Tigers Whip Southwestern To Gain Tournament Berth

FHS became the District 10 representative in the NAIA basketball tournament in Kansas City, March 11-16, by defeating Kansas Conference champion Southwestern of Winfield Tuesday night.

The Tigers downed Southwestern Monday night in Sheridan Coliseum, 105-91, then traveled to Winfield Tuesday to record their second win in the best two out of three series, 78-66.

Bengal cagers will go to Kansas City Sunday to participate in the opening festivities of the national tournament. Information regarding the pairings are expected to be released later this week.

Sendoff Scheduled; School To State Stand On Student Trips

An "off to Kansas City" pep assembly for the FHS Tigers has been scheduled tomorrow morning in Sheridan Coliseum.

...Preceding the cheers Larry Good, student body president, will announce President Cunningham's stand concerning students accompanying the Tigers to Kansas City.

Tomorrow morning's class schedule is:

- 8:00-8:35 first class period
- 8:45-9:20 second class period
- 9:30-10:15 pep assembly
- 10:25-11:05 third class period
- 11:15-11:55 fourth class period

The Kansas City Chamber of Commerce contacted FHS Coach Cade Suran Wednesday about the possibility of reserving a block of seats for Hays fans attending the tournament. Suran said a tentative count of students planning to attend will be taken at Friday's assembly.

This is the third year in the past five and the second straight year that the Tigers have been the District 10 representative at KC.

Seven members of last year's championship squad will be returning to the NAIA playoff. They are: Herb Stange, senior center; John Channell senior forward; Tom McKain, senior guard; Jim Bodge, senior guard; Sam McDowell, junior forward; Dave Hurt, senior guard; and Jude Gerstner, sophomore forward-center.

In 1959 FHS finished fourth in the NAIA tournament and last year the Bengals were beaten out in the opening round by Lewis and Clark of Oregon, 75-69.

Against Southwestern Tuesday night, 6-5 Channell led the FHS attack with 25 points and set a new season scoring record.

The counters brought his total output for the year to 482 and erased the 424 mark he established last year.

Stange also surpassed the old record, getting 12 points in the game and bringing his year's total to 426.

Southwestern and FHS changed leads seven times in the first 14 minutes before the Tigers took command for good at 28-27 on a set shot by McKain.

Following a 37-31 lead at intermission, the Bengals built leads as

New Lot Will Ease Parking Pains

By Arlene Goetz
Leader Feature Editor

If you've ever engaged in a futile search for a parking slot on the FHS campus, you may well be acquainted with the feeling of frustration.

According to Wendell Wyatt, campus patrolman, the odds against your finding a parking place are almost two to one. There are only 640 parking stalls compared to approximately 1,050 parking permits issued for the spring semester.

A temporary solution to this problem will be a new parking area to be available in a month and a half. Located on west campus, north of the present parking lot, it will accommodate about 100 cars.

