Results of Summer Play Please Director Dunavan

Approximately 350 people attended the summer production of John G. Fuller's comedy, "A Connecticut Yankee in King Arthur's Court," in the Memorial Union, July 17 and 18.

Al Dunavan, director of the play, was pleased with the performances. The cast, Dunavan felt, made the play believable.

Dunavan said, "I wanted it to be a good one because it's the last one I will direct; and it was."

The speech department plans to produce five plays next year; two each semester and one in the summer session.

Figures Toppled By Summer Session Enrollment Numbers

Summer enrollment figures toppled to an all time summer session record with 1,872, an 8 per cent increase over last year's total of 1,735.

According to the tabulation of registrar S. V. Dalton, the number of graduate students in summer sessions has increased significantly in recent years, rising from 580 in 1962 to 637 this summer.

Class totals compared to last year's records are: Freshmen, 127 and 98; sophomore, 177 and 169; juniors, 275 and 252; seniors, 460 and 462; unclassified and no-credit students, 43 and 48.

With a total of 526 registered in the three-week sessions, the 23 workshops scheduled at three-week intervals during the summer accounted for a sizable part of the enrollment.

Women outnumbered men by 334 students; 769 men against 1,103 women enrolled in this session.

Iced Rains Maybe?

At 84 degrees the temperature should climb to about 95 degrees before the day ends. The rains didn't get too much credit for cooling things off.

Vision Conference Will Be Thursday

"What's Happening in Vision," an exploratory conference will be held Tuesday, July 29, in the Black Room of the Memorial Union. The Workshop will be conducted by the department of education, with Dr. W. Clement Wood greeting the group.

Miss Helen Gibbons, Education Consultant, National Society for the Prevention of Blindness, will be one of the main consultants for the Workshop.

The purpose of each of the sessions is to provide a survey of common eye problems of children, review the correct techniques of vision screening, outline the necessary administrative planning for adequate follow-up of vision screening, describe the educational provisions available for children found to have visual impairments which interfere with maximum school progress, and to present local and state resources.

Other consultants include Dr. Eugene T. Siler, Hays, ophthalmologist, and Miss Dorothy Woodin, Nurse Consultant, maternal and child health, State Board of Health, Topeka.

Enrollment Figures Expected to Climb

Enrollment figures will climb to a new high of an expected 3,750 when fall enrollment takes place Sept. 9, 10 and 11.

Procedures for enrolling will be the same as in previous semesters for upperclassman. Students will pick up their enrollment books in the arena of Sheridan Coliseum according to alphabetical arrangement.

From the coliseum, students will go to their faculty advisers who will counsel them in regard to their program.

When the enrollment book has been signed by the adviser, class slips are picked up in the Memorial Union Black and Gold Room and enrollment books are then completed. The slips and enrollment books are checked and turned in at Cody Cafeteria.

Freshmen who have pre-enrolled during the summer must pick up their enrollment books and class slips in the coliseum. Freshmen not pre-enrolled must follow the general undergraduate plan after completing the A.C.T. test.

The test will be given Sat., Sept. 7 at 8 a.m., Rarick Hall, Room 309.

700 Enrollees Will Invade Sixteenth Annual Band Camp

The sound of music will ring again on the FHS campus when 700 enrollees arrive for the 16th annual High Plains Music Camp to be held August 4 through 10.

Since the camp limits its membership, all students are accepted on a first-come, first served basis, according to the needs of a well-balanced instrumentation.

All sections of the camp were closed in May with 1200 making applications.

Harold Palmer, Associate professor of music, is camp director and founder. Approximately 42 make up the teaching staff, with 8 on the administrative staff.

Campers will audition and be

Grads Give Dollars For Senior Class Gift

Donations of one dollar per member will be given the National Defense Loan Fund by the summer senior class at FHS.

This is the second consecutive year that summer graduates have presented a cash gift to the loan fund. Dollars are matched by federal funds, with the government providing $9 for each dollar raised by the college. Each dollar contributed by the seniors will provide $10 in the National Defense Loan.

A. Bob White, Great Bend senior and president of the summer senior class, will present the gift at the All-Graduate Dinner Aug. 1. President M. C. Cunningham will receive the gift on behalf of the college.

Serving on the commencement program committee are seniors Judy Braswell, Otis; Kay Klink, Hays and Patty Potter, Stafford. Maxine Hoffman, assistant professor of home economics, is sponsor of the summer senior class.

