Philbrick To Lecture Here Friday

Herbert Philbrick, who lived as a Communist and FBI counterspy for nine years, will speak at an assembly at 9:30 a.m. Friday in Sheridan Coliseum.

Philbrick will also address the high school Student Council Leadership Conference Saturday in the Memorial Union.

The author of "I Led Three Lives," which later was made into a documentary television series, Philbrick will offer first hand accounts of his "life as a Communist."

His career as a Communist and counterspy started in 1940 when he discovered that the Communists had quietly taken over a youth group he headed. Instead of resigning in his first flash of anger, he went to the FBI for advice.

Homecoming Petitions Available

ASC Election Scheduled Oct. 16

Plans for All-Student Council election and requirements for Homecoming queen candidates headed the business of ASC Tuesday night.

The ASC election of student body president and vice-president, class officers, organized housing representatives and other council representatives is set for Oct. 16.

Petitions with the various number of signatures required for the offices must be in the ASC office, Rarick Hall, Room 302, by 5 p.m. Oct. 9.

Petitions for student body president and vice-president must have 188 signatures. Students running for senior class offices must obtain 32 signatures, juniors must have 39, sophomores 43 and freshmen 58.

Other ASC representatives and the number of signatures required are graduate, 15; women's residence halls, 62; men's residence halls, 29; married students, 69; unmarried in unorganized housing, 75; social fraternities, 16, and social sororities, nine.

In the election of representatives from men's and women's residence halls, social fraternities and sororities, married students and unmarried students in unorganized housing, the number of representatives will fluctuate with the voting.

One representative will be elected when 25-60 ballots are cast, two will serve when there are from 61-120, three for 121-300, four for 301-500, five for 501-775 and six for 776-up.

Class offices are president, vice-president and secretary-treasurer and all will be members of ASC, but only the president from each class will have voting rights.

The number of petitioners for representatives is approximately five per cent in the case of class and student body officers and ten per cent for organized and unorganized living groups.

Petition forms for both the election and Homecoming queen candidates may be picked up and turned in at the ASC office any afternoon before the respective deadlines.

Final date that petitions may be turned in for Homecoming queens is Oct. 16, at 5 p.m.

Any organization may nominate a candidate for queen honors and these groups are responsible for obtaining the 25 necessary signatures. Only junior and senior women are eligible for the contest.

Oct. 23 has been set for the queen election. Results of the balloting will be released Oct. 25 at the traditional pre-Homecoming game pep rally and the official crowning ceremony will be at halftime of the Emporia State-FHS football game the next day.

Students owning convertibles may be asked to drive the queens in the Homecoming parade the morning of Oct. 26.

The council also discussed the Student Council Leadership Conference scheduled for Saturday in the Memorial Union.

ASC considered topics for discussion by the high school representatives expected to attend the conference. Members of the council will serve as discussion leaders for the sessions and several FHS faculty members are expected to help during the morning.

Classes Shortened For Assemblies

The time schedule for classes on the mornings of assemblies during October is as follows:

8:00- 8:35 First class period
8:45- 9:20 Second class period
9:30-10:30 Assembly period
10:35-11:10 Third class period
11:20-11:55 Fourth class period

They suggested he stay with the group and learn what the Communists had planned. After making the decision to stay, Philbrick joined the Young Communist League in 1942 and two years later was asked to join the Communist Party.

He gradually rose in the Party ranks until he was a member of the group which masterminded Communist strategy in the Boston area.

The burden of nine years in these multiple roles was a great strain for both Philbrick and his wife Eve, who, with the excep-

New Trophy Added To Float Awards

Organizations who do not have living facilities will be vying for the new trophy being awarded the first place float in that division during Homecoming, Oct. 26.

This addition brings the total number of trophies to six, one more than last year.

Other trophies being awarded are Sweepstakes, to the group with the outstanding float in the parade, and first and second place in both the men's and women's residence organization divisions.

In addition to trophies, winners will receive cash prizes from the Hays Chamber of Commerce. A total of $50 will be given to the Sweepstakes winner, $25 to the first place winner of the men's division and $25 to the first place winner in the women's division.

Endowment Assn. Plans Meeting

The annual meeting of the Endowment Assn. will be held at 8:30 a.m. Oct. 26 in the Memorial Union, in conjunction with Homecoming activities.