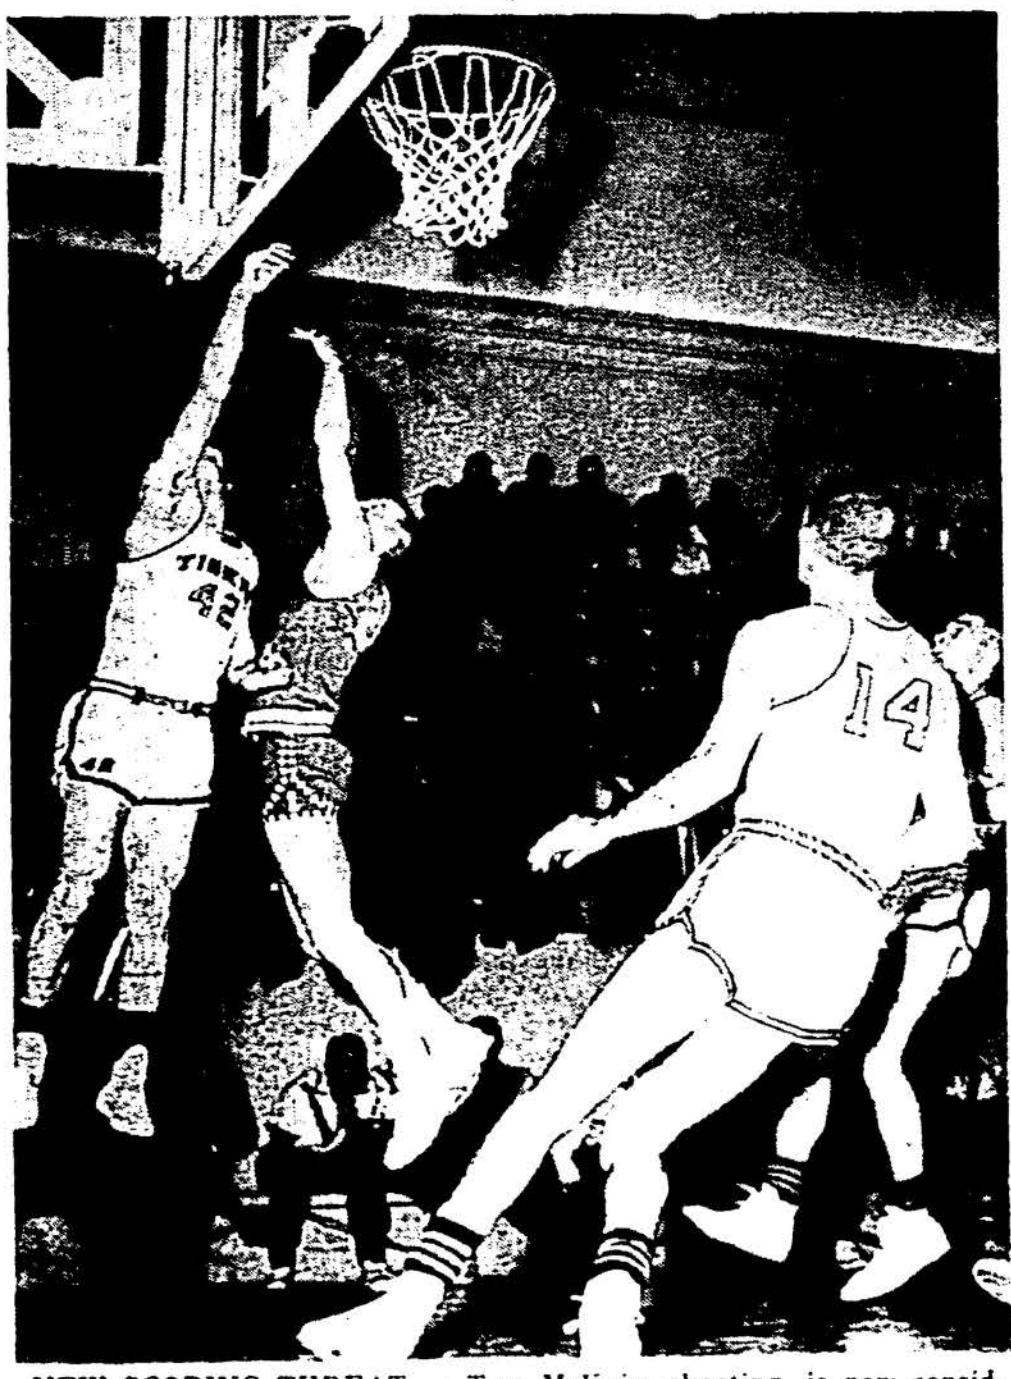

This project was initiated by the Traffic Tribunal, a committee composed of five students, Dean of Women Jean Stouffer and acting

Dean of Men Richard Burnett. The tribunal regulates traffic problems and serves as a clearing house or court between students and authorities.

Besides making recommendations to improve the parking problem, the tribunal also reckons with traffic violators. Tickets may be appealed by submitting a written statement to the dean of men within seven days after date of the violation. The tribunal is a part of the judicial branch of the All-Student Council, therefore if its ruling does not appear to be fair to the student, the violator may appeal to the Student Court.

The tribunal reports that as of Feb. 27, a total of 594 tickets have been issued since the opening of the spring semester Jan. 31. Last year only 747 tickets were issued

Fort Hays State Means Big Business

By Gordon New
Leader Staff Writer

In 1927, the U. S. Bureau of Education made this comments:

"... it is difficult for a local community to realize that its business profits from an educational institution are as substantial if not so spectacular as those which arise from inducing factories and other business enterprises to locate in the community."

Today, 36 years later, such a comment on FHS's contribution to the business life of Hays can be stated even more strongly.

