commencement mark completion of another cycle. It's a time of pageantry and pomp, looking ahead and back and appraising the record.

Man is a measure of all things, and his measure is judged by his peers.

A former member of the Kansas Board of Regents has said, "The head of a great college must be a benevolent despot, an autocrat. It is his personality, his qualities, his dreams that must shape to a large extent the future of an institution of higher learning."

Esteemed by his peers, President Cunningham is listed in Who's Who in America and numerous other selective directories.

He has served as chairman of the Board of Directors of the Rocky Mountain Educational Laboratories and was national president of National Association of Intercollegiate Athletes.

He was sent by the United States Department of State with a group of educators to study the educational systems in Pakistan.

Fellow educators like President James McCain of Kansas State University pay tribute to the Builder President of Fort Hays State. Forsyth Library and McMindes Hall stand as recent milestones of academic and physical growth in the Cunningham era. The tranquil verdure of the campus belies the legends of barren and windswept Kansas.

Esteemed by His Peers

President Cunningham is identified with dozens of educational projects, organizations, boards and committees.

He has made hundreds of addresses, served on national, state and local commissions. His opinions and judgment are respected by the Legislature, Board of Regents and his fellowmen.

But he also has found time to be a friend, a husband and father, as well as grandfather—and time to laugh and to listen.

His values of perspective, instruction, achievement, competition and community living have etched a permanent place for him at Fort Hays State College where he has seen the culmination of many dreams and hopes, with other work yet to be done.

To pay tribute to the Builder President, the Kansas State Board of Regents designated the new building for Health, Physical Education and Recreation at Fort Hays State, Cunningham Hall.

Now on the architect's planning boards, it will be the next major structure erected on the campus.

A poet has said the years are the milestones of life's highway, and in the years of retirement, the President and his Lady will leave their campus home to live amid the peaceful pines, high in the Colorado Rockies.

REVEILLE 1969

FORT HAYS

We will never relive this moment. Time merely pauses with us and then flies on. All we have left are our memories.

This book is an attempt to capture things "as they were" at FHS in 1968-9. What was unique about this year? What were our MILESTONES?

Sixteen pages in the front of the book have been set aside for the story of our President, Dr. M. C. Cunningham, who is retiring after 20 progressive years in office. They are only a small part of the recognition he deserves.

To our personal, academic, group and sports achievements we have devoted the remaining 368 pages.

Our book has changed. Our campus has changed. Our thoughts have changed. But the contents tell the real story. They show us that THIS YEAR WE CHANGED!

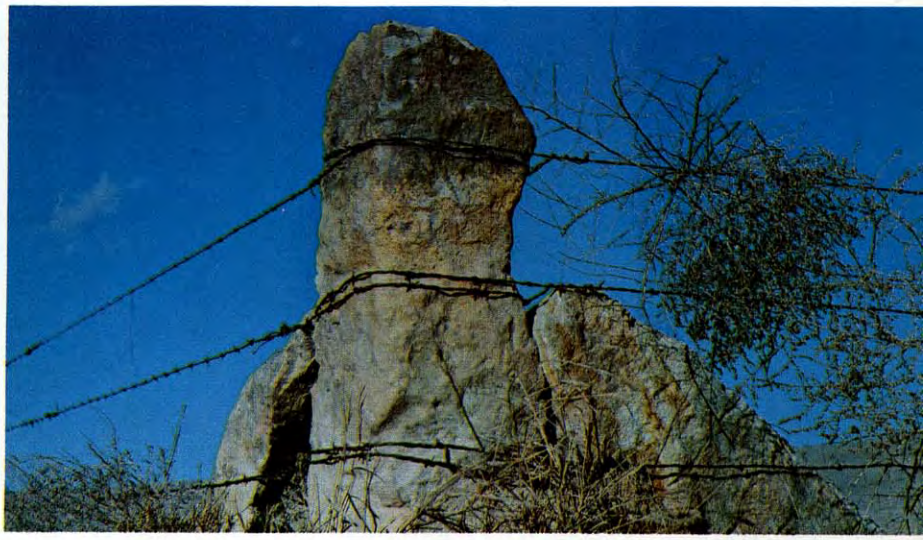
MILESTONES '69



Water Fights and Football Initiate Term

Activities, both social and academic, crowded the first week of autumn classes. Freshmen became acquainted with campus life and upper classmen settled in with the familiar atmosphere of college.

Each year has unique moments of its own, such as the first football game of a new season.

Gridiron excitement filled the air as the Tigers triumphed 33-21 over Northwest Oklahoma.

The friendly atmosphere of the residence halls lent itself to many unusual social events throughout the year. First among these was a water fight between Custer men and women on the banks of Big Creek near their hall.

'Festus' Livens AWS Song Fest

Sing-outs, dances, and the task of enrolling kept students busy at the start of classes.

Peggy Turner of McMindes Hall portrayed Gunsmoke's Festus for everyone's entertainment at the Campus-Wide Sing-Out. All-Student Council and Associated Women Students sponsored the song fest on Sept. 16 for all new students.

Held in the Black and Gold room of the Memorial Union, Sept. 13, the Tiger Hop was the first social event of the season.

Students made use of all available space for filling out IBM packet cards during the three days of enrollment, Sept. 9-11. The campus cop cheerfully looked on as his car was over-run by hurried students.

Frosh Drench Sophs in Big Pull

Homecoming activities started enthusiastically with a bonfire and pep rally Friday evening Oct. 11. The highlight of the evening was the robing of the 1968 Homecoming Queen. All suspenseful waiting ended when Linda Burdge was announced as queen.

Freshmen staged a hurried upset victory over the sophomores in the traditional tug of war across Big Creek early Homecoming morning. However, the sophomores soothed their hurt pride by throwing the frosh into the murk of the Creek.

Linda Burdge, junior speech major from Long Island, Kansas, expresses her surprise and pleasure upon hearing of her new honor.

Several fine float entries emphasized parade excitement, making the choice of a winner very difficult. The Men's P. E. Club captured the Sweepstakes award, however, with their entry of the "FHS Wide World of Sports." Snoopy and the Peanuts gang made up the Newman Club entry, "The Great Pumpkin Special." Newman Club walked away with two prizes: Sweepstakes runner-up and First Place in open competition.

Alumni were arriving all afternoon, giving many former students the opportunity to visit with old friends and teachers.

Linda Burdge Reigns as Queen

The Tigers played the Washburn Ichabods before a capacity crowd as the weather turned unseasonably warm. Varied and exciting half-time activities kept the spirit of the occasion high. A queen was crowned, the Tiger Debs performed, and concert band numbers were presented.

Defeat only slightly clouded the day, however, as Washburn handed Hays a 9-6 loss.

The first of the Artists and Lecturers Series for 1968-69 provided further entertainment for alumni and students. The Ramsey Lewis Trio performed in concert before a full house in Sheridan Coliseum. An overwhelming response greeted the trio, as they presented songs they had helped to make famous and treated other popular numbers to their own special brand of jazz.

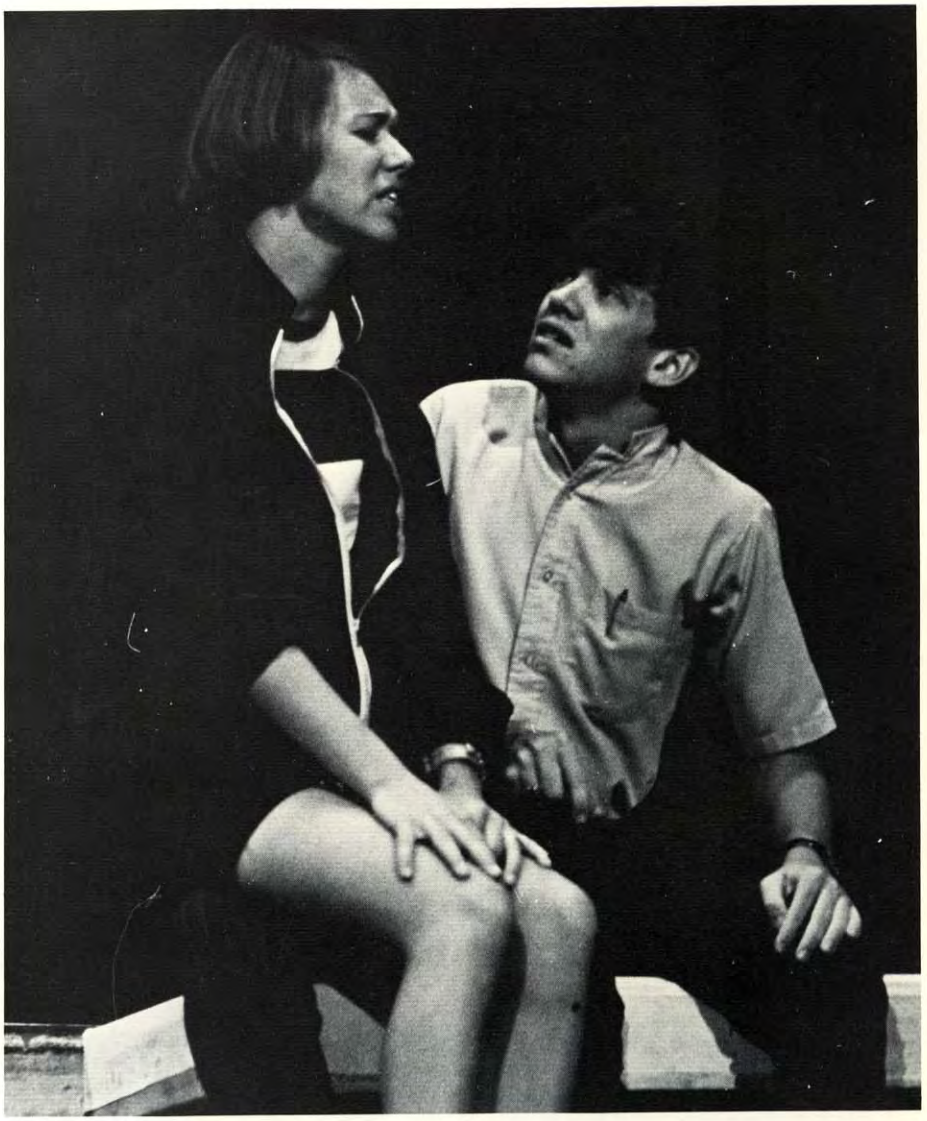
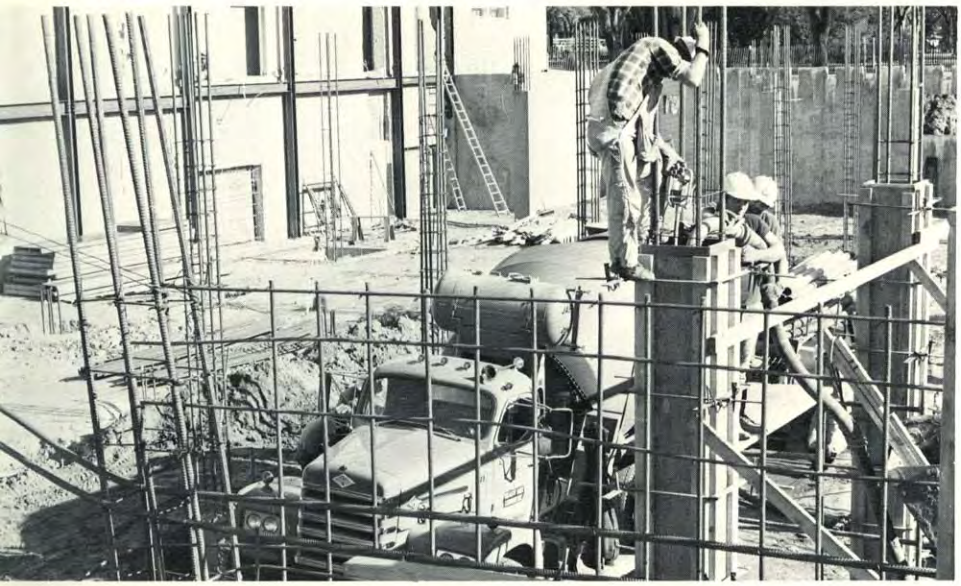
"Strangler" Opens Season's Efforts in Drama



Little Theatre presented their first theatrical effort of the season Oct. 17-19. Perry Schwartz directed a cast of nine appearing in a two-act play entitled "The Strangler." The actors involved themselves with conveying the effect an overbearing wife can have on the psychological regression of her husband. Key performances were given by Wayne Alan Sipe, George Stevenson and Vicki McConnell.