Included on the agenda for the meeting are the election of five trustees for four-year terms, election of officers for the coming year, a report on the past year's activities, discussion of plans for the future and adoption of the "Program of Work" for the coming year.

"We are expecting many of our members to attend this meeting, as well as the other Homecoming activities," said Kent Collier, executive secretary of the association.

IBM To Be Used For Enrollment

IBM data processing machines installed this year in Sheridan Coliseum will be put to practical use for the student when they become part of the enrollment procedure next spring and are also used in processing student records.

Social security numbers will be used as a permanent number to identify a student with his or her record at FHS.

For this reason all students must have a Social Security number. If it has been lost or a student has never had one he or she may obtain one at the Social Security Office, 107 W. 15th St. This should be done prior to Oct. 15.

Language Lab Open for Practice

Hours for individual student practice in the language laboratory in Picken Hall, Room 204, have been announced by the language department.

Hours Monday are 3-5 p.m.
Tuesday hours are 8-9 a.m.; 12 noon-5 p.m.

Wednesday hours are 4-5 p.m.

Teachers Salaries Up $200 For FHS Grads

Teaching salaries for Fort Hays State College graduates climbed over $200 this year above starting pay a year ago.

Statistics released by the college placement office show the average starting salary for bachelor's degree graduates entering teaching was $4,820, compared with $4,600 for 1962 graduates.

Those entering elementary school received an average of $4,649, compared to $4,499 a year ago. Starting salaries for teachers in high schools averaged $4,960, up nearly $220 over 1962's $4,748. Figures include both in-state and out-of-state positions.

The gap between elementary and secondary salaries averages $311. Harold Stones, director of placement, said this differential may be caused by several factors.

"Most elementary school teachers are women and many schools still pay women less than men," Stones said.

"Although it certainly isn't true, some school systems still believe that grade school teachers aren't worth as much as high school teachers," he noted.

"Also, high school teachers often make extra money for coaching sports, drama and debate and for other activities."

Counseling and special education receive top salaries, with music, coaching, library and English following. Graduates entering counseling averaged $5,727 and those in special education, $5,500. Others are: music, $5,485; coaching and physical education, $5,313; library, $5,231; and English, $5,219.

Starting pay for graduates entering non-teaching fields was $5,117, about $300 above the average teaching wage. However, Stones pointed out that most young persons entering business and industry today take a six-month or one-year training program which doesn't pay a high salary.

"After this training phase is completed," he said, "the gap becomes much greater."

Bear Attracts Visitors

The museum has been having quite a few visitors, mostly parents and children, to see the big Kodiak bear. Saturday there were more than 35 people waiting for the doors to open at 2 and during that afternoon between 450 and 500 visitors observed the bear.

Novels Lectures To Focus On American Writers

American Literature is the theme for this year's Novels Lecture Series to be present monthly by members of the English staff at FHS.

The presentations continue a plan inaugurated three years ago which have covered great, modern and contemporary novels.

The series will open Oct. 22 when Dr. S. J. Sackett discusses E. W. Howe's "The Story of a Country Town." Naomi Garner will lecture in November on "Death Comes for the Archbishop" by Willa Cather and Dr. Ralph V. Coder will speak on "Look Homeward Angel" by Thomas Wolfe in December.

No program is planned in January. The spring semester schedule includes Carl Sandburg's "The People, Yes" by Dr. Paul Graber; John Steinbeck's "Grapes of Wrath" by Marion Coulson and Conrad Richter's "The Ohio Trilogy" by Dr. Clifford D. Edwards.

All lectures will be given at 8 p.m. in the Memorial Union and are free to the general public as well as to students.

Postponed Concert By Nero Is Tuesday

Peter Nero, popular pianist and composer, will appear Tuesday at 8 p.m. in Sheridan Coliseum.

Nero's concert, originally scheduled for Sept. 18, will be the second of the Artists and Lectures series presentations.

Known for his blending of classical music and jazz, Nero has six record albums to his credit. He has made several appearances with Paul Whiteman on a national tour and has appeared in leading concert theaters.

Concerning his unique style, Nero says, "Both jazz and classics are part of my musical upbringing and I merely combine, through a natural process of practice, these elements into the kind of music I play."