According to a brochure recently published by the FHS Endowment Association, the college's growth since 1927 has been phenomenal. And the dependence of a large student body on local merchants reflects more than mere volume:

Because the FHS students must buy many services which are usually provided in their homes, their needs are more widely distributed than the needs of industry-based members of the same community.

A survey made by a special committee composed of members of the FHS administrative staff and faculty and the Hays Chamber of Commerce shows that last year FHS attracted a total of $7,275,000 in new money to Hays.

Kent Collier, executive secretary of the Endowment Association, says that of this amount, $1,470,295 was spent for food in stores, restaurants, dormitories and Greek houses.

Collier adds that $769,598 went for rent and house payments; $243,641 for clothing, and $282,859 for entertainment. The remaining $5,507,000 was spent for automobiles, insurance, professional services, personal services, new homes, books, etc.

The projected growth rate of FHS shows almost a 50 per cent increase in enrollment by 1970.

As Collier points out, when the 5,250 enrollment figure is reached, FHS will produce an estimated total of eleven million dollars annually. To the merchants and professional people of Hays, this means business.

Student Nurses Bound For Denver

One of the more important requirements for student nurses who will graduate Aug. 1 is the completion of a 13-week pediatrics course at Children's Hospital in Denver.

A total of 10 schools of nursing from Colorado, Nebraska, Idaho, Utah and Kansas send approximately six students to this specialty hospital where they study unusual conditions and children's diseases.

FHS seniors who will complete this learning requirement March 8 are: Judy Greenway, Hugoton; Carole Becker Hall, Luray; Shirley Lebsack, Otis; and Sue Torrey of Canton.

Those beginning specialized training March 11 are: Mary Lou Jorns, Preston; Karen Kaltenbach, Plainville; Marlene Kleweno, Lenora; Patty Miller, Osborne; Helen Moreland, Hays; and Jaclyn Sanborn of Edmond.

Senior Book Lovers Eligible For Loveman Library Award

A prize of $25 in books will be given to the Fort Hays State winner of the Amy Loveman Award contest by the Campus Bookstore, according to Dr. S. J. Sackett, associate professor of English.

The winner will be allowed to choose any books in print and order them through the Campus Bookstore, Sackett said. Burtscher Books has also offered to give special prizes in the contest.

The winning essay on campus will be sent on to the national contest, its author being eligible to compete for a $1,000 cash award. The prize will be given at the commencement ceremony of the winner's school.

Only college seniors are eligible to compete for the prize, which is sponsored nationally by the Book-of-the-Month Club, the Saturday Review and the Women's National Book Association.

Award committees on each campus will select a local winner and forward his essay to the national judges. The Fort Hays State committee consists of Dr. Sackett, Dr. Dale Dick, Dr. Max Rumpel, and Richard Marcus. Campus deadline is April 1; national deadline is April 30.

The student must present an annotated bibliography of not less than 35 books presently in his collection and provide brief essays on the following subjects: "How I Would Start Building a Home Library;" "The Next Ten Books I Hope To Add To My Personal Library and Why;" and "My Idea for a Complete Home Library."

Collections will be judged on the basis of intellectual interest, scope and imagination shown in creating the collection, and knowledge of the books as revealed in the annotations. Collections of any type (excluding textbooks) are eligible, whether centered on a subject or avocation, a single author or a group of authors, or a general collection.

The Amy Loveman National Award was established in memory of the late associate editor of the Saturday Review, who was also a judge for the Book-of-the-Month Club and a member of the Women's National Book Association. An active and widely respected figure in journalism, Miss Loveman was especially concerned with broadening the book horizons of young people.

Save the Pieces

Last year a number of FHS students attended the NAIA tournament in Kansas City, but it seems some of them had more in mind than rooting for the team.

The festive spirit of the basketball fans, plus some other well-known spirits, somehow drove them to do a fair job of demolishing some of the furnishings of a K.C. hotel.

Hotel managers are probably already bracing themselves for the influx of basketball teams and fans next week and are hoping for the least damage possible.

FHS's reputation was damaged last year by the actions of these few students, and a reputation is harder to repair than furniture.

We hope all students attending the tournament will represent FHS as well as the basketball team has this year.

What's the Limit?

A proposal before the Kansas legislature for raising the speed limits on Interstate 70 to 75 miles per hour will surely bring a rumble from less enlightened safety officials.

Advocates of the old slogan "Speed Kills" will probably complain that a higher speed limit is inviting mass suicide.