Construction Improves Union Area

Concrete and steel greeted students this fall as they took their study breaks and gab sessions to the Memorial Union. Earlier in the year, workmen tore down Cody Commons to make way for greatly needed space in the form of bowling lanes, a food service, new ballroom and bookstore. Students made-do with limited facilities and Union activities continued much the same as before construction began.

Associated Women Students presented Fort Hays women with a showing of fall and winter fashions Oct. 23. Crisp autumn air sparked interest in the latest line and color of recent designer fashions. Coeds ooohed and ahhed at coats, sportswear, formal attire and several men's sports outfits supplied by local merchants. Students also served as models for the presentation.

Convention Politics Involve Leader Staff

Students became concerned with the nation's politics this election year, especially as Election Day drew near. Leader staff toiled into the wee hours of Wednesday morning to prepare a special election edition for 7:30 a.m. distribution. But with the results still hours away at press time, exhausted staffers gave up to fatigue and cold coffee.

STATE COLLEGE LEADER

VOLUME LXII — FORT HAYS KANSAS STATE COLLEGE, HAYS, KANSAS 67601 — WEDNESDAY, NOVEMBER 6, 1968 — NUMBER 9

Dead Heat Now

Docking Gains Second Nod

What had promised to be a neck and neck battle became just that, but incumbent Democratic Governor Robert Docking upended Republican opponent Rick Harman.

Early returns showed Docking with a slim lead, but later reports consistently went onto the Docking side of the ledger.

The Docking victory was considered an upset according to some of the state polls.

However, the incumbent that defeated William Avery two years ago on the tax issue again dominated the Republican challenger for possibly the same reason.

GOV. ROBERT DOCKING

Docking campaigned on his record of the past two years of no new taxes and reduction of state income taxes, while charging that Harman would raise sales, income and gasoline taxes to finance his program.

Harman had charged Docking with causing property taxes to nearly double by neglecting state aid for schools. Harman's main campaign plank was reduction of property taxes, better highways, more state aid to schools and a reform of the state tax structure.

An Arkansas City banker, Docking is only the seventh Democrat to occupy the gubernatorial office in Kansas. His father, the late George Docking won two consecutive terms as the last Democratic governor.

Dole, Sebelius Victorious

Despite a repeat victory for incumbent Democratic Governor Robert Docking, Bob Dole, Republican candidate for the U.S. Senate, and Keith Sebelius, the G.O.P. candidate for Congressman of the Big First District, scored decisive victories over their Democratic rivals.

Bob Dole, the incumbent Congressman of the Big First District who gave up that office to run for U.S. Senator, was declared the winner in that contest at 9:25 p.m. Tuesday night.

Early returns showed Dole building a sizeable margin over his Democratic rival, William Robinson, and as the evening progressed, it became evident that the lead was rapidly enlarging. At the time Dole was declared the unofficial winner, he had tallied 45,627 votes, compared to 28,973 for Robinson.

Robinson conceded the election in a telephone interview at about 11 p.m. Tuesday night. He concluded that his efforts had been "swept away" by the established Republican voters of Kansas.

In the race for the office relinquished by Dole, Republican Keith Sebelius had garnered a better than 5,000 vote lead over Democratic candidate, George Meeker. Sebelius worked from a rather meager lead early in the evening and expanded the margin steadily through the night.

Although Sebelius had not been officially projected as the victor and Meeker had not conceded defeat, it was apparent at press time that Sebelius would become the new Kansas Representative to the U.S. House of Representatives.

Presidential Campaign 20th Century's Closest

By JAN SHAFFER

(Washington) — The possibility of no immediate decision in the presidential election mounts as neither Richard Nixon or Hubert Humphrey could yet put together a 270-electoral vote majority.

California and Illinois appear to hold the electoral key with Texas, Ohio, and a handful of smaller western states also tangled in uncertainty.

★ ★ ★ ★

Washington D.C.—Too close to call.

The newsmen believed it. The candidates certainly considered it. And the pollsters were privately condemned for saying it.

But when the checkered flag was supposed to be waved sometime early this morning, neither Richard Nixon, Hubert Humphrey nor George Wallace were there to take it.

In the closest election in history, with 39 states decided, Nixon pulled 162 electoral votes to 137 for Humphrey and 45 for Wallace.

In the popular vote tabulation with 67 per cent in, Humphrey led Nixon by the slim margin of 66,320 votes.

Such states as California with 40 electoral votes, Illinois (26), Ohio (26) and New Jersey (17) were still undecided or too close to call. Humphrey held slim leads in Illinois and Ohio with Nixon getting the edge in California and New Jersey.

Nixon jumped to an early advantage, surprisingly taking the Wallace stronghold of North Carolina and the heavy Wallace territories of Kentucky and Tennessee.

Hubert Humphrey was quoted during the climax of the voter returns as saying, "Well, we're wearing the hell out of 'em anyway."

But the electorally powerful states went to Humphrey. New York (43), Pennsylvania (29), Michigan (21) and Massachusetts (14) all fell to the Democratic camp.

Should no candidate gain the magical 270 electoral tally when the electoral college meets Dec. 16, the choice of the President may rest with the House of Representatives. The following step is to the Senate where that body votes on the Vice-Presidential hopeful.

Record Turnout Indicates National Concern

By Dr. John Tomlinson, associate professor of political science and Richard Heil, assistant professor of political science

Early returns from the 1968 election indicate that the American voters are concerned enough to record a record number of votes. Indications are that approximately 80 million people cast votes in this election.

Returns indicate approximately 60 per cent of the voters have repudiated the present administration, but they have failed to indicate a clear choice for new programs and policies. Democrats have not received a mandate to govern for another four years, but neither have the Republicans. Democratic control of Congress indicates 1968 is far from a victory for the Republican program.

Democratic strength remains strong in the urban centers. The Negro, the Mexican-American and other ethnic minorities appear to still support the Democratic party by overwhelming majorities. Governor Wallace failed to make the inroads in the urban Democratic strength anticipated by many pre-election observers.

Republican strength remains in the smaller urban centers, the suburban areas and rural America, however a marketing symbol of voter-core found in the small cities and rural areas. Whoever becomes President, must concern himself with the problems of urban America. The percentage of Americans living in the large urban areas will continue to increase.

The appeal of George Wallace and his American Independent Party appears to remain basically centered almost entirely in the deep South. There remains no significant change in the states carried this year by Wallace and those carried by Strom Thurmond in 1948 or Barry Goldwater in 1964. The impact of the Wallace vote in marginal states, such as Ohio and Missouri, may still determine the eventual occupant of the White House after January 20, 1969.

Governor Wallace's vote carries the appearance of a protest by a significant number of Americans against the two-party system, but not a mandate for governmental change. Wallace's vote, while not as large as many anticipated, guarantees that whoever resides in the White House for the next four years will be a minority President.

Regardless of who becomes President, Congress will be less than cooperative to his legislative leadership. A Republican President faces the prospects of a Democratic controlled Senate and House.

A Democratic President, while having a Congress with a majority of Democrats in both branches, faces the traditional Conservative Republican-Southern Democratic coalition.

This coalition has in the past exercised a virtual absolute veto on most liberal domestic legislation. Democratic Senate leadership does not appear to be inclined or able to deliver the votes to support the liberal programs of either a Republican or a Democratic President.

The United States faces the distinct possibility at this hour of a Constitutional crises with world-wide ramifications — an election which fails to elect a President.

The electoral votes pledged to George Wallace become negotiable and for sale to the highest bidder.

Failing this, and perhaps it is desirable that such negotiation should fail, the election goes to the House for the election of a President and to the Senate for the determination of the Vice-President. Such an experience may have been exciting in 1825, but it is an experience the American nation can ill-afford in 1969.

The voters have spoken, but a mandate to govern has not been given to any candidate. Final analysis of the 1968 election must await the painful process of inspection and analysis of the record vote.

Rush Week Proves Hectic

Rush week kept coeds on the go between Nov. 17 and 24. Sororities prevailed upon rushees to choose their particular organization, utilizing skits, parties and talk fests. It was a hectic week for actives and rushees ending with the formal pledge. Fifty-eight girls found themselves accepted by their chosen sororities.

"Man of La Mancha," the second of the A&L series, came to Sheridan Coliseum Nov. 22. Two truck loads of scenery converted the barn of the Coliseum into a dreary dungeon of the Spanish Inquisition. A unique slanting stage, effective costuming and a stirring musical score set the mood for this Broadway performance.

Students Stage Twin Plays

Twin one-act plays made up the second presentation of the drama department, Dec. 5-7. The first of the pair, entitled, "The Successful Life of Three," proved to be a satirical look at modern day living. Comprising the cast were Cinthy Schmidt, Wayne Allen Sipe and George Stevenson.

"A Bad Play for an Old Lady," the second production, presented a completely different mood. Its basic theme dealt with man's tendency to hide his true identity. Again three actors comprised the main cast, Phil King, Ken Bavuso and Glenda Rolfs.

Perry Schwartz and William Segal, instructors in the department, directed the plays and engineered sets and costumes.

Dec. Brings Basketball & Contests

December brought many exciting events to campus in addition to the yuletide season. Football gave way to basketball in the special realm of athletic excitement. Sheridan Coliseum bulged with students who came to watch Fort Hays battle Kearney State in the first home game of the season. The Tigers triumphed with a score of 90-85.

December 7, the arena was again packed for the dual attraction of basketball and the naming of the Beauty and Beast contest winners. Alpha Phi Omega sponsored the event in which students bought votes for a penny each. All proceeds went to the college Endowment Fund. Sheryle Simmons and Jim Walker won the prize for Delta Zeta.