Portion of Welty Library, Documents Given to FHS

A long-time member of the FHS history faculty, Dr. Raymond L. Welty, has donated a large portion of his personal library to the college.

After 27 years on the FHS faculty, Dr. Welty retired this spring. During his years on the college staff, he frequently contributed books and periodicals to the library. He was chairman of the college's department of history from 1941 to 1960.

Three Column Inkling

As is inevitable in the life of any 'complete' student there are mystical amounts of things that haven't been done yet this summer. Things that were going to be done and some section of fate didn't permit them to be — fate called 'self.'

Three weeks ago last ditch efforts promised that they would be done. And the beginning of summer was going to rule as a dictator to see that accomplishments were they key to student living.

The summer was going to present a new era in learning — listening at all times. One's mind was going to become loaded with knowledge to startle and dumbfound parents and friends. Packed and crammed, all of these things were going to be tidbits to enlighten the minds of students.

We can always rationalize about the long, bad-old summer. And to combat the beating sun, relaxation is a must. The cool climate, for most students, was located in the Union, on the CB beach and even test-driving air conditioned cars. So, not all studies were concerning factors in the student's schedule.

Many noble efforts were on the "things to do" list. One student was going to wash his car. He was going to wash his car in June. Then because of the overflowing waters from heaven, he decided that the cause was lost to bigger things. He ultimately gave the idea up.

A coed found that water skiing was capturing his interests. Naturally, she falls wonderfully, with ease and polish, now. Next summer she will learn to ski; this summer was just a practice run anyway.

With the summer session also come teachers leaving their families. And with this situation come impending letters. One teacher was going to write to her grandchildren and tell them all about the college life. But, as the summer progressed she found that the session was, "packed into these few weeks." And the penmanship was lost in the tide of "jobs not accomplished."

But this woman did have a remedy, she smiled and, to my immediate approval, said, "I'll send them a copy of The Leader." A note of endearment tucked inside a Leader could possibly be the answer.

One teacher of elementary pupils said that he intended to start on his term paper within the second week of school. His soul shall be busy for the entire last week of the session. And his solution to solve and resolve the problem might amuse the Board of Regents, "We need an elevator in the library."

All summer intentions are bound to weaken just one ounce. Many congratulatory notes should go to all those who accomplished every milestone that was planned as a part of the summer.

But, the authoress of Inkling must confess to being one of the 'many' that hasn't accomplished all the 'do' list items. But as one student summarized so beautifully, "If I would have accomplished all the things that I wanted to this summer, I would have to make a new list for next year. And if I'm here as many years as I think I'll be here, I'd better take my list slowly." kjf.

Dr. Ely Granted Leave to Study

A FHS faculty member will be busy studying birds and mammals of the central pacific.

Dr. Charles A. Ely, assistant professor of zoology at FHS, has been granted leave of absence to take part in this study by the U.S. National Museum, a branch of the Smithsonian Institution.

Leaving Hays Aug. 1, Ely will stay in Washington, D. C., for a time to plan and coordinate projects and conduct research. Following this he will transfer to the Pacific Islands, Leeward and Aleutian, with other members of the study team.

The study team will make a thorough study of the ecology of birds and mammals, life histories, reproductive biology and migration. The research program will be conducted by the National Museum for the U.S. Navy and other agencies.

Ely, an authority in ornithology, the study of birds, joined the FHS faculty in 1960 after receiving his doctorate from the University of Oklahoma.

During the 1960 summer session he was on the faculty of Central State College, Edmond, Okla., as an assistant professor of zoology. He was a graduate assistant instructor at Oklahoma U. from 1955 to 1960.

A native of Pennsylvania, Ely took his bachelor of science degree at Pennsylvania State University and his master's degree at Oklahoma U.

Ely is a member of the American Ornithological Society, Cooper Ornithological Society and the Kansas Ornithological Society.

NEW DIRECTOR—Gerald Ruttman assumes duties as Union Director

MU Director Trades Smell of Ether for Students Troubles

By Martha Bird
Leader Staff Reporter

Union management was a second thought for Gerald Ruttman, new Memorial Union Director at Fort Hays State. Mr. Ruttman who came here July 15, from the University of Maryland to assume his duties as Union Director, was a hospital administration major while attending Michigan State University at Lansing.