It's time that safety officials took a realistic look at the speed problem, and realized that speed is relative. If the slogan read, "Excessive Speed for the Situation Kills," it would be sensible.

Driving 30 mph down a narrow alley can be more dangerous than 80 mph on a super highway, providing the higher speed is being performed in a suitable car.

We believe an appalling lack of driving ability on the part of the general public must be blamed for most accidents.

There are many people who feel they are doing a big part in reducing traffic accidents by poking along at 40 mph on super highways. And, in the same vein, there are many ignorant types who insist on driving over their heads in poor handling or unsafe cars fitted with inadequate tires.

There will always be a very small minority of aware and competent drivers with such machines as Ferrari Berlinettas running on Pirelli Cinturato "S" tires that are capable of cruising all day at 100 mph plus speeds in complete safety, in the wet or otherwise.

But turnpikes get rather boring for them. They can get there just as fast, due to their superior driving ability and safer cars, by taking the narrow, twisty back roads, and have more fun doing it.

For the safety of the general public, which knows or cares little about driving techniques or why one car will corner or stop faster than another, a general speed limit of 75-80 mph on gently sweeping four-lane highways is best, especially when coupled with a strictly enforced minimum speed limit of 40-50 mph.

Wouldn't it be wonderful if every driver in the United States were tested to evaluate his knowledge of his own ability and the limits of his car? The millions of cars and drivers banned from public roads by such testing might make speed limits unnecessary for the competent and sensible drivers left.

We can dream.

Mumblings

Elsewhere in this issue is a story about the trials and tribulations of the traffic tribunal. Their main problem seems to be a lack of parking spaces.

I offer a long-range, self-paying plan for forever ridding our campus of the parking problem.

First, the intramural field south of Forsyth Library should be paved and a full-time attendant hired to collect a dime per day from parkers, with half of the money going to construction costs, and the other half being evenly divided between the endowment fund and a fund for the construction of future parking lots.

When this facility proves insufficient, in about two years at the present rate of growth, the whole campus should be paved and students charged ten cents per day again for the privilege of parking next to their preferred buildings.

Campus paving will be in green textured concrete so the illusion of having a beautiful lawn won't be destroyed. Oil drippings from cars will provide an even and more interesting design than the paths students have pounded into the present conventional lawn.

Students could stomp on the concrete "lawn" as much as they desire without hurting anything but their feet, and, The Leader would be spared its annual anti-grass-stomping campaign.

When the "lawn" parking becomes full, all houses and other buildings in the two-block square area east of the campus will be razed and the whole area paved in pastel shades of concrete, upperclassmen getting the parking places nearest the campus. Money for this property-buying, razing and paving project will come from a ten-cent-per-day charge like all previous parking lots.

By this time there will be enough money, besides that for scholarships, the National Defense Loan fund and the endowment fund, that a pension fund can be established for the wrecker drivers that efficiently clear the daily average of five multiple-car wrecks about the campus.

There will be no more parking in the present streets, since all the room available will be needed to clear the campus, or should we say parking lots, of cars when the final whistle blows.

Deft management of funds would insure sufficient acreage being constantly bought to provide for future parking lots.

To save time, and possible injuries or nervous breakdowns, visitors will park on one of the fringe lots to be flown in to the main campus by one of the campus patrol helicopters.

The quality of education at FHS would not suffer during the parking lot growth years. In fact, such new courses as "Parking Lot Management," "Corpse Extraction in Head-on Collisions" and graduate studies in "Traffic Trouble Shooting" could be offered with an excellent opportunity for field study by students.

Some people may fear our building program will suffer during the parking lot construction. To the contrary. All future campus buildings will be built on stilts over Big Creek, thereby saving valuable space and eliminating the unsightly flow of Ellis sewage that has plagued our campus for so many years.

And if we have to expand south, those buffalo really don't need such a large pen, do they? drw big as 15 points, 59-44, in the first 10 minutes with Channell getting 13 points in the early second half spurt.

However, SW was not yet out of contention and cut the deficit to six points on four occasions. But Channell hit a layup and Stange got three fast points on a field goal and free throw to widen the gap to 71-60. Even scoring continued until the final buzzer.

Several factors were prevalent in Tuesday night's win. The Bengals fielded a well rounded attack with all starters hitting in double figures. Bodge had 15 and McDowell and McKain 13. Also, FHS committed only nine fouls while the Moundbuilders were charged with 25.