Late Enrollees Boost FHS Total to 3,873

Forty-two late enrollees have boosted the total enrollment of Fort Hays State to a record number of 3,873 students.

Most of the late enrollees have enrolled in Saturday classes, according to Standlee V. Dalton, registrar and director of admissions.

WORK ON NEW CENTER — FHS president M. C. Cunningham and Mrs. Henry Malloy look on as heavy equipment cuts the basic form of Malloy Hall, the new speech and music center, which will be south of Albertson Hall. The building is named after Mrs. Malloy's late husband, Henry E. Malloy, founder of the music department and its head for 23 years until his death in 1937.

HOW IT WORKS — Keith Faulkner, assistant instructor in data processing, explains to Trudy Stevens, Ellinwood freshman, how one of the IBM machines installed this year in Sheridan Coliseum work.

College Installs IBM 'Brains'; Classes On Equipment's Use Available Soon

A new set of "brains" has been installed on the Fort Hays State campus—guaranteed to be 100 per cent accurate.

The "brains" is a set of IBM machines which will be used for a new program in business data processing. Widely used in business and industry, data processing is being adopted by educational institutions across the nation as a speedy and versatile means of solving accounting, registration and research problems.

"The major colleges in Kansas are using data processing equipment," explained Keith Faulkner, instructor in data processing. "The benefits of this equipment are immeasurable."

The equipment, installed in Room 209 of Sheridan Coliseum, includes an Alphameric card punch, Alphameric verifier, a sorter, collater, IBM 403 accounting machine, reproducing punch, interpreter and IBM 1620 computer.

Two programs of study in business data processing are being offered. The electro-mechanical program, with a current enrollment of 10, teaches the student to learn to operate unit record equipment and to operate the machines.

The basic computer machines program, with an enrollment of 16, allows the student to acquire an understanding of the fundamental knowledge of basic computers and to learn beginning program steps.

Computer programming classes will be held for interested faculty members, staff and students during the period Oct. 7 to Oct. 18. Sessions will be at 7 p.m. in Sheridan Coliseum, Room 210, on Monday through Friday. This is a non-credit course designed to acquaint the faculty and staff with the machines and the uses they have.

Some of the jobs to be processed at Fort Hays State with the equipment are calculation of student payroll, budget accounting and various other jobs requested by departments.

"The faculty has already shown an interest in this new equipment," said Faulkner. "Some have come in merely out of curiosity and others have already been making use of the machines for research."

According to Faulkner, students enrolled in business data processing will find great opportunity in the field. "It is a rapidly growing field and there is a definite need for qualified programmers."

At the present time Faulkner is designing cards and forms for the jobs which the machine will process. He will also be doing the actual processing of many of the jobs.

"The whole object of these courses in business data processing is to be able to tell the machine—from a punch card, source document or a control panel—what you want it to do," said Faulkner. "If you tell it right, it will do the job with complete accuracy."

Future Lawyers Should See Slechta

Students interested in attending a law school should check with Don Slechta, assistant professor of political science, in Picken 206.

Every student planning to study in a law school must take an admission test, according to Slechta. "I need to have the total number of students who will take this test so that we can set up a date and place for the exam to be given."

Tobacco Distributors Give $250 Grant to Kisner

Gary Kisner, Great Bend freshman, is the winner of a College-Aid grant of $250 for the 1963-64 school year, given by the National Assn. of Tobacco Distributors.

Grants were awarded sons and daughters of salesmen employed by the tobacco company in a nationwide essay contest. Subject of the essay was "Is it an obligation of good citizenship to participate in political life?"

FHS Faculty To Participate In Conferences

Faculty members from FHS will be leaders and consultants at the annual fall drive-in conferences for grade and high school principals, superintendents and school board members.

"What makes a good school?" will be the discussion topic at the conferences, sponsored by FHS in cooperation with the Kansas Assn. of School Administrators, Secondary School Principals and Elementary School Principals.

Conferences will be held at Holcomb, Monday; Kingman, Tuesday; Colby, Wednesday; La Crosse, Oct. 22, and Beloit, Oct. 24.

Dr. LaVier Staven of the FHS education department is conference chairman.