Flu Shuts Down Campus

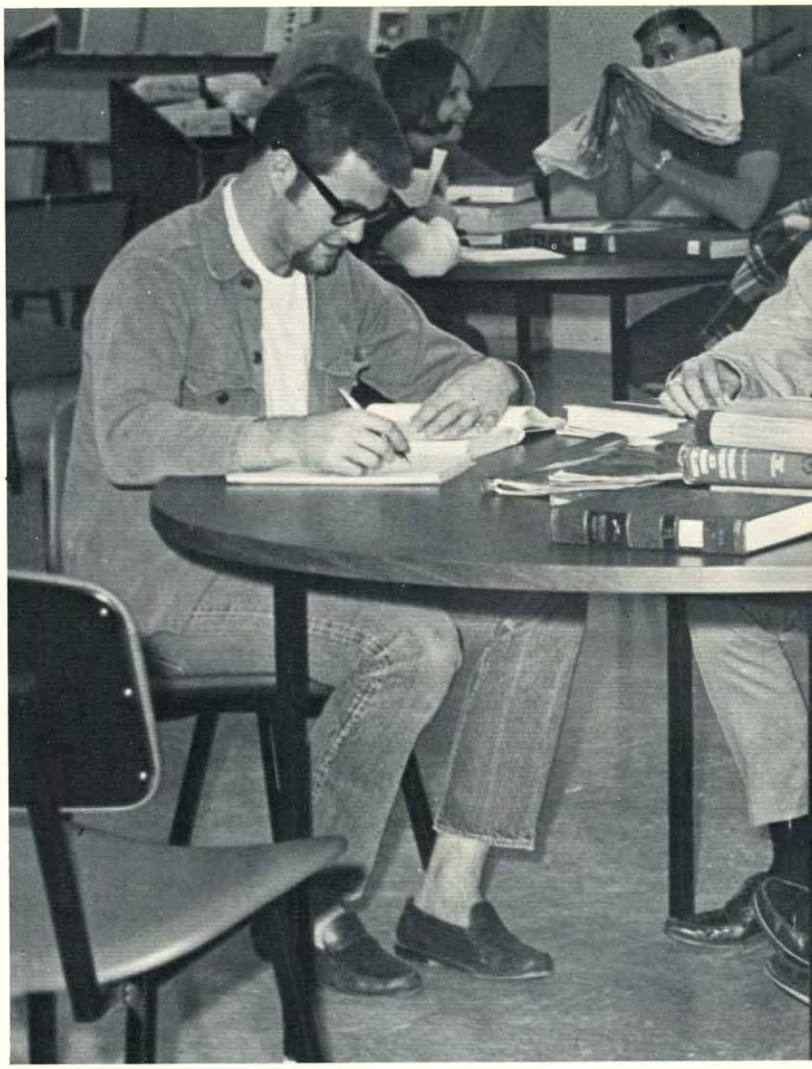
Hong Kong flu epidemic gave Fort Hays collegians a day and a half of extra Christmas vacation. During the week preceding the President's decision to dismiss classes early, nearly twice the average number of students reported to the Health Office for relief from the bug. Trees lost their lights and tinsel, and suitcases bulged with hastily packed clothes as students prepared to leave.

Before dismissal, however, Yuletide activities continued. Residence Halls sponsored caroling parties and students rushed to finish last minute shopping. Memorial Union presented the children of the faculty, students and staff with a special Christmas party.

Kansas Miler Picks Queen

Crowning of Reveille Queen highlighted the AWS Snoball formal held Dec. 14. Jim Ryun, Kansas miler, chose Jan Schneider as the 1969 Queen from the photographic entries of thirteen coeds.

During coronation ceremonies, President Cunningham presented Jan with the traditional crown and kiss. Attending couples danced to the music of Ray Hempler and his orchestra amidst candle-lit tables and a Christmas tree trimmed with red velvet bows. The air of formal dress, flowers, candlelight and music set a romantic atmosphere.



Capp Last Performer Before Finals

Al Capp, creator of L'il Abner cartoon strip, provided the last A&L Series lecture before finals. Capp, who says he is an expert on nothing but has an opinion on everything, used questions submitted by students as a basis for his lecture.

He expressed his views on student demonstrations, integration, peace and inflation, often in a light vein. Also, in the afternoon preceding his appearance, Capp held a press conference for interested students in Memorial Union.

Al Capp ponders a question put to him during the press conference in the Memorial Union.

Students Face Final Exams

Fort Hays Staters faced the inescapable reality of semester exams Jan. 20-24. For some, the onset of finals meant marathon studying to bring up a sliding grade point. For others, finals came as a matter of course. Whatever the student's attitude, finals were a harsh reality which would bring either reward or disappointment.

Following a week of relaxation in the form of semester break, collegians returned to Fort Hays for enrollment. Again, standing in line was a tedious means toward a necessary end: completion of spring semester enrollment.

Operas and Choir Offer Variety

Special entertainment varied greatly during February. Early in the month Malloy Hall opened the doors of Felten-Start Theater for another college production.

Combining talents, the music and drama departments presented a three act opera, an adaptation of Shakespeare's "The Merry Wives of Windsor." The audience found much enjoyment in the songs, action and well defined characters. Dennis Urban portrayed John Falstaff. Marsha Parkins and Gloria Mitchell characterized the wives.

To complete February's special entertainment, the Vienna Choir Boys performed in Sheridan Coliseum Feb. 25. The Choir was the fourth A&L Series presentation.

Twenty-two boys comprised the company and entertained a capacity crowd with religious numbers, German folk songs and two duet presentations. The Choir offered especially appealing entertainment in the form of a short opera. The boys portrayed kitchen maids, middle aged men and young swains with equal proficiency.

Late Winter Activities Grant Honors to Many

Late winter's first activity, the annual Sweetheart Ball, fell on Valentine's day giving the event just the right atmosphere. Couples attending the dance elected Russell Schlichting and Bonnie Clotfelter as King and Queen of Hearts. Miss Clotfelter won the trophy for Alpha Kappa Lambda while Schlichting captured the honors for Delta Zeta.

At left Jana Tittle strolls down the ramp as one of the eleven coeds who competed for the Best Dressed Coed award March 18. Sponsored by various living groups, the girls modeled three different outfits. A panel of students and faculty evaluated entries on individuality in dress, understanding of figure type and basic charm. On this criteria, they awarded the title to Jan Schneider, Ellsworth sophomore.

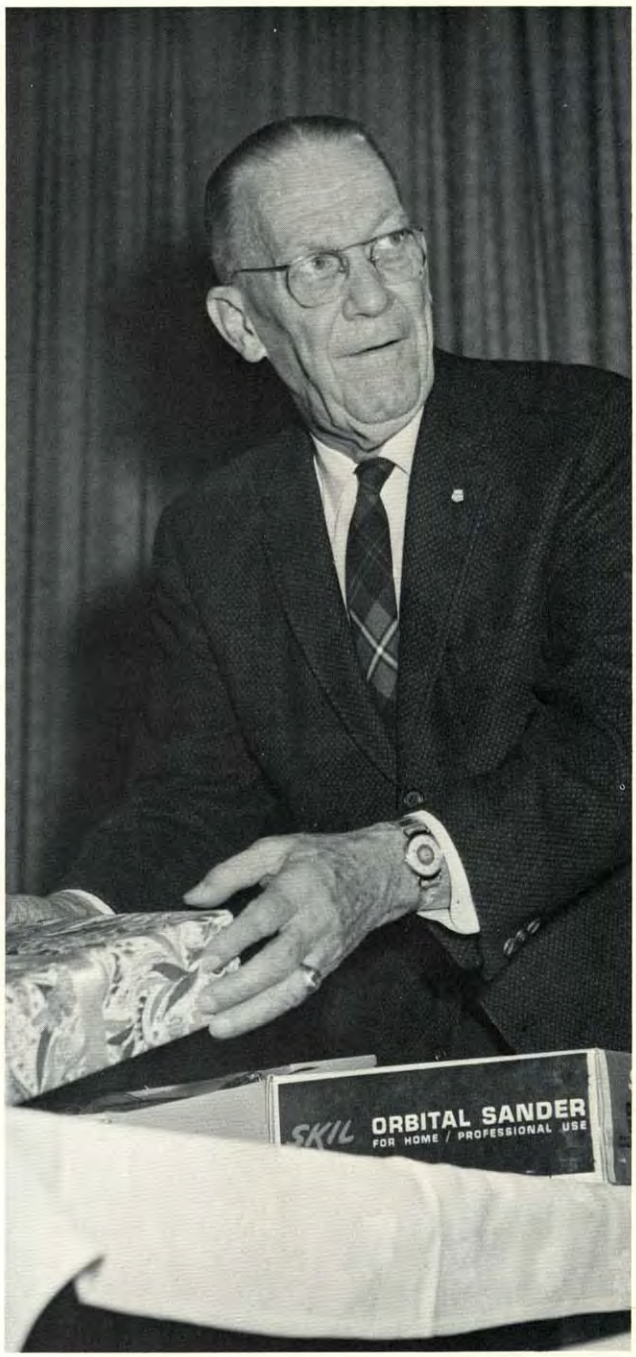
Taking over the chivalrous duties of the men, the women opened doors and carried books for the men during Leap Week. Capping the week, Anita Roberts and Barry Ables were named Daisy Mae and Bearded Joe. Students elected the Dog Patch royalty in a penny-a-vote election held during Leap Week. Funds raised from the election went to the People to People program for a scholarship to be given a deserving foreign student.

Classes Cut Short for President's Party

All morning classes were cut short Feb. 28 to enable students to attend President Cunningham's surprise birthday party sponsored by ASC. Because the President is one of the few people born on Leap Day, Feb. 29, he celebrated the event on the earlier day.

Students crowded into the Black and Gold Room to join in singing "Happy Birthday" to the President. Mike Finnin, student body president, presented Dr. Cunningham with a special gift of a Fort Hays State chair.

Other gifts included a rocking chair and a set of tools from the Industrial Arts Club and a 13-foot-long birthday card from McMindes Hall. After a short acceptance speech by the President, those attending shared in coffee and cake.



Comedy and Cliburn Climax A & L

"You Know I Can't Hear You When the Water's Running" opened for a one night stand in Sheridan Coliseum March 19. "I Can't Hear You", a Broadway comedy production, offered candid philosophy concerning the eternal battle between the sexes. Imogene Coca and King Donovan starred in the four short plays.

Van Cliburn appeared as the last A&L Series performer April 25. Cliburn played a two hour concert composed of selections from Brahms, Beethoven, Prokofieff and Chopin. The crowd called Cliburn back for two encores and gave the master pianist a standing ovation.

One-Act Plays Present American Family Life

March plays were billed as two one-act plays dealing with contemporary family life in America. The first of the two plays, "The Lover", (above and far right) by Harold Pinter, involved a search for happiness by an upperclass married couple. Husband and wife slipped from the status of spouse to lovers with little hesitation in each scene.

Edward Albee's "The American Dream", (near right and below) was the second play. Dealing with the phoniness and materialistic nature of modern society, "American Dream" provided much insight into upper class living.

Dreams and Problems Close Season

Every child's circus dream filled the drama department's children's theatre production April 20 and 27. "Circus in the Wind" by Aurand Harris portrayed a small boy's adventure with the circus, putting Johnny in the center ring with a snake charmer, strong man, trained horses and a magician.

"No Negro Problem in Hays" was the last dramatic effort of the season. "No Problem" was an original play written by Robert Day, instructor in English at Fort Hays State. The short production poked satirical fun at college administration, teaching methods and modern day prejudices.

Bike Relays Start Annual Furlough Days

Furlough Queen candidates anxiously await the half time crowning ceremonies. Debbie Leis, second from the left, shares the exciting moments with a friend and candidate.

Ft. Hays's sixth annual Furlough Days started off with a new twist as the Delta Sigs pedaled in relays to Topeka in order to present Gov. Docking with a personal invitation. An inter-squad football game at Lewis Field kicked off the actual Furlough Days. Debbie Leis was presented as Furlough Queen at half time. The Fowler sophomore finished first in a field of five finalists with Sue Shaw as first runner-up.