A third factor was the defense pitted against Winfield's top scorer, Don Turner. The 6-4 center led his teammates with 15 points, but was far short of equalling the 37 counters he finished with in the opening game of the district 10 playoff.

Monday night the lead also changed several times in the first minutes before the Tigers pulled ahead to a 50-37 halftime lead.

Both squads scored by spurts after intermission with the Builders coming within eight points at 89-81.

With about five minutes left, the victors went into the popular wagon wheel ball control pattern and the century mark was reached on a feed to Channell by McKain.

Monday night's game was the fourth time this year the Bengals had surpassed 100. Tuesday night's win was the eighth straight and the fourth victory of the season against Southwestern.

Monday night Channell and McKain were the scoring gunners for the Suranmen as both hit his season high in the last home game of their college careers. Channell finished with 31 and McKain, who had been averaging 6.2 per game, popped in 24, plus playing an excellent floor game.

Bodge and McDowell both finished with 18 and Stange meshed 13. Top reserve Gerstner added a single counter.

for the entire spring semester; 8-11 were issued for the 1962 fall term.

Although the most frequent violation early in any semester is failure to secure a parking permit, the tribunal is presently concerned with improper parking. Regulation prohibits parking so that a yellow parking stall marker or its extension into the street passes under any part of the parked vehicle.

The tribunal also stressed the fact that the person in whose name the car is registered will be held responsible for its use. If a borrowed car receives a ticket, the owner must pay the fine.

The tribunal follows up all offenders. An unidentified violator parked on campus without a permit can be traced by contacting the county treasurer's office to find tag registration.

"Campus drivers generally cooperate and observe traffic regulations," Burnett commented.

The Traffic Tribunal says it welcomes suggestions from students on improving the parking situation.

MARKING ON THE CURVE—AND WHAT TO DO ABOUT IT

Twonkey Crimscoot was a professor. Choate Sigafos was a sophomore. Twonkey Crimscoot was keen, cold, brilliant. Choate Sigafos was loose, vague, adenoal. Twonkey Crimscoot believed in diligence, discipline, and marking on the curve. Choate Sigafos believed in elves, Julie London, and thirteen hours of sleep each night.

Yet there came a time when Twonkey Crimscoot—mentor, sage, and savant—was thoroughly outthought, outfoxed, outmaneuvered, outplayed, and outwitted by Choate Sigafos, sophomore.

It happened one day when Choate was at the library studying for one of Mr. Crimscoot's exams in sociology. Mr. Crimscoot's exams were murder—plain, flat murder. They consisted of one hundred questions, each question having four possible answers—A, B, C, and D. You had to check the correct answer, but the trouble was that the four choices were so subtly shaded, so intricately worded, that students more clever by far than Choate Sigafos were often set to gibbering.

So on this day Choate sat in the library poring over his sociology text, his tiny brow furrowed with concentration, while all around him sat the other members of the sociology class, every one studying like crazy, every one scared and pasty. Choate looked sadly at their stricken faces. "What a waste!" he thought. "All this youth, this verve, this bounce, chained to dusty books in a dusty library! We should be out singing and dancing and cutting didoes on the greensward! Instead we are here."

Then, suddenly, an absolute gasser of an idea hit Choate. "Listen!" he shouted to his classmates. "Tomorrow when we take the exam, let's all—every one of us—check Choice 'A' on every question—every one of them."

"Huh?" said his classmates. "Oh, I know that Choice 'A' can't be the right answer to every question," said Choate. "But what's the difference? Mr. Crimscoot marks on the curve. If we all check the same answers, then we all get the same score, and everybody in the class gets a 'C'."

"Hm," said his classmates. "So why should we knock ourselves out studying?" said Choate. "Let's get out of here and have a ball!"

So they all ran out and lit Marlboro Cigarettes and had a ball, as indeed, you will too when you light a Marlboro, for if there ever was a cigarette to lift the spirit and gladden the heart, to dispel the shades of night, to knot up the ravelled sleeve of care, to put spring in your gait and roses in your cheeks, it is filtered Marlboros—firm and pure and fragrant and filled with rich, natural, golden tobacco. And, what's more, this darlin' smoke comes in soft packs that are actually soft and flip-top boxes that actually flip.