College consultants and leaders are: M. C. Cunningham, college president; Dr. Richard Burnett, executive assistant to the president; Bill Jellison, dean of men; John Garwood, dean of the faculty; Dr. W. Clement Wood, Dr. Gordon Price, Dr. Raymond Youmans, Dr. Norman Frame, Dr. Orin Gladman and Dr. B. W. Broach, all of the education department, and Dr. Ralph V. Coder, dean of the graduate division.

Discussion topics include the scope of a good school library, the components of a good school building, how to establish better working relationships with school personnel, school board and the community, scope of the school program at various levels, analysis of testing, evaluation, guidance programs and how to select teachers.

Richards Given NSF Grant

FHS has received a National Science Foundation grant of $2,000 to finance research being done by Robert Richards, assistant professor of chemistry.

The research is to establish a procedure for determining the types and quantities of fatty acids in the cerebro-spinal cord.

Richards is one of several chemists throughout the nation working on the project. He started the research last summer at Kansas State University under a similar NSF grant.

60 High Schools Expected For StuCo Leadership Meeting

High school students participating in the second biennial Student Council Leadership Conference Saturday have a full day's schedule planned for them.

"We are expecting around 60 high schools to be represented at the event," said Bill Jellison, dean of men.

Two years ago when the conference was first held, 56 schools were present.

After registration at 9 a.m. in the Memorial Union, the group will receive a welcome from President M. C. Cunningham. Featured speaker will be Herbert Philbrick, former FBI counterspy and author of "I Led Three Lives." Philbrick's address concerns "Communism and Youth."

A study group will discuss Philbrick's speech in the morning session. The students will be able to participate in small groups for this part of the program.

After lunch, two discussion groups will center their talk on student council problems. Again the students will go into several small groups for the discussions.

A total of 35 schools thus far have stated they will attend the conference. They are: Gorham, Holcomb, Sterling, Hazelton, Kensington, Scott City, Bazine, Colby, Oakley, WaKeeney, Tribune, Longford, Logan, Kinsley, Hillsboro, Macksville, Ellis, Copeland, Sylvan Grove, Meade, Phillipsburg, Plainville, Palco, Woodston, Medicine Lodge, Rozel, Jetmore, Ness City, Ransom, Utica, Hoxie, Alden, Hays, Russell and Weskan.

Union Sponsors 'Hootenany' Oct. 14

"We're going to have a hootenanny, hootenanny, and everybody's going to come along."

The Traveling Hootenanny, sponsored by the Memorial Union and featuring the Modern Folk Quartet, Knob Lick Upper 10,000, Lynn Gold and Dr. Louis Gottlieb of the Limelites, will perform at 8 p.m. Oct. 14 in Sheridan Coliseum.

Tickets, all reserved, will be sold at the Memorial Union, Hays Music Co. and Great Bend Music Co. for $1.50 starting this Saturday. Activity tickets will not admit students.

To promote the event, Lynn Rogers, Hoisington senior, and John Peter, Selden junior, members of the Union Program Council, have agreed to bicycle tickets to Great Bend Saturday. They'll leave Hays at 5:30 a.m. and expect to arrive in Great Bend about 4 p.m.

K-State Network To Air FHS Shows

The Kansas Campus Report will be one of the functions performed by the FHS radio department this school year. The series is presented by the Kansas State Tape Network, an 11-station network, and will feature FHS, Kansas State University, Kansas University and Pittsburg State. The programs are designed to feature college musical groups and short interviews with college personnel about outstanding events or services provided by that school to the people of Kansas, according to Jack Heather, director of radio and TV at FHS. Harold Stones, alumni secretary, will discuss approaching FHS Homecoming events for the first program.

Style Manuals Available at Library

Copies of style manuals adopted last spring by the Faculty Senate and the Graduate Council have been placed at the reference desk in Forsyth Library. The books contain the style which undergraduate and graduate students should follow in writing papers for any class. Modifications of these rules have been made by department heads to better serve the needs in their fields. Copies of these changes are in the style books. The book for undergraduates is "Form and Style in Thesis Writing" by William G. Campbell and the book for graduate students is "A Manual of Style," published by the University of Chicago. Both manuals may be purchased at local book stores.

39 from Abroad Studying Here

More international students are studying at Fort Hays State this fall than ever before, with an increase of seven students over last year's enrollment of 32. More than half of the 39 foreign students from 19 countries are majoring in some area of science, reports dean Jean Stouffer, international student adviser. "This is indicative of the shortage of scientists in their countries," said Dean Stouffer. "This is especially true in the newly developing countries."