Bike racing, the chief event of Furlough, began Saturday morning with competition in the women's division. WRA increased its monopoly of wins by making this year's victory its fourth in a row. Sigma Phi Epsilon pedaled to top honors in the men's division. Besides a general admission fee, a faculty auction added to the proceeds turned over to the Endowment Association. Funds are used to provide student scholarships.

WRA team member circles the track with the victory flag, making it four straight wins.

Rodeo and Derby Days Enliven May Weekend

There was no time for anyone to be bored the weekend of May 16-18 as Collegian Rodeo and Sigma Chi Derby Days livened the pace.

Rodeo action took place during three sessions with Hays hosting the championship finals for the Central Plains Rodeo Assn. Men competed in the traditional bareback riding, saddle bronc riding, steer wrestling, calf roping and bull riding. Women's competition included goat tying, barrel racing and pole bending. Men's fraternity steer riding was the only open class event.

Joe Hedrick, former FHS student and professional rodeo clown, highlighted the evening with his performance during the bull riding event. KayLynn Philip reigned as Rodeo Queen.

Sigma Chi sponsored the second annual Derby Days in an effort to raise money for the Wallace Village Children's Home in Bloomfield, Colo.

Women's living groups competed for points in various contests to win honor for their group. Sigma Chi's scurried across campus to avoid the eager coeds trying to snatch their derbies. Besides stealing derbies, the women tried their hand at selling tickets, decorating houses and a tug-of-war across Big Creek.

May 17 saw the culmination of Derby Days with the final Derby Chase and a variety of fun competition such as lemon pie relays, a doughnut dash and stage coach races. Delta Zeta placed first, Alpha Gamma Delta second and Custer Hall third.

Elections Quell Apathy; Record Number Vote

Student apathy lost ground the week of elections as 1,503 voters recorded their choices at the polls, a record turn out for any election.

Progressive student involvement and representative leadership were the opposing issues of the 1969 campaign. RLMS (Representative Leadership for Modern Students) banners appeared a week before most other campaign posters and did the trick. Steve Rayl and Doug Lyman, the Prexy and Veep hopefuls of the RLMS ticket, defeated the Progressive Involvement team of John Petty and Vern Bruhn.

Students elected Trudy Holler student liaison in the first election for that office. Voters also cast votes for two representatives from each college department.

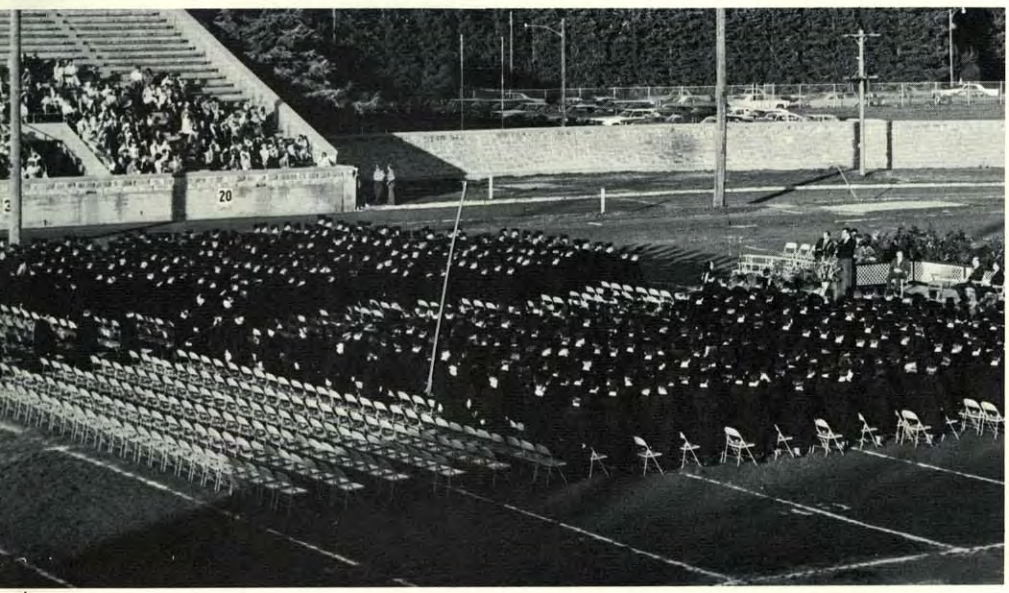
Graduation Ceremonies Involve 850 Candidates

Graduation involves more ceremony than that of receiving a degree. For the more than 850 degree candidates, commencement began May 31 with the President-Faculty Reception, their first appearance in academic dress.

Baccalaureate took place Sunday evening in Lewis Field Stadium. Rev. Orlo Choguill of the First Presbyterian Church delivered the message.

Following the services, the Alumni Assn. honored winners of the Alumni Achievement awards. Honored were Dr. Geneva Herndon, professor of speech, Rep. Keith Sebelius and Don Gamet.

Dr. M. C. Cunningham performed his last public duty before his retirement as president by delivering the commencement address the evening of June 2.



ACADEMICS

Deans Work For Campus Co-ordination

Although apart from the eleven major divisions of the college, the administration's work is co-ordinated with these divisions and that of the entire college community. Serving under the Kansas State Board of Regents and the President of FHS, the various administrative personnel are the people who make the business of FHS function smoothly.

All aspects of student life are included in the work of the Dean of Students and the Associate Deans for Men and Women. Policy concerning student activities is cleared through the Dean of Students.

The Dean of the Faculty serves as head of the Faculty Senate which makes decisions and recommendations concerning curriculum and the faculty.

The Dean of the Graduate Division is chairman of the Graduate Council. The nine divisions of the college which offer graduate study are represented on the council, which considers all policies concerning the graduate division and makes recommendations to the graduate faculty. The Associate Graduate Dean aids in these operations.

Applied Arts Division Features 3-Part Program

Keeping up with the demands of both industry and education, several courses of general plastics were incorporated into the industrial arts curricula this year. Students work with both the fabrication and design of plastics. More courses, some for graduates, are in the planning stages.

Members of the home economics faculty are hoping to give their area a new image. Showing that home economics is more than cooking and sewing, special emphasis was put on such courses as home management and purchasing.

Designed for appreciation and learning, many of the art courses were held in the new art annex in the Campus Service Center. Works of students and faculty were displayed at exhibits in the Memorial Union, as well as in Davis Hall.

Biological Sciences Division Sees Growth

Plans are under development for the installation of closed circuit television in some Albertson Hall classrooms because of increased class size in biology. Enrollment has also expanded throughout other parts of the division.

To keep pace with the rapid advances in agriculture, the curriculum in that area was revised this year.

Research remained active within the division, resulting in the publication of 24 scientific articles. Two hundred fifteen papers have been published by the division in the last 52 years.

Computers Grow In Importance

Planned and sponsored by Alpha Kappa Psi, Pi Omega Pi and Phi Beta Lambda, business and economics honor fraternities, the annual Economics and Business Week in May highlights the year for the division.

Featured during the week is a special honor banquet at which recognition is given to all honor students within the division. Several local and area business representatives are on campus throughout the week.

Phi Beta Lambda, co-educational business fraternity, was also host to a regional Future Business Leaders of America Convention earlier in the year.

Education Gives Special Note To New Fields

Aerospace education, special education, education for migrant children and economic education were given special emphasis this year by the Division of Education, Philosophy and Psychology.

Service sections of the division were influential as 417 students were aided through reading improvement and tutoring. Completing requirements for entering professional teaching were 460 students.

Several important state conferences for members of the division were held on campus this year. Included were the Governor's Safety and Driver Education Conference, the Council for Exceptional Children's Conference and the International Conference on Reading.

HPER Makes Activity Its Goal

Activity centered, the Division of Health, Physical Education, and Recreation is composed of four areas: the service program for non-majors, the professional preparation program, the intramural sports program and the intercollegiate varsity sports program.

Although stress is placed upon physical fitness, many courses are designed to give students skills they can use throughout their adult years.

For the first time, the summer session of 1969 will have an H.P.E.R. workshop for professionals in physical education. Primarily for teachers, it is one of few in physical education in the state.

Lit. Program Modernized

One of the biggest curriculum changes on campus took place in the language, literature and speech department this year. The individual-study Introduction to Literature course encouraged students to study on their own in a required course. No formal classes were held in this experimental program.

Language, literature and speech employs the largest faculty of any FHS department. There are two Woodrow Wilson fellows on the staff, Dr. Clifford Edwards and Miss Lorraine Kielstrup.

The rapidly growing speech correction program has proved itself worthy of special mention.

This division turns out a high percentage of prospective teachers. It cultivates close relations with high school teachers and students by offering English teacher workshops, debate clinics, speech and drama festivals, foreign language tests and journalism conferences.

Tape System Boosts Library Facilities

One of the newest campus buildings, Forsyth Library, furnishes FHS with an excellent facility for study and research.

Although a degree is not offered in library science, students can take courses to become certified school librarians.

Besides loaning books and documents, the library provides a microfilm lab, typing rooms, a language lab, and film and record loans.

New to the library this year is a "switch-access" tape listening system which has been installed in 75 study carrels. Putting the responsibility for learning on the student, the system enables instructors to use more time for class discussions. Operating on 24 different channels, recordings range from literature to music.

Music Reaches Students, Area

A full range of degree programs at the undergraduate level and a master's degree program in music education are conducted by the Division of Music.

This division offers opportunities for music study by all of the students on campus, whether they be music majors or otherwise.

Malloy Hall is often found to be the center of musical activity for the entire community and surrounding area as well as serving campus needs.

Special honors were received by the Symphonic Band when they were the only Kansas band invited to perform at the Music Educators National Convention in St. Louis.

Nursing Offers Chance to Serve

Using the facilities of both St. Anthony and Hadley Memorial hospitals, nursing students at FHS begin their actual experience on the floor in the second semester of their sophomore year. The long-awaited capping ceremony marks the beginning of this phase of training.

Psychiatric nursing is studied in addition to the regular courses in nursing.

Students and Faculty Focus Attention on Projects In Physical Sciences

Research provides a special challenge to students in physical sciences as they assist faculty members with several projects.

Grants for these came from such sources as the Kansas Heart Assn., Quality Chemicals and the National Science Foundation.

Probably the greatest interest among students in the division is evidenced in geology and computer science classes.

Courses offered by the Division of Physical Science are in the fields of mathematics, chemistry, geology and physics.

Social Sciences Chairman Retires

Responsible for the first documents library on campus, Dr. W. D. Moreland, Chairman of the Division of Social Sciences, will retire after serving the college for more than 35 years. Before becoming head of the division, Dr. Moreland served as dean of men and director of housing.

Dr. John Tomlinson, associate professor of political science will become the new chairman.

For the first time next fall the division will have a full-time instructor in anthropology. This will enable the division to add four new courses in anthropology to its curriculum.

Governing Bodies

New Ideas Actuated By Student Government

All Student Council actions brought Bill Sands and Julian Bond to campus this year, adopted a new constitution, put a student on Faculty Senate and sponsored the annual Student-Faculty retreat at Webster Dam.

A style show, two penny-a-minute nights, Honor's night and the snowball capped activities for the Associated Women Students. AWS also featured Frederic Staraska speaking on self defense and were responsible for sophomore keys and extended hours.

Language Clubs Offer Inside View

French, Spanish and German language students put into practice what they learned in class through activities sponsored by their respective clubs. Events such as German and Spanish Club Christmas parties and the French Certicates de Merite en francais provided students with goals and on the spot acquaintance with the language and customs of the countries they studied.

Christmas caroling in the surrounding hospitals gave the students a chance to share their newly acquired lingo with the unfortunate who spent Christmas in bed.