Well sir, the next morning the whole class did what Choate said, and, sure enough, they all got 'C's, and they picked Choate up and carried him on their shoulders and sang "For He's a Jolly Good Fellow" and plied him with sweetmeats and Marlboros and girls and put on buttons which said "I DOTE ON CHOATE."

But they were celebrating too soon. Because the next time shrewd old Mr. Crimscoot gave them a test, he did not give them one hundred multiple choice questions. He only gave them one question—to wit: write a 30,000 word essay on "Crime Does Not Pay."

"You and your ideas," they said to Choate and tore off his epaulets and broke his sword and drummed him out of the school. Today, a broken man, he earns a living as a camshaft in Toledo.

A-Phi-O Is Growing, Going Concern

By A. Kent Noland
Leader Staff Writer

About the best way to describe Alpha Phi Omega, honorary service fraternity, is to say it is a growing and going concern.

During the spring of 1957, a small group of men with a desire to serve the campus met with Sid North, executive secretary of the national service fraternity.

At the first meeting the officers were elected and Richard Burnett, dean of men, served as adviser.

During the years that followed, A-Phi-O sponsored many campus activities.

In 1958, they held a "Professor for Sale" auction where professors volunteered their services to the highest bidder.

It was that same year that the lost and found service was organized.

Another project was a fund drive for a fellow student injured in the explosion of a miniature rocket engine. A check for over $400 to help defray medical expense was given to the student.

Other activities such as carrying suitcases and other paraphernalia for women moving into the dormitories were and are still being performed by A-Phi-O members.

Formal installation ceremonies were held in May, 1959. The Pi chapter of Alpha Phi Omega from Kansas State University provided the initiation team.

The next year was quite active for A-Phi-O. Such services as ushering at Artists and Lectures functions, passing out programs at games, ushering the Boy Scouts into games and seeing to it that their presence was announced during the half time intermissions were performed by members.

For the next two years the fraternity was relatively inactive due to a lack of manpower.

The renaissance came early in the fall 1962 semester with the advent of eight pledges. At that time there were only three actives: Jerry Patterson, Hill City sophomore; Gene Hottman, Abilene sophomore, and Jim Rock, Abilene junior.

Formal pledge services were held Wednesday for five new pledges. Those pledged are Terry Rhodes, Garden City sophomore; Ed Kraus,

Future A-Phi-O plans include a pitch tournament, the ugliest professor on campus contest, as well as other fund-raising projects. The money will go toward new blazers for members.

Those interested in joining may contact any A-Phi-O member or attend their meetings at 6:30 p.m. Wednesdays in the Memorial Union.

Eight FHS Wrestlers Snare AAU Crowns

FHS wrestlers racked up 122 points, including eight first places, to lead Hays to the Missouri Valley AAU Wrestling Championship Saturday night in Sheridan Coliseum.

Teams from Maryville, Mo., and Manhattan finished with 61 counters to tie for second place. Wichita placed fourth with 29 and Lawrence fifth with 17.

There were only two weight divisions in which the Hays team did not place first, the 137 and 157. Fred Scott of FHS was decided by Gary Duff of Lawrence in the 157-pound bracket finals and at 137 Jerome Cheynet of Manhattan won over Bob Brown of Oberlin.

Jim Tinkler, Russell junior, was named the meet's outstanding wrestler and Dave Moore, 167-pounder from Maryville received the sportsmanship award.

Tinkler won over three larger opponents in gaining the title, including a 272-pounder from Wichita, Russell Brown.

Marvin Schultz, FHS 115-pounder, netted pins for the Hays squad in all three of his matches on the way to a championship. Don Keller, 130-pounder at FHS from St. Francis, won the title match over a two-time high school state champion from Newton, Glenn White. Schultz's final bout also came over a state champion, Manhattan's Al Martinez.

Coach Walter Kroll and six Tiger wrestlers will leave Monday evening for the 6th Annual NAIA Wrestling Tournament at Bloomsburg, Pa., March 14-16.

Kroll said he is taking Vic Lyczak, 147-pound sophomore from Northbrook, Ill.; Delbert Erickson, 167-pound junior from Herndon; Ken Ruda, 177-pound freshman from Atwood; Schultz, Keller and Tinkler.

Saturday night's results:
115-pound finals — Schultz pinned Martinez, 2-13.

123-pound finals — Jim Belch, Hays, decided Harvey Hallum, Maryville, 2-0.

130-pound finals — Keller decided White, 4-0.

137-pound finals — Cheynet decided Brown, 7-5.