Newcomers to the campus this year are Martha Aguirre, Uruguay; Turker Apaydin, Turkey; Nasser Chafieian, Massood Hakim, Farhad Hakimian, Fred Hakimian, Behzad Livian, Iran; Tze-Chung Chan, Dar Tzou, Yi Wu, Ching Huey Chan, Formosa; Ahmadulla Donto, Tibet; Rudi Ernst, Renate Hausin, Germany; Thong-in Soon-sawad, Thailand; Soon-Bok Kim, Korea; Theodora Robles, Peru; Haydie Sanabria, Costa Rica, and Kozo Terada, Japan.

Returnees are Carlos Arias, Colombia; Moon-Kwan Chang, Young Lee, Korea; Julie Chu, Stephen Yow, Hong Kong; Luis Contreras, Guatemala; Cyrus Eilian, Farrokh Hakimian, Iran; Evaldo Fernandez, Ricardo Landes, Cuba; Anne Johnson, Indonesia; Dinos Kyriakides, Cyprus; Hisamitsu Nakadomari, Okinawa; H. B. Patel, M. M. Patel, Jugal Shah, Girija Roy, India; Juan Sardon, Peru, and Thomas Soh and Chung-hsun Yu, Formosa.

Strong Backing Needed

While All-Student Council has at times been an important body in determining how issues should be handled, it has seemed to lack the effectiveness one might expect of such a group.

The basis of many councils has stemmed around a hard nucleus of leaders, with the rest sitting back and observing, content with their title, but not really interested in pushing needs of those who voted them into office.

For instance, an absentee list released by ASC last spring revealed that during the 1962-63 college year there were a total of 234 absences among the 30 members during the first 30 meetings. Thus, the average member missed almost eight meetings throughout the span, or more than 25 per cent. Eight members missed 13 or more meetings.

One of the first steps ASC should take this year is action to prevent such poor attendance records of its members.

Another important step would be to improve the way meetings are conducted. Simple use of parliamentary procedure to keep meetings moving could remedy this problem, which has been evident in the past.

It may also be advantageous to distribute a mimeographed agenda of the order of business which could be sent to representatives so they could consider the issues and discuss them beforehand with their electors.

These are only a few suggestions. The Leader would offer in hopes of receiving a stronger governing body at the ASC election Oct. 16. If ASC is to fulfill its responsibility to the students of FHS it must be efficient. In order to be efficient it must have the full cooperation of its members.

It is hoped the forthcoming election will produce such a body, and those students running for office will be prepared to make it so.

English Proficiency Scheduled Oct. 16

The first English proficiency test of the fall semester will be given Oct. 16 at 3 p.m. in Picken Hall, Room 211.

Students who have completed 45 semester hours of college work are eligible to take the test. Students who have made a grade of B or better in English composition I and English composition II are exempt from the exam, but must sign up for the test. Students should sign up in the English office, Picken Hall, Room 312.

If a student fails the exam, he is encouraged to take additional work in English before taking the exam again. However, students are not required to take additional courses.

To help meet demands for required courses at Fort Hays State this fall, 22 part-time instructors have been appointed.

Of these, 17 are teaching in the division of language, literature and speech and one in each of the applied arts, biological sciences, education, social sciences and nurse education divisions.

Part-time instructors work under supervision of division chairmen and advisers, following the same outline of work used by full-time members.

Assisting this year in English composition are Doris Burtcher, Marilyn Coffelt, Brent Collins, Carol Craine, Eleanor Davidson, Marilyn Ebersole, Maurine Jones, Hazel Price, Margaret Roome, Marjorie Sackett, Rose Simmons, Clodell Thomas, Dorothy Turney, Rodney Vliet, Edith Wilkins, Ruth Welk and Grace Witt.

Darlene Blickenstaff is assisting in applied arts; Steve Flood, social and political science; Daniel H. Johnson, biological sciences; Rose King, education, and Mary McNeil, nurse education.

Brewings

R. C. Funk, campus photographer who films FHS football games, may not have enjoyed what he was shooting at Gunnison, Colo., last weekend, but no doubt found the surrounding circumstances—a clear, sunny day and enclosure to work in—more enjoyable than those at Maryville, Mo.