Films, lecturers, and records revealed new facets of the languages studied and added interest to the classes themselves.

President of the German Club was J. Paul Cox with Mrs. Leona Pfeifer as sponsor. Angela Holston headed the French Club with Robert Geiber, sponsor and Juan Jimenez, Jr., president and Dr. Benito Carballo, sponsor, serving the Spanish Club.

Alpha Kappa Psi Hosts Insurance Day

Co-sponsoring business week and hosting insurance day, Alpha Kappa Psi had Kurt Siermers as president and Richard Osborne as sponsor.

Political Groups Sway Student Voting Trends

Serving the political-minded on the FHS campus were Collegiate Young Republicans and Collegiate Young Democrats.

November elections were a time of great value as the groups worked avidly to sway student votes in the direction of their candidates in the lobby of the Memorial Union.

CYD's planned a constitutional revision while CYR's made plans to attend the state convention.

Michael Camelio and Dr. Gordon Davidson served on the side of the Democrats while Steve Miller and Dr. William McFarland handled the operations on the Republican side.

Industrial Arts Club Serves Entire Campus

One of the largest departmental organizations on campus, the Industrial Arts Club once again highlighted the spring semester activities with the annual Industrial Arts Fair. The weekend event brought entries from across the state.

Club activities aside from the fair included regular work nights at which time fraternity and sorority pledge paddles and homecoming trophies were made to earn money for the group.

A banquet and two hamburger feeds honoring the top ten scholars of the previous semester climaxed the social activities of the group.

Jesse Garetson served as the group president and Daniel Johnson as its sponsor.

Debate Posts Best Year Yet

Representing FHS across the nation and at home with the Dust Devil Debate Tournament was the departmental debate club.

Capturing over 22 trophies through the course of the year, the group posted the best season ever.

Coaches for the group are Dan Miller, Janey Montgomery, Betty Watts and Harriet Ketchum, all of the speech department.

FHS Nurse Claims Kansas Honor

Emphasizing fun and getting acquainted as main objectives for the year, the Fort Hays Nurses Club held its annual big and little sister orientation project, hosted picnics and raised money for the second year in a row by co-sponsoring the Tommy Drum Saloon Variety Show.

Delegates were sent to the state convention in Kansas City where Pam Thurman was selected Kansas Student Nurse of the Year. Barbara Weise was chosen as Kansas recording secretary.

Susan Swank was president of the departmental organization and Mrs. Karyl Schmutz helped out as faculty sponsor.

Home Econ. Club Sponsors Scholarship

Home Economics Club held its annual spaghetti supper in October and picnic and "white elephant auction" in May.

A yearly rummage sale to raise money for a scholarship was their money-making project, and making tray favors for the Hillcrest Manor Nursing Home was their service project.

They plan to send two representatives to the National Convention in June.

Elizabeth Brening was president and June Krebs served as sponsor.

Veterans Carry Nation's Colors

Socially oriented for veterans, the Vets Club made itself known to campus this year by donating money to worthy causes, carrying the national colors during parades and football games and also hosting its annual Christmas Project.

Bringing the memorial board of veterans up to date at the Union was the major project this year.

Headed by Jay Thielen, the faculty sponsors were Robert Richards and James Gruber.

Glee Clubs See Christmas Action

Open to all men and women wanting to sing and participate in college performances are the Men's and Women's Glee Clubs.

Combining efforts at Christmas, the two groups joined with other sections of music such as the String Quartet and the Collegian Chorale helping to put on the Vespers.

This year the women contributed to the program with the "Seven Joys of Christmas" while the men sang such selections as "Jingle Bells," and "I Saw Three Ships."

Patrick Goeser is the director of the two musical groups.

Fine Arts

Singers Take Top Vocalist Honors

Putting on numerous concerts and helping with a December musical kept the hand-picked members of the Fort Hays Singers busy.

Directed by Dr. Donald Stout, the singers occupied one of the most versatile and elite positions within the music division.

Teamed with ensembles or alone, the group proved superior throughout the school year.

Brass Choir Heightens Holiday Season

One of the smaller performing groups of the music department is the Brass Choir. Directed by Dr. Leland Bartholomew, this group is especially popular during the holiday season.

The group participated actively with the Fort Hays Singers to provide a December Musical and were enjoyed by high schools in the southern part of the state when on tour and locally when they presented their final May concert.

Percussion Ensemble Tours Area Towns

Percussion Ensemblists shared the spotlight with the Brass Choir this year during concert tours of six Kansas towns.

Lyle Dilley took over the task of directing the group of eleven members as they took part in the Varsity Band Show.

Under the direction of Harold Palmer, the Clarinet Choir along with the Woodwind Ensemble took a two-day tour of six area high schools.

Adding spice to the Christmas Vespers and also the Varsity Band Show, the group utilized the seldom found A-flat Soprano Clarinet and F Basset Horn.

FHS boasts the largest library for clarinet choirs in the country.

Choir Performs Handel's "Maccabaeus"

"Judas Maccabaeus" by Handel was the main production of the Concert Choir this year. Dividing into lead roles and choruses, the group told the story of Jewish history in 1745.

Under the direction of Dr. Donald Stout, the singers also took two winter tours to south central Kansas performing for high schools.

Choir members are selected by auditions and form one of the largest choral groups at Fort Hays State. Mainly upperclassmen, the choir was seen at various concerts throughout the year.

CONCERT CHOIR—BACK ROW: Mike Springfeldt, Joleen Novotny, Larry Gerber, Steve Miller, Jill Deines, Terry Mai, Nick Salmans, Gloria Mitchell, Larry Krehbiel. Chorale Entertains During December Concert

Providing entertainment during the last half of the Christmas Concert was the Collegian Chorale. An "African Noel" and "O Beloved Shepherds" plus two sets of familiar Christmas Carols made up their section of the program.

Seventy voices under the direction of Patrick Goeser, the Chorale also joined with the Glee Clubs in May to present the Spring Concert.

COLLEGIAN CHORALE—BACK ROW: Lester Herzog, Fred Wilson, Tom Farney, Bill Nelson, Charles Ames, Rod Livengood, Terry White, Larry Hendrickson, Cecil Bricker, Bernard Smith, Pete Shaw, Martin Keller, Bruce Olds, Ronald Pfenninger. Violinists Serve Division As Accompanists

String Quartet is under the direction of Edwin Moyers. These four specially chosen musicians are kept busy throughout the year serving as senior recital accompanists and taking part in other musical programs such as the Christmas Vespers.

STRING QUARTET: Wendy Zelenka, Becky Kraus, Barbara Michaelis, Kay Young.

Jazzists Make Guest Tours

Giving a concert for the Jazz Forum at the University of Kansas, presenting "Another Evening of Jazz" and making nine off-campus guest appearances were the highlights of the Jazz Ensemble's year. It was under the direction of James Olcott.

Symphony Proves Unique

Unique as the only one in Western Kansas, the Fort Hays Civic Symphony is composed of faculty, students and area musicians.

Performing under the direction of Lyle Dilley, the group distinguishes itself with selections by Mozart, Hayden and Handel. Concert time for the group is usually confined to once a semester because of the mixture of participants.

Orchestra serves as a link between the musical interest of the college and those of the community.

TOP: Lyle Dilley, director of the Orchestra, discusses a last minute problem with an area violinist. MIDDLE: The Civic Symphony, formerly known as the College-Community Orchestra, performs annually in Felten-Start Theater. Woodwinds Tour Area High Schools

Brass and percussion joined woodwinds this year to make up the Woodwind Ensemble.

With Robert Brown directing, the musicians took a two-day touring trip of area high schools and took part in the Christmas Vespers.

Varsity Band Show saw their presence as well as did numerous combined concerts throughout the course of the school year.

Convention Trip Highlights Band Year

Combining the Varsity and Symphonic bands this year resulted in a return invitation to the Music Educators National Convention in March. The group represented the only band from Kansas to be invited.

Cutting a record in St. Louis was another activity of this group of individually picked students.

Conducted by Lyle Dilley, the band took time to put on their annual Varsity Band Show and also sponsored the fall Band Day and marching contest for the area high school students.

Varsity-Symphonic Band is composed of members of the various other instrumental groups including Marching Band, Pep Band and ensembles. The group is under the direction of Lyle Dilley.

Orchesis Stages Spring Concert

Unassisted this year, orchesis put on its annual spring modern dance concert in February.

Attending the American Dance Symposium in Wichita and the K. U. Dance Concert in March kept the group busy while individuals took time off themselves to add to their skills at ballet and modern dance workshops in other areas of the state.

Sarah Mangelsdorf took over leadership of the class this year.

Leader Features Special Editions

Special issues such as those for Cunningham, Gustad and the elections served to prove experienced staffers on this year's Leader.

Continuing under the reins of Gordon C. Henry for the second consecutive year, the Leader succeeded in capturing the first-class rating from the Associated Collegiate Press for the first semester's run.

Jan Shaffer served as editor-in-chief for the year.

Policy changes included a Friday distribution date as well as published coverage of Fort Hays State students involved in city and county incidents.

Reveille Honors Retiring President

Sixteen pages dedicated to retiring President M. C. Cunningham, a new layout style and added pages were the changes to be found in this year's Reveille.

Staffers worked hard to keep up the tradition set by four consecutive years of All American books. Kathy Walters Ochs, 1968 Reveille editor who took over duties in January, captured the top rating from the Associated Collegiate Press for her publication last year.

Joyce Luder edited the book this year. Mrs. Katherine Rogers advised first semester before taking her sabbatical leave after which Robert Lowen took over the duties.

Jan Schneider took the crown of 1969 Reveille Queen at the December Snowball sponsored by AWS. She was the candidate of Delta Sigma Phi.

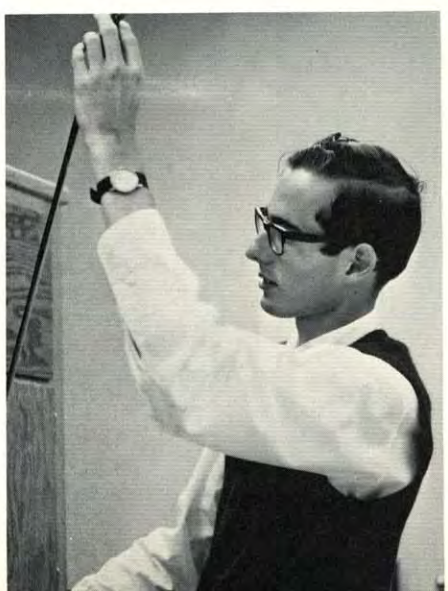
Photography services at Fort Hays State center around the Photography Lab located on the first floor of Picken Hall.

Under the direction of Leon Maxson, the lab provides prints for News Service, Leader and Reveille and for all other departments on campus in need of them.

The athletic department profits from the lab by receiving movies of every major sporting event while fraternities, sororities and organizations are serviced with pictures of queen and king contestants.



KFHS Provides Fun, Experience

"This is your friendly KFHS announcer bringing you the tops in music from 650 on your radio dial."

A familiar sound to residence halls and the Memorial Union is the campus radio. Broadcasting regularly from facilities in Malloy Hall, the radio provides students with the opportunity to operate equipment and gain experience in announcing.

Jack Heather is faculty adviser for the station which is now expanding its facilities to include TV.

APO Services Profit School, State

Alpha Phi Omega lived up to its title of being a national service fraternity this year in numerous ways.

Wichita Red Cross workers were aided by APO to carry out two bloodmobile drives, and the Endowment Assn. profited both by the Beauty and Beast contest in December and the annual Furlough races in May.