After receiving his degree in hospital administration, he decided to exchange the smell of ether, the hiring of nurses and the sound of ambulances for the smell of coffee and smoke, the hiring of student personnel and the sound of students discussing their latest classes, romances and financial problems.

"During college, I worked much of the time in the union at M.U. and I became quite interested in the field," Ruttman explained. "The University had a Student Manager Trainee program which was very beneficial to me, as well as being instrumental in my choice of careers."

The change from Maryland to Kansas could be quite large, but not so for Ruttman; he was reared in Denver, Colo., and is familiar with the abundance of land and the scarcity of people in this section of the country.

However, his wife, a native of New Jersey was quite startled with the appearance of Kansas on her first visit here in May. "She was amazed to see miles and miles of—well nothing but miles and miles," said Ruttman.

Ruttman and his wife are the parents of two children, Gavin, 9, and Lory Jane, 4. Lory is the artist in the family as can be seen by her art work that is on display in her father's new office. His family is still in Maryland and won't be here until next month. "I'm very homesick for my family; I'm tired of batching it" he admitted.

"I am very impressed with Hays and Fort Hays State. The atmosphere is extremely friendly here. When I walk across campus I know people don't know me, but they speak anyway. This gives me a good feeling—like I'm part of the campus already."

When asked about any new policies for the Union, Ruttman answered that he felt that, for the most part, the Union had good policies. "We will try to enforce some of them a little better, though," he explained.

"There is much progress in the Union field and many personal rewards to be gained from it. I think Fort Hays is a good example of Union life—a life which has good balance between social, educational and cultural aspects of the college."

Ruttman plans to continue his education here as well as be Union Director. He will begin graduate work here in the fall.

Tiger Grid Prospects to Report For Opening Workouts Next Month

The beginning of Fort Hays State's 1963 football season is just a month away.

Coach Wayne McConnell, starting his eighth year as head coach, will begin preparations for the new campaign Aug. 26 when more than 30 new Tiger grid prospects report for opening workouts.

Most of the rest of the squad, including nearly all of the 20 returning lettermen, will begin drills the first week in September.

The first game is Sept. 21 when the Tigers travel to Maryville, Mo., to meet Northwest Missouri State. The first home game isn't until Oct. 5 when Kearney (Neb.) State comes to Hays.

Four other home games highlight the '63 schedule. Conference favorite Omaha University will invade for the Band and Parents Day feature Oct. 12. Emporia is the Homecoming foe Oct. 26. A new foe, Southern Colorado State, comes in Nov. 2 for the Guest Night attraction. Southwestern Oklahoma is the final opponent Nov. 16, Scout Night.

Contests on the road, in addition to the opener in Missouri, involve Colorado Western Sept. 28, Pittsburg State Oct. 19 and Washburn University Nov. 9. Western is another new opponent.

All home games are at 7:30 p.m. except the 2 p.m. Homecoming affair. The road games are set for 8 p.m. at Maryville, 1:30 (MST) at Colorado Western in Gunnison, 2 p.m. at Pittsburg and 1:30 p.m. at Washburn. The latter two are homecoming attractions.

McConnell's 1962 team got on the winning side of the ledger for the first time since 1955 when last year's group compiled a 6-2-1 record. It was the second best season mark at FHS since 1938.

The veteran mentor, now in his third decade of coaching, expects the '63 squad to have another good season—if the coaching staff can find satisfactory answers to a pair of bothersome questions.

Those questions: Who will replace NAA All-American Dave Parker at quarterback? The hustling little offensive ace led the Tigers in nearly every statistical category for the past two seasons. And who replaces all-conference Jim Lee at a linebacker spot? The four-year veteran was a unanimous all-CIC choice on defense last fall.

McConnell must also replace a pair of four-year starters in the line, tackle Ron Gardner and center Jerry Strecker. These two stalwarts will get to help replace themselves, as both will serve as graduate assistants on the Tiger coaching staff.

The present pre-season roster numbers 79, including the 20 letter winners, 15 squadmen who have not lettered, 20 transfers and 24 incoming freshmen or upperclassmen out for the first time.

These 20 lettermen will provide the nucleus for the 1963 Tiger squad:

Tackles—Ron Schumacher, Hays senior; Ken Palgren, Levant senior; Clark Engle, Abilene junior.

Fullbacks—Steve Worley, Clay Center junior.