Since R. C. gets paid for leaving his teenage bride on such trips, it isn't unusual to find him curled up in a corner of the car trunk (he says he has to know that his equipment is safe).

But when he uncured at Maryville on Sept. 21, it didn't take him long to decide that this would have been a good trip for one of his colleagues to make.

After noting the unusually heavy dew of six or eight inches, the filming facilities atop a slick press box and his own failure to bring a raincoat, he hurriedly prepared to run for the nearest bus depot. After a short pep talk by other occupants of that mode of transportation known as the state car, he again prepared to run.

Several fast words, lies, unkept promises and right jabs later, R. C. was convinced that the thing to do was to film the contest.

With this in mind he began the long ascent up a slippery, wet, aluminum ladder. He hadn't been up there long when he learned that one bit of carelessness could suddenly lower him about 40 feet.

Several slips, gasps and curses later, he was ready to film. As he stood there, wet, scared and sore, in deep meditation, there entered a ray of promise for better things to come. It appeared in that strange form which only a photographer can appreciate—another photographer.

Yes, another member of that fine troupe who so reliably stick their lenses into other people's business had made the scene (so to utter) and was rightfully determined to share the spacious four feet by four feet "crow's nest."

What could be cosier than a couple of camera bugs grinding away at a football game while emptying the water from their shoes, wringing out socks, climbing back up the ladder and singing "You Are My Sunshine?"

Probably the most enjoyable part of the game for R. C. came when he got a cramp in his leg. This luckily happened during a goal-line stand by the Tigers when the stadium was in a state of motion as Maryville rooters stamped and generally shook the heck out of everything.

But our hero did find some consolation: occasionally the rain got so bad that the spectators couldn't look up at him—and laugh.

One bit of truth should be added to this tribute to our own member of that honorable group of professional suckers—the films turned out pretty good.—Norman Brewer.

Even after he relinquished his roles as a Communist and counter-espionage, following his testimony in the trial of 11 top U. S. Reds in 1949, it was several months before he and his family could settle down without fear of threats from the Communists.

Although no longer a counter-espionage, Philbrick has continued an active battle against the Communist threat in the United States.

Classic, Foreign Film Series Starts Oct. 11

Eight classic and foreign films, sponsored by the Artists and Lectures Committee in cooperation with the division of language, literature and speech, have been scheduled at Fort Hays State this year.

The films will be shown on the second Friday of each month at 7:30 p.m. in Albertson Hall, Room 108. Activity cards will admit students and admission for the public is 50 cents.

"Bridge of San Luis Rey" will be the first of the films; it will be shown Oct. 11. The setting for this movie is Lima, Peru, two centuries ago.

When a bridge collapses and kills five people, a monk who witnesses the tragedy decides to make a study of the lives of the victims, to determine what brought these people together on the bridge at that particular moment.

Other films to be shown are "Dona Perfecta," Nov. 8; "Lavender Hill Mob," Dec. 13; "The Last Bridge," Jan. 10; "Hamlet," Feb. 14; "Red Rain," March 13; "Forbidden Games," April 10, and "Testament of Orpheus," May 8.

Initiation Is Tuesday

The Fort Hays State Home Economics chapter will sponsor a spaghetti supper at 5:30 p.m. Tuesday in the Davis Hall dining room. The supper will be held to entertain new students in the department and initiation of new members will follow the dinner.

Four Art Graduates Displaying Work

Four art majors completed their creative thesis projects required for a master's degree in art education during the summer session.

Part of the thesis may be left for exhibition purposes in Davis Hall while an abstract of the thesis containing photographs and descriptive material is filed in the library.

Dorothy Cornwell, Hays, chose graphics as her thesis theme. The bulk of her work was done in etching with warm, muted colors and will be on display in the lower gallery of Davis Hall for one month.

Ethel Hooper, Garden City, experimented with an enameling process. She fired enamel, a glass-like coating, on free form copper bowls and trays.

Gaylon Flora, Liberal, worked with hand-built ceramic pieces by using variations on a single form stressing variety of ceramic ornamentation.

Jon Hardman, Great Bend, worked on a thesis similar to Flora's. Instead of a single form of ceramics, Hardman worked with the trapped air method of shaping ceramic objects.