Local and regional Boy Scouts received assistance and a scholarship went to a worthy recipient. Artists and Lectures had ushers for sponsored events thanks to APO.

Added to their list of activities was a new event this year. Pop bottles were collected as a money-making project for the football team to be used at the discretion of the new coach.

MU Groups Prepare for Addition

As student services on campus, Memorial Union Board and Program Council had a busy schedule this year preparing for the new Union addition's opening.

The Program Council was occupied with sponsoring their annual night of gambling in the form of the Casino Party, holding the Best Dressed Coed Contest, mock presidential elections and the Speakers Service.

Introducing a Sunday supper and entertainment topped off their regular schedule of movies, game tournaments and December ski trip.

The board was busy selecting furnishings for the new addition as well as planning recreational activities and publicity for the grand opening next November.

Cathy Graham was chairman of the Council with O. Z. Bizzell as sponsor. Mike Camelio headed the Board with Lynn Rogers sponsor.

McMindes Wins Homecoming Title

Highlighting the activity at McMindes was the hall's float, "Gunsmoke," which took second place in the women's division plus the homecoming queen crowning of Linda Burdge, sponsored by McMindes. Candidates were also sponsored for campus royalty honors.

Picnics, floor parties, and informal dances provided entertainment during the year in order to break the monotony of studies.

Ned and Betty Jo Toms, as the new resident managers, assisted three housemothers in the management of 600 girls. To keep the hall running smoothly also required a large staff of workers including maids, janitors, food service workers and many others.

DORM OFFICERS: Carol Walline, Pres.; Rhonda Clarke, V. Pres.; Yvonne French, Sec.; Alberta Davis, Sec.; Lavon Grusing, V. Pres.; Thelma Walker, Pres.; not pictured: Carole Converse, treas.

Coed Custer Becomes a Campus First

Work, fun and activity certainly increased this year as Custer introduced coeducational living to FHS campus. After extensive remodeling the hall became the home for 82 men and 121 women.

Custer Hall supported candidates for royalty contests and competed for various other high spots on campus.

Besides providing many activities for their own residents, Custer also joined the other halls in presenting informal dances throughout the year.

To help spread the good will spirit, Custer residents adopted a family of four children whom they entertained during the Christmas season. Mrs. Ada Churchill, housemother, James Leonard and Mrs. Agnes Hintz, resident managers, worked together in managing the hall's numerous activities.

New Wiest Addition Started

Construction began last spring on the Wiest Hall extension. The first section of the addition will house 432 men and cost an estimated total of $2,825,000.

The seven-story, air-conditioned building will be built in the form of a rectangle. First floor will contain kitchens, dining room and house mother's apartment, while the upper six floors will be living quarters.

Occupancy for the first addition is expected by fall, 1970. The second addition, planned for 1972, will hold 444 students.

Wooster Place — Home for the Married Student

Wooster Place provides a laundry unit and 84 apartments for FHS married students. Four apartment buildings of 12 units each were completed in the spring of 1961. Two more buildings of 18 units were completed in the fall of 1964.

The housing area's name honors Dr. Lyman D. Wooster, president of the college from 1941 to 1949 and faculty member for 50 years.

A Busy Year For Agnew

Helping to organize Agnew's activities this year were resident managers Don and Faye Whittecar, Del and Pat Thibault, Jim and Linda Gfeller and Mrs. Esther Biays, housemother.

Smaller in size, the house affords an atmosphere of home for 172 girls.

The hall was bustling with activities this year including open house and buffet dinners on special occasions.

Of special interest was the Tot Watch in which the Agnew coeds entertained 70 faculty children with a supper, puppet show and visit from Santa Claus.

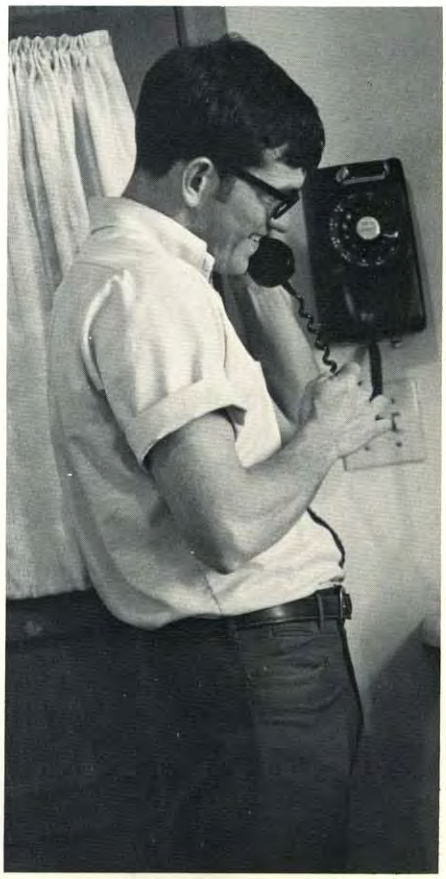
Many Students Live in Apartments



Various forms of off-campus living are provided throughout the city of Hays—basement apartments, trailers, entire homes and sleeping rooms. Hillcrest and Campus Apartments also accommodate students. Cooperation between college officials and Hays townspeople provides sufficient living space for students. Student Council representatives are elected by off-campus residents, married and single.

College students choose apartment life for many reasons—marriage, economy, privacy and freedom. Students feel a degree of independence but also have responsibilities. Cooking, cleaning, washing, ironing and various other household duties occupy a part of the student's time.

Panhellenic, IFC Unite Greeks

The role of the Panhellenic Council and the Inter-Fraternity Council in the Greek system is vital. It is through these two organizations that all Greeks on a campus are bonded.

Besides serving as a place to air gripes and settle differences, these organizations co-ordinate all Greek activities on campus such as Greek Week and rush. This year Dean Jean Stouffer and Dean Michael Stewart served as sponsors. Jane Rice and Mike Treu filled the offices of president.

Greek Week Boosts Spirit

Greek Week is a time when all Greeks are bonded in true Greek spirit—and this year was no exception. "Greek Week" proved to be filled with blazers, dinners, speakers, functions, seminars and elections. This doesn't begin to cover the tea, rally, parade, picnic, crowning, dance and above all—SPIRIT!!!

ΔZ

Seen any white blazers on campus? Sure, they're Delta Zetas!

DZs were an active group this year. Congratulations to Donna Rogers who received a scholarship for a year's study in Australia. Sharla Barber was named to Who's Who, and Nan Alden was in AWS.

Trudy Holler captured two offices, junior class vice-president and student council vice-chairman. Carolyn Nelson, Margo Shomshor and Lana Underwood were also on student council.

Delta Zetas supported FHS in a variety of ways. Judy Gregg and Cheryl Fort was cheerleaders while Marlene McGuire, Leta Wheeler, Kathy Berger and Diana Turkle performed with the Tiger Debs.

Mrs. Bernice Peck served as housemother with Carolyn Olson heading the group as president.

ΣΣΣ

What a group! What a year! Sigma Sigma Sigma won honors by the dozen. Heading the list were Sophomore Women's Honorary members Alberta Davis, Jan Schneider, Stephanie Stewart and Nancy Swank. Jan Schneider won first in the freethrow contest, the crown of Reveille Queen and the title of Best Dressed Coed. Colleen Kirkpatrick and Nancy Swank were September and February Leader Lasses.

Vicki Kaiser was crowned Greek Goddess and Sigma candidate, Doug Lyman, was Greek God.

Mrs. Agnus Townley, housemother, enjoyed meeting rushees.

Tri-Sigma girls like to make money and give it away, too. Mum sale funds were used to support the Hays Day Care Center. Children held a special place in the Sigmas' hearts. The women sponsored a Christmas party for underprivileged children in the area and helped support the wing of a children's hospital by means of the Robbie Page Memorial Fund.

Supporting FHS as cheerleaders were Cindi Parsons and Laah Hackmeister. Sandi Schultz and Linda Frack performed with the Tiger Debs.

Tigers End CIC Career Losing Seven of Nine

Fort Hays State's football forces suffered a disappointing year in the last season in the 40-year-old Central Intercollegiate Conference.

Serious injuries to key personnel in the line and backfield—and the inexperience of their replacements—kept the squad from mustering more than two wins.

Wins were over Northwest Oklahoma State and Northwest Missouri State. Losses came from Kearney (Neb.) State, Colorado State College, Washburn University, Emporia State, Southern Colorado State, Pittsburg State and the University of Nebraska at Omaha.

McConnell Ends Job as Coach

Another milestone for 1969 was marked as Wayne J. McConnell ended his 13-year career as head mentor of Tiger football.

After 25 years of coaching at four Kansas high schools and two colleges, McConnell compiled a composite 88-74-5 mark in the collegiate ranks. His 13 teams at FHS stand at 49-62-4.

In resigning his position, 56-year-old McConnell said, "I feel the time has come to turn the job over to a younger coach." His reason for relinquishing his duties in November was to allow his replacement to work with the players during spring practice.

Coach McConnell's best season at FHS came in 1966 when the Tigers marked a 7-2 record and shared the CIC crown. His 1962 and 1965 squads tallied marks of 6-3 and 6-2-1 respectively.

His accomplishments here include the founding of the annual Fort Hays State Football Coaches Clinic which usually attracts about 200 participants each summer.

A 1934 graduate of Washburn University, McConnell came to FHS from College of Emporia where he led six teams to a 39-12-1 mark, including four undefeated squads. The Rockne Foundation named him "Little All-American Coach of the Year" in 1953.

McConnell is remaining as an associate professor of health, physical education and recreation.

A key factor in the Bengals' poor win-loss record was injuries. "Doc" Johnson was able to repair most on the sidelines, but the more serious wounds kept nearly a dozen regular starters from the lineup during the better part of the season.

Year Not All Dim

Consideration of the won-lost mark aside, the season did have its bright spots. Senior fullback Rich Dreiling rushed for a team record of 2,956 yards in 668 attempts during his four-year career.

Little Ralph Arias (5-8, 138) set a field goal record against Northwest Oklahoma State when he split the uprights from 41 yards out.

Six Tigers won all-conference honors. Dreiling and Paul Simmons made the first string on offense and defense respectively. Dennis Spratt and Tom Foran were on second string offense and Jon Mastin, Foran and Jack Georgeson made second-team defense.

Rich Dreiling (No. 35) is hit after trying to pull in a pass during a rainy game at Lewis Field Stadium. Dreiling was named to the all-conference offensive first team for the fourth consecutive year.

Andregg Wins Athletic Honor

Fred Andregg, pictured below, received the 1968 Paul (Busch) Gross Award as part of half-time ceremonies during the homecoming football game.

A four-year basketball lettermen, Andregg was the 13th athlete to earn the honor. It is given each year to the graduated athlete deemed most outstanding in scholarship, leadership and sports.

Basketball Squad Finishes Fourth In Premiere Season of RMAC

It was not a particularily brilliant debut the Fort Hays State basketball squad made into the newly-formed Rocky Mountain Athletic Conference, but the season did have its rewards. The Tigers finished with a 4-6 record in conference action to give them a fourth place tie shared with Kansas State College at Pittsburg.

Southern Colorado State won the Plains Division of the RMAC with a 7-3 mark.

Head Coach Chuck Brehm guided FHS to a 9-13 record overall in his fourth year at the helm.

Seven of those victories came on the home floor of Sheridan Coliseum. Both road wins were garnered in winning the Holiday Tournament at Hastings, Neb., Dec. 27-28.