147-pound finals — Lyczak decided Terry Shockley, Lawrence, 3-0.

157-pound finals — Duff decided Scott, 3-2.

167-pound finals — Erickson over Buck Oliphant, Wichita, default.

177-pound finals — Ruda decided Leroy Borre, Manhattan, 2-0.

191-pound finals — Bill Chase, Hays, decided Dan McJunkin, Manhattan, 3-1.

Heavyweight finals — Tinkler pinned Jim Waskiewicz, Wichita, 5:58.

Tiger grapplers also finished in the finals in two consolation brackets. At 115 pounds, Sid Cooley, Hays, lost a 6-5 decision to James Noel, Wichita, and at 191, J. D. Crabbs, Hays, decided Peter Di-

Donato, Wichita, 9-5.

Team Spirit, Morale Spark Second Successful Comeback

For the second consecutive season Fort Hays State basketballers are Kansas City bound. Both seasons have seen the Tigers roaring from behind to grab top Central Intercollegiate Conference honors.

Last season the Tigers slumped with one win and two conference losses, but then pulled themselves together and snagged the championship. History repeated itself this year when the Tigers dropped three early-season CIC games, but fought back to nip Emporia State in a playoff game.

Three members of the Tiger starting lineup, Tom McKain, Minneapolis senior; Sam McDowell, Smith Center junior, and Jim Bodge, Phillipsburg senior, have varied comments about the startling comeback the team made after setbacks by St. Benedict's, Pittsburg and Washburn.

"The thing that helped us most was the rise in team spirit and morale," said Jim Bodge, guard for the Tigers. "The boys on the bench deserve a great deal of credit for their contribution to our recent improvement."

Tom McKain, also a guard, followed Bodge's reasoning in stating that team spirit was the main factor in the late winning streak; however, Sam McDowell, 5-11 forward, contributed the recent upswing to the lineup change.

All three Tiger ball players are going to an NAIA tournament for the second time. The cagers expressed belief that this year's more experienced team should win a few games in Kansas City.

Win 68-64 At Salina

Tigers Win CIC Playoff, Drop Emporia

Determination was the keynote Saturday night when the Tigers overcame a four-point halftime deficit to down the Emporia State Hornets, 68-64, in a thrilling CIC playoff game at Salina High School.

A well-rounded Bengal attack broke the tie for the conference championship. FHS and E-State had both sported 7-3 records going into the contest.

After trailing 31-27 at intermission the Tigers tied the game three times, the last deadlock coming at 41-all.

A field goal by 6-5 senior John Channell put coach Cade Suran's cagers ahead to stay and seconds later with the score 46-45, the Bengals netted eight straight points while Emporia failed to score.

The Suranmen then fought off several Hornet threats and with 5:00 left to play went into their wagon wheel ball control pattern.

The desperate E-Staters were forced to foul and FHS meshed six free throws, plus picking up two field goals on under-the-basket shots.

Although the Bengals netted the sufficient counters, the Hornets were able to slice the 13-point margin of 66-53. But the final gun sounded with Emporia's all-CIC cager, Doug Glaysher, connecting on a tip-in.

In the first half Emporia led the Tigers by as much as 11 points, 25-14, with 5:45 remaining in the period. Guard Garry Patterson and a frigid FHS squad were to blame. On screens and good passes by his teammates the 5-9 sharpshooter hit consistently from the outside and had 13 points at the half. While Patterson was keeping the Hornets in the lead, the Tigers were able to hit only 28.1 per cent of their shots from the field.

FHS hit a sizzling 56.5 the second half to average an even 40 per cent. E-State hit 38.1 for the game.

Herb Stange continued in his role as scoring leader, meshing 18 counters, and Sam McDowell and Channell were close behind with 16 each. Jim Bodge and Tom McKain completed the Tiger scoring with 10 and eight points, respectively.

Glaysher set the pace for the Hornets with 18. Patterson was closely behind with 16 and center Dennis Bolen had 15.

Thursday night against Omaha University the Bengals clinched a tie for the conference title with a 94-57 trouncing of the Indians.

Also in Thursday night's play Emporia State downed Washburn University, 90-56, and cellar-dwelling St. Benedict's upset Pittsburg State, 74-64. The loss dropped the Pitt Gorillas out of title contention. Pitt, E-State and FHS had all entered the games with 6-3 records.