AMERICAN HOME LIFE — Two international students at FHS get a taste of American cooking as 18-month-old Robby Goodson inquires into the whereabouts of his food. Already eating are

International Students Get Look Into American Homes

International students at Fort Hays State are being provided a closer look at American home life because of 20 Hays families.

Under a new host family program, each family has "adopted" one or two of the 39 international students to let them know they have American friends who are interested in them as individuals.

A Hays housewife, Mrs. Harold Chogull, is heading the project and says the program will benefit the students, the families and the community.

"In many instances we feel the host family will derive more from getting to know the students than the students themselves," she said.

"But, in any case, we think this opportunity will open the door to a true friendship which the students will take home with them—a friendship which may last for years to come."

Initial contacts between the families and their "adopted" students are being made at dinners in the homes. Visits to civic meetings and local businesses, tours of the area, social events and other activities the family is interested in will be shared with the students.

In most instances, each family is entertaining two students from different countries, one who has previously attended FHS and a newcomer.

There will also be some surprises, as at least one student, Tze-Chung Chan of Hong Kong, has already discovered. Chan was surprised recently with a cake on his birthday by his host family, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Briery.

The Brierys learned of Chan's birthday through a biographical sheet sent to the host families to acquaint them with their guests.

Several other programs also are offered at FHS this year to help students from abroad feel more at home.

English for foreign students, taught by Dr. Reginald C. Rein-dorp is provided for those who have language difficulty; a special section of the college's reading improvement program, directed by Dr. Hulda Groesbeck, has been reserved for the students; Dr. Geneva Herndon is assisting those who have pronunciation problems and Mrs. Nita Landrum is conducting sessions to orient the students to American and college life.

Boor, McKee Attend Welding Demonstration

FHS industrial arts instructors Jerry Boor and Dennis McKee attended a welding demonstration Saturday at Brown Welding Supply in Salina.

The demonstration was shown to teachers and vocational agriculture students.

"Campus Conversation" Is UCF Dialogue Subject

United Christian Fellowship will conduct a dialogue entitled "Campus Conversation" at 7:30 p.m. today in the Smoky Hill Room of the Memorial Union, according to the Rev. Bob Goodson, UCF co-ordinator.

Leading discussion will be E. J. Spomer, assistant professor of economics, who will speak on "What freedoms and responsibilities a student should have," and Rex Gaskill, Hutchinson senior, whose topic will be, "What freedoms and responsibilities the faculty should have."

UCF is a religious organization on campus, composed of seven Protestant denominations.

Business Schools Require Tests for Graduate Study

The admission test for graduate study in business, prepared by the Educational Testing Service and required by several graduate business schools throughout the country, will be given on Nov. 2 and Feb. 1, April 4 and July 11 in 1964.

Candidates must apply for admission to the school of his choice and should inquire of each whether it wishes him to take the test and when.

Registration forms and fees must reach the testing service in Princeton, N. J., at least two weeks before the desired test date.

Kansas University is one of the institutions requiring the test.

WORDS: THEIR CAUSE AND CURE

Today let us take up the subject of etymology (or entomology, as it is sometimes called) which is the study of word origins (or insects, as they are sometimes called).

Where are word origins (insects) to be found? Well sir, sometimes words are proper names which have passed into the language. Take, for instance, the words used in electricity: ampere was named after its discoverer, the Frenchman Andre Marie Ampere (1775-1836); similarly, ohm was named after the German G.S. Ohm (1781-1854), watt after the Scot James Watt (1736-1819), and bulb after the American Fred C. Bulb (1843-1912).

There is, incidentally, quite a poignant little story about Mr. Bulb. Until Bulb's invention, all illumination was provided by gas, which was named after its inventor Milton T. Gas who, strange to tell, had been Bulb's roommate at Cal Tech! In fact, strange to tell, the third man sharing the room with Bulb and Gas was also one whose name burns bright in the annals of illumination—Walter Candle!

The three roommates were inseparable companions in college. After graduation all three did research in the problems of artificial light, which at this time did not exist. All America used to go to bed with the chickens, and many fine citizens were, alas, severely injured falling off the roost.

Well sir, the three comrades—Bulb, Gas, and Candle—promised to be friends forever when they left school, but success, alas, spoiled all that. First Candle invented the candle, got rich, and forgot his old friends. Then Gas invented gas, got rich, bankrupted Candle, and forgot his old friends. Then Bulb invented the bulb, got rich, bankrupted Gas, and forgot his old friends.