Two new individual marks were added to the record books, a team mark was tied and senior-guard Gene Rider moved to 11th on the all-time Bengal scoring charts.

The two individual marks were set by center Bill Greving and forward Frank Dowdell. Greving's 52.9 field goal percentage for two seasons is now tops at FHS. Dowdell set a single-game rebound record by grabbing 26 caroms against Colorado State College.

Greving was selected to the NAIA District 10 All-Star squad and second-team All-RMAC.

Rider was voted the teams annual Most Inspirational Player award. He also made honorable mention on the All-Conference team.

Season Begins On Winning Note

FHS's Tiger basketball crew opened the campaign with four home games. The first three were racked up in the victory column but the powerful Lincoln University Tigers broke the string.

Three wins came against Kearney (Neb.) State College, Northwestern Oklahoma State College and St. Benedict's College.

A month-long road trip followed in which the Tigers won only two while losing six.

The first game of the journey was the league opener against Kansas State College at Pittsburg. The Gorillas broke the 100-barrier by winning 101-76.

Three non-league games followed and all resulted in defeat. St. Benedicts gained revenge for the loss at Hays. Lincoln University made it two in a row and Southwestern Oklahoma State also accounted for a defeat.

Long Road Trip Ends in Defeat

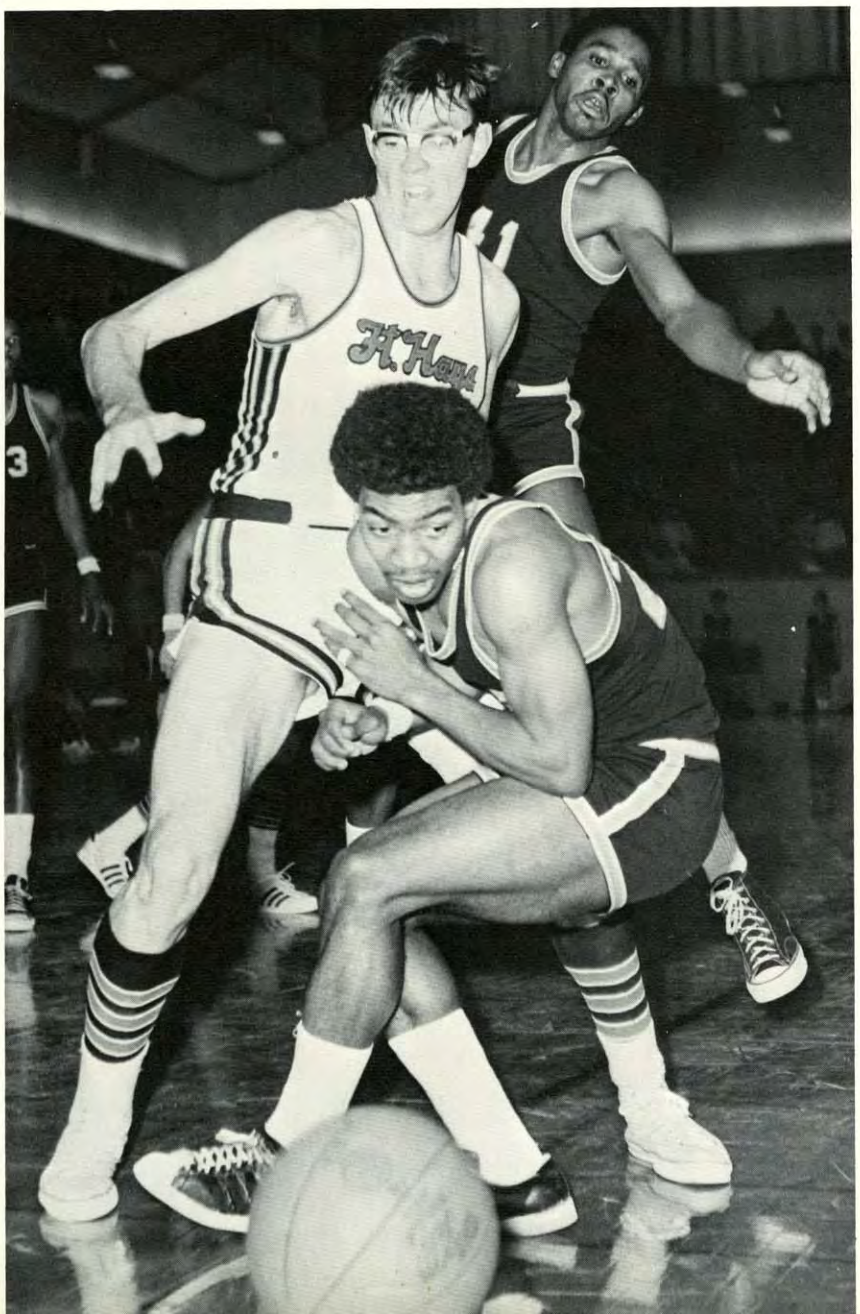
When the Tigers moved into the Holiday Tournament in Hastings, Neb., their record had dropped to 3-5. But they regained the form that was responsible for the three opening wins and came away with a trophy.

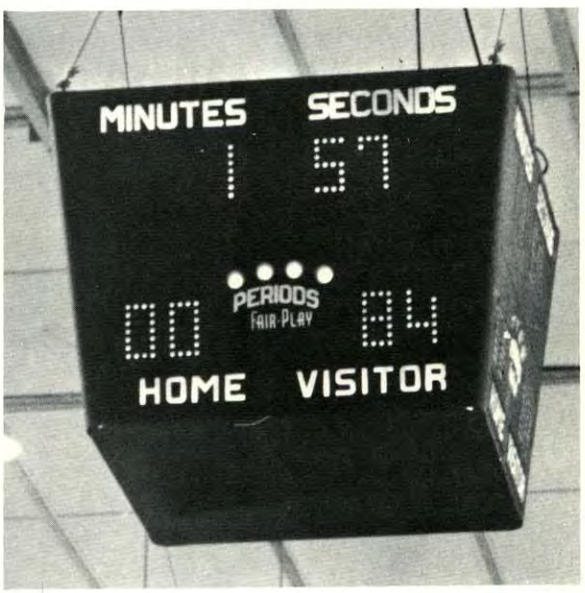
Two conference foes, Colorado State College and Southern Colorado State College, then downed FHS on successive evenings. This ended the long road trip and put the Tigers 0-3 in the RMAC.

But the Bengals retained their title hopes by coming home to avenge Colorado State College and up-end Emporia State College.

Omaha University quickly dampened the growing optimism by stopping the Tigers at Omaha 79-68.

Washburn University made it six in a row over the Bengals in a non-conference clash in the squads' first meeting of the season.





Tigers Bow Out By Routing OU

FHS' home floor was not enough to stop the title-bound Southern Colorado State Indians as they topped FHS 85-80.

Pittsburg State found the going a little rougher at Sheridan Coliseum as they fell 74-72.

The Tigers then lost three in a row. Northwestern Oklahoma tripped up FHS at Alva, Washburn gained yet another win here and Emporia State bounced the Bengals at Emporia.

One of the most satisfying wins of the season came in the season finale against Omaha in Sheridan Coliseum. FHS broke the century mark for the only time of the campaign in winning 102-86.

Five seniors played their final game for the black and gold in the OU encounter. Included were Gene Rider, Bill Greving, John Markle, Charlie Griffie and Mike McAtee.

Young Bengals Finish at 4-4

FHS's junior varsity basketball squad finished its season with a 4-4 record.

The season got off to a slow start as the young Tigers dropped their first two games to Colby Junior College.

But the Bengals rebounded and picked up three straight wins. Two of those conquests came against Emporia State's JV's. The other was against Concordia Juco.

Concordia then avenged FHS at Sheridan Coliseum. The Air Force Academy JV team also dropped the Tigers 77-72.

The Season was capped off with a 79-77 home victory over Washburn University.

Cross Countrymen Win Title Again; Mason Concludes Illustrious Career

It was another banner year for the Fort Hays State cross country squad.

Accomplishments included winwing the CIC Championships for the fifth straight year and capturing first in the NAIA Championships for the third time in FHS history.

Premiere distance ace John Mason concluded his athletic career for the Black and Gold in fine fashion. He extended his winning streak to 21 straight meets. Included in those firsts was his winning of the Missouri Valley AAU Cross Country Meet, the NAIA Meet and the CIC Championships.

A welcome addition to the squad this season was Larbi Oukada. He came to FHS from Morocco and represented his country in the 1968 Olympics.

Oukada finished second behind Mason in the Missouri Valley and CIC meets and third in the NAIA encounter.

The only other senior that head Mentor Alex Francis will lose is Bruce Zamarzla.

Tiger harriers opened the season with a win over Kearney (Neb.) State College. They then finished second in the Wichita State University Invitational.

At the Oklahoma Jamboree the Bengals gained another second. FHS followed this with its only dual meet loss of the season as it was against Emporia State.

But the Tigers rebounded with another win against Kearney State.

Harriers closed out the season with a win at a triangular including Arkansas University, Wichita State and FHS.

Tiger Gymnasts Finish at 7-4

Under the direction of Coach Ed McNeil Fort Hays State's gymnastics squad gained its fourth consecutive winning gymnastics season as it finished with a 7-4 mark.

Gordon DuWayne Guthrie, Medicine Lodge freshman, was the leading scorer with 258.405 markers in the 11 dual meets.

Stan Percival, Medicine Lodge sophomore, was the second leading scorer with 258.94 points and James Mull, Lawrence junior, was third with 155.6 points.

Medicine Lodge senior Bob Fussell ended his gymnastics career at FHS with 222.7 markers to place fourth in team scoring.

Another senior, Warren Teasley, from Topeka, closed the season and his college career with 212.3 points for fifth in team scoring.

Grapplers Compile 6-5 Record; Tresner Captures NAIA Title

It was a good year for Fort Hays State's wrestling squad as it finished with a 6-5 record, but it was a great year for Leland Tresner as he brought home a national championship.

Tresner compiled a season mark of 22-2-1 and was 34-9-1 for his two seasons at FHS. To cap it off he won the National Assn. of Intercollegiate Athletics 152-pound title.

This victory made him the first native Kansan to capture a national wrestling championship since 1931 when Kansas State's Bill Doyle took the 147-pound division title of the NCAA championships.

Tresner was the team captain and won the "Outstanding Wrestler" award at the Northwest Missouri State College Tournament.

The Tigers opened the year in impressive fashion by downing Emporia State College 24-17. Next action for the grapplers was the Colorado State University Invitational tournament where FHS finished fourth in the eight-team competition. Russell Chipman and Tresner were second place finishers in the tourney.

Tigers Win in First Four Duals

The Bengals resumed dual meet action with wins over Central Missouri State College, Southwest Missouri State College and Kearney (Neb.) State College.

Finally Adams State College, defending national NAIA champ, stopped the Tigers win string with a 31-6 defeat. At a triangular FHS lost to Central Missouri and downed Southeast Missouri State College.

The grapplers then lost a dual to Kansas State University and the University of Nebraska at Omaha. A win over Kearney followed. Colorado State University dropped the Tigers at home to end the season.

Tresner and Bob Dey were the only seniors on the squad. Dey concluded with a 9-4.

Individual Accomplishment Brightens A Disappointing Baseball Season

It was a long season for Fort Hays State's baseball squad as it suffered its most disappointing record in history at 5-21.

The Tigers' premiere in the Rocky Mountain Athletic Conference was no more successful as they failed to garner a single victory in eight contests.