Leading the Tigers against Omaha was Stange with 23, but a well-rounded attack was again executed as McDowell had 21 and Channell 18.

With the victory Channell boosted his season rebounding mark to 259 in 20 games, breaking the standard he set last year when he grabbed 258 caroms in 23 contests.

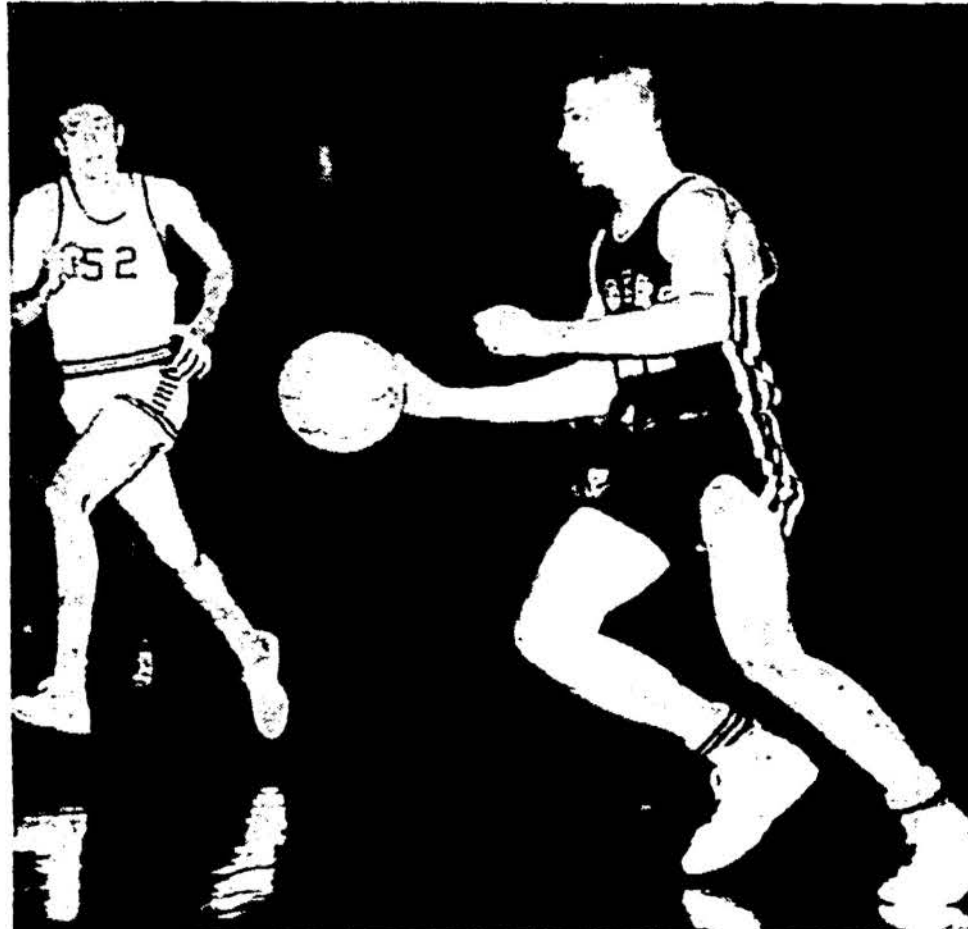

VALUABLE POINTS — Big John Channell, right, squares off against Emporia's Jon Fuquay and adds two needed counters in the Tigers fray with the Hornets.

HAPPY TIME — As the final gun sounded the victorious Suranmen were mobbed by a part of the estimated 1,500 FHS fans, and were carried or pushed with back-slaps to the dressing room. On the shoulders of happy followers is Jim Bodge, while reserve Bill Royer, left, and other cagers receive congratulations.

LOCKER ROOM JUBILATION — The noise that comes with winning a CIC playoff is a welcome sound, even if it does hinder statistician Karl Leiker, lower left, from figuring the final shooting percentages. Merv Heitschmidt, No. 51, shakes hands with John Channell, who is blocked from view by top reserve guard Dave Hurt. Behind Heitschmidt, Coach Cade Suran receives congratulations and Sam McDowell, No. 41, dances with glee.

FLOORMAN — Guard Jim Bodge heads a Bengal drive as Dennis Bolen, Hornet pivot-man, tries to maneuver into a defensive position. Besides playing a commendable floor game, 5-11 Bodge hustled his way to five rebounds.