Candle and Gas, bitter and impoverished at the ages respectively of 75 and 71, went to sea as respectively the world's oldest and second oldest cabin boy. Bulb, rich and grand, also went to sea, but he went in style—as a first-class passenger on luxury liners.

Well sir, strange to tell, all three were aboard the ill-fated Lusitania when she was sunk in the North Atlantic. And strange to tell, when they were swimming for their lives after the shipwreck, all three clambered aboard the same dinghy!

Well sir, chastened and made wiser by their brush with peril, they fell into each other's arms and wept and exchanged forgiveness and became fast friends all over again.

For three years they drifted in the dinghy, shaking hands and singing the Cal Tech rouser all the while. Then, at long last, they spied a passing liner and were taken aboard.

They remained fast friends for the rest of their days, which, I regret to report, were not many, because the liner which picked them up was the Titanic.

What a pity that Marlboros were not invented during the lifetimes of Bulb, Gas, and Candle. Had there been Marlboros, these three friends never would have grown apart because they would have realized how much, despite their differences, they still had in common. I mean to say that Marlboros can be lit by candle, by gas, and by electricity, and no matter how you light them, you always get a lot to like—a filter, a flavor, a pack or box that makes anyone—including Bulb, Gas, and Candle—settle back and forswear pettiness and smile the sweet smile of friendship on all who pass!

Tigers Prepare for Kearney In Search of First Victory

"Never in 20 years of coaching, have I seen football players respond with such spirit and enthusiasm," said Coach Wayne McConnell as the Tigers prepared to tangle with Kearney (Neb.) State at 7:30 p.m. Saturday in Lewis Field Stadium.

The comment came following Monday's practice. "You could never tell that we had been beaten 42-0," he continued, referring to the defeat by Colorado Western at Gunnison Saturday.

The squad attempted to correct the mistakes made last weekend by viewing a game film, discussing their downfalls, picking the top offensive and defensive teams and matching them in a 45-minute scrimmage. The spirited practice concluded with ten 100-yard dashes.

Probably the most outstanding thing about Kearney State's offense is the phenomenal passing attack of quarterback Dick Butolph. In the first three outings so far this year, Butolph has completed 33 of 46 pass attempts.

Coach Al Zikmund's Antelopes, returning 35 lettermen, have outscored their opponents 105-28 so far this year.

The Antelopes have high hopes of a post-season bowl bid.

Possible changes in the lineup this week may find Jack Johnson at slotback, Mike Matson at quarterback, Bill Ham at offensive end in place of Roger McCabe or Cliff Leiker, and Larry Noffsinger at offensive end replacing Bill Walters or Guy Martin. Ron Schumacher will be replacing Ken Dreiling at tackle and Ken Ruda may start at a linebacker spot.

Saturday Colorado Western wasted no time in scoring, with two touchdowns in the first 5½ minutes of play. The first tally came on an 80-yard pass play from quarterback Jim Novak to end Tom Castell and the second moments later when fullback Jim Mahar boiled over from the nine.

Later in the first quarter, the Mountaineers marched 82 yards in 12 plays with a 32-yard pass play from Stan Hergenrater to Jerry Carpenter, accounting for the TD.

The only TD in the second quarter came on a 40-yard return, after a pass interception by guard Pete Rodriguez.

The Mountaineers continued to score against the Tigers in the second half as Clyde Wilson fought his way through a mass of Tiger defenders for a 90-yard kickoff return for a TD.

Hergenrater again threw for a touchdown, this time a 43-yard heave to Clyde Wilson. The only scoring in the fourth quarter was a safety, with Matson being tackled in the end zone.

The 42-0 shellacking was the largest margin of defeat for the Tigers since Colorado College romped over them 47-0 in the final game of the 1959 season.

Concerning the contest McConnell said, "The team was fighting as hard in the fourth quarter as they were in the first and never did give up or even act like it."

Gridders named by McConnell as being prominent on defense include Kirk Pope, Bob Ridler and Dave Jones, and he also praised the blocking of Ken Palmgren, Larry Dreiling, Clark Engle and Jones.

Charlie Canty and Johnson ran well, although being plagued by fumbles, and Matson did a good job calling signals, commented McConnell.