But there were individuals who had good years and the future looks bright with an abundance of young players who will return next season.

Freshman catcher-first baseman Allen Dinkel was the top Bengel hitter with a record-setting .400 average.

Another receiver, Ron Koster, hit at a .327 pace and drove in seven runs.

Following close behind in the average department were a pair of freshmen, Bob McGreevey and Mike Hammerschmidt, with marks of .320 and .310 respectively.

Junior outfielder A. J. Schlegel and senior Ed Hargrove were next in hitting with .293 averages. Another senior, Paul Simmons, finished the season with a .227 average, 11 runs batted in to lead the club and two homeruns to tie for tops in that department.

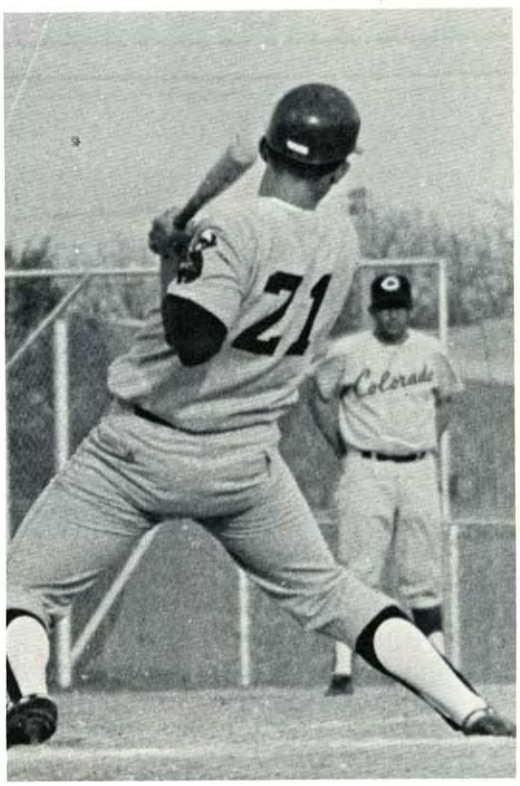
Dennis Spratt tied for the home run lead, drove in nine runs and hit for a .222 average.

Pitching was the chief problem of the Tigers this season as the staff allowed 207 runs and carried a combined earned run average of 5.74.

FHS had opening day spoiled as the invading Ichabods of Washburn University dropped the Tigers in both ends of a doubleheader in Larks Park by scores of 10-2 and 4-0.

Kansas Wesleyan then hosted the Bengals in Salina for their opening day and made it a success as the Coyotes downed FHS twice, 7-3 and 5-0.

The first RMAC game was a disaster as Southern Colorado State College exploded for a 21-0 defeat of the Tigers.



Season Concludes On Winning Note

Coach Earl Hobb's charges triumphed in a doubleheader against Friends University 1-0 and 4-1.

The Tigers hit another five-game losing string. Losses were dealt by Colorado State College, Emporia State College and Washburn University.

Two more wins were picked up at the Salina Tournament.

Another win was not gained by FHS until the final game of the season against the Air Force Academy junior varsity 12-2.

Prior to that game, defeats came against Southern Colorado three times, Wichita State, Colorado State and Northwestern Oklahoma State College twice and Air Force once.

Linksters Fourth in RMAC Meet

After a 3-5 showing in dual meet action for the season, Fort Hays State's golf squad finished well in tournament competition with a fourth place finish in both the RMAC meet and the NAIA District 10 meet.

To open the season Coach Chuck Brehm's linkers lost to Northwestern Oklahoma State College and downed Southwestern Oklahoma State College in a double dual.

They then dropped decisions to Wichita State University and Emporia State College.

After losing a squeaker, 8-7, against the Air Force Academy freshmen, the Tiger linksters split a meet at Salina with a win over Kansas Wesleyan University and another loss to E-State.

Those representing FHS at the NAIA District 10 meet were Dan and Kelly Deines, Mike Schaefer, R. J. Robertson and Artie Burtscher.

To close out the campaign FHS took fourth in the RMAC championships at Durango, Colo. Making the trip were Kelly Deines, Schaefer, Burtscher, Robertson and Steve Critchfield.

Robertson tied for second medalist honors in the RMAC meet.

Netters Sixth in RMAC Meets

After having a complete lack of success in dual meet action Fort Hays State's tennis squad gained a sixth place finish in the 11-team Rocky Mountain Athletic Conference championships in Denver.

Teams downing the Tigers over the course of the season included Northwestern Oklahoma State College, Bethany College, Emporia State College twice and Washburn University.

Senior Mike McAtee was the only returning letterman on the team this year. This marked the fourth season McAtee has earned a letter in the sport at Fort Hays State.

Head coach was regular wrestling mentor Dave Winter.

Others on the squad who will be eligible to return next season include Steve Wilbur, George Stewart, Joe Kramer, Greg Robinson, Randy Lawrence, Jim Gross, Mike Haxton and Steve Spratt.

Thinclads Enjoy Prosperous Season Of Record Setting, Award-Winning

Records were set, a championship was captured and honors were won by Fort Hays State's track squad during both the indoor and outdoor campaigns.

Nine new records were established during the indoor track season while seven more were set in the outdoor season.

One of the milestones of this track season was the winning of the first Rocky Mountain Athletic Conference Track and Field Championships at Emporia by the Tigers.

Soon after that victory the head track mentor, Alex Francis, was named the top track coach in the nation by votes from other track and field coaches and Amateur Athletic Union officials.

To open the season the Bengals ventured to the NAIA Indoor track and field championships in Kansas City. Larbi Oukada gained a third in the two-mile run and Jerry Duran a fifth in the 1,000-yard run.

FHS then initiated dual meet action against Kearney (Neb.) State with a 74-68 victory.

Indoor Campaign A Big Success

At Omaha the Tigers won a triangular meet against the University of Nebraska at Omaha and South Dakota University.

At the Kansas State Indoor meet at Manhattan the Tigers gained the top trophy in the college division. Two new school marks were set as FHS won three firsts.

The Tigers opened the outdoor track season at the Emporia Relays. No team score was kept but five events were won by the Black and Gold.

In the first dual of the outdoor season the Bengals got another victory over Kearney State.

Following were the Kansas Relays where the distance medley relay squad of Ron Borger, Mike Estes, Steve Boehmer and Bruce Zamrzla won a first.

ABOVE: These six runners were part of either the mile relay or two-mile relay teams which both set records for FHS in the outdoor season. From left: Bob Young, Mike Estes, Bruce Zamrzla, Dave Schneider, Ron Borger and Steve Boehmer.

Tigers Capture RMAC Crown

Rival Emporia State College was then dropped at Emporia to keep the dual meet record perfect.

A pair of third-place finishes were garnered by the Tigers at the Drake Relays.

In the only home meet of the year the Tigers downed Wichita State University 83-58.

At the RMAC meet Larbi Oukada grabbed three first places to help the Tigers win the first track and field championship of the new conference.

FHS racked up 159 points to Emporia State's 125 to coast to victory.

At the Missouri Valley AAU meet at McPherson the Tigers brought home top laurels.

Obituary — Warren D. Allen

Warren D. Allen, Ellis senior, was found dead in his car Jan. 29 about two miles east of Hays on Interstate 70.

Allen was in the FHS Honors Program and was a member of German Club.

Survivors are his mother, Mrs. Helen Allen of Ellis; a brother, Pvt. James Allen with the U. S. Army, and grandmother, Mrs. Elizabeth Meyn, also of Ellis.

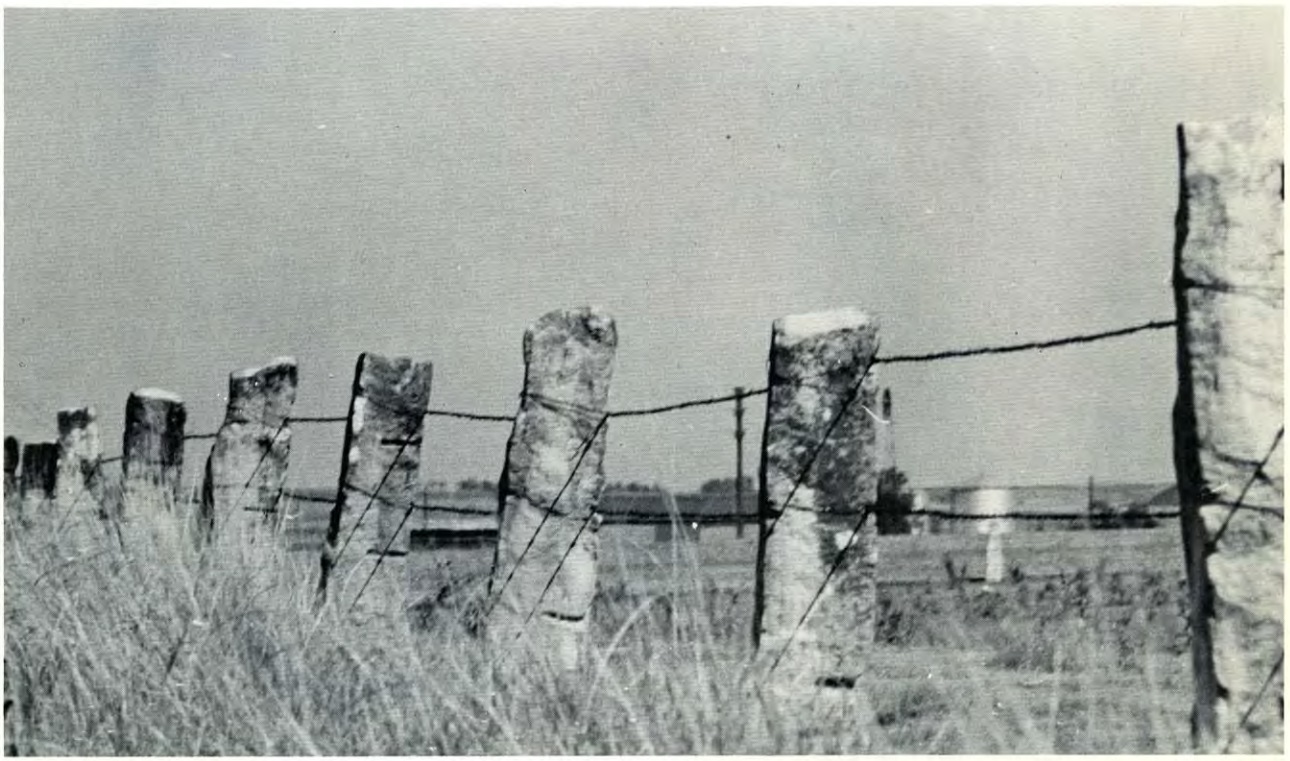
And So to Close . . .

It is my wish to express a final word of thanks to everyone who has helped to make this book what it is.

Special thanks go to Delma Studios, our portrait photographers; Mr. Leon Maxson and the photo lab staff, for all of the candids, special shots, group shots and "impossible" shots in the book; Taylor Publishing Company and Mr. Paul McClellan, for their advice and printing of the book; the Leader staff, for its fellowship and cooperation; Mrs. Katherine Rogers and Mr. Bob Lowen, for their long hours advising us; the Reveille staff members for their loyalty and determination to do their best; the entire faculty and student body at FHS for cooperating with us in an effort to make this YOUR book.



Ironically, as I chose the theme of MILESTONES for the 1969 Reveille, I was also choosing the theme my year was to take on. It has truly been a MILESTONE for me and a privilege I shall never forget.

Thank you all again.
