Two Musical Groups To Present 'Messiah'

A tradition which began in 1919 will be continued this year with the presentation of Handel's oratorio, "The Messiah," at the annual Christmas Vespers service at 3 p.m. Sunday in Sheridan Coliseum.

It was first presented, under the direction of Henry Edward Malloy, as a part of the first annual Music Festival in 1919. Mr. Malloy, who became head of the Fort Hays Normal School music department in 1914, was the conductor of a community chorus of 620 voices and a 52-piece orchestra for the presentation of "The Messiah" at the festival, entitled "Peace Jubilee."

The festival, the result of five years of preparation, featured guest artists who gave concerts throughout the week. Among these artists were Mme. Margaret Matzenauer, contralto, Toscha Seidel, violinist, and Reed Miller, Marie Sidenius Zandt, Christine Schutz and ustaf Holmquist, soloists for and Gustaf Holmquist, soloists for "The Messiah" has been presented intermittently at Fort Hays State since the performance in 1919. The last presentation of this famous oratorio was given in 1959, under the direction of Dr. Lloyd Herren, chairman of the FHS music department.

"The Messiah," Handel's most successful and best-known oratorio, was composed in 1741. It was first performed at a concert given for charity at Dublin, Ireland, in 1742, with Handel conducting the performance.

Soloists for this year's performance are Don Stout and Mary Maude Moore, music faculty, Mrs. Beverly Dick, Hays, and Dave Ketchum, Rexford junior. They will be accompanied by the Choral Union and the symphonic orchestra. Dr. Herren is the conductor, as-

New Honors Program Meets With Approval

By Martha Roberts
Leader Editorial Assistant
Fort Hays State's new Honors Program, begun this fall, is considered by its participating faculty and students to be a successful and worthwhile program.

"I feel that this program has been a magnificent attempt, but it is far too new to assess its entire success," said Don Slecta, instructor of Seminar 103, The American Character.

In honors courses students meet the challenge of conflicting opinions and interpretations from fellow students of their own intellectual caliber. "This program offers the student the opportunity to have an exchange of viewpoints about subjects which otherwise wouldn't be regular classes," explained Bill Jellison, instructor of Colloquium 30, (Utopias.)

"In these courses we are given the chance for development," said Sue Dolezal, Hays sophomore. "We learn to formulate ideas rather than merely learn from a book and memorize other people's ideas and opinions."

"The students are not only learning to use their own initiative, but are learning to establish repore among themselves," explained Alice McFarland, instructor of Colloquium 30, Utopias.

The honors curriculum is divided into a lower division of four honor colloquia with three hours of credit for each, which is offered to freshmen and sophomores.

Juniors and seniors may enter the upper division. Three honors seminars and one independent project, all with three hours of credit, are offered the upperclassmen.

Many of the students interviewed said that they do not spend more time for the three hours of the honor course than on regular three-hour classes. Others, however, feel that much more time is required.

Mrs. McFarland reported that members of her class read more than 2,000 pages of outside material during the first nine weeks.

ASC Denies Democrats, Okays UCF

All-Student Council continued to appropriate funds by allotting $150 to the United Christian Fellowship. However, a request for aid from the Collegiate Young Democrats was denied.

The assistance to UCF will go in the form of six scholarships, two of which will go to foreign students, to help fray expenses for representatives to 19th Ecumenical Student Conference of the Christian World Mission in Athens, Ohio, Dec. 27 through Jan. 2.

The request for funds for Young Democrats came from Tom Smith, associated students vice-president, who said that the money would also be used for a conference. He requested $100 to help send two representatives of the FHS chapter to the National Young Democrats convention in Las Vegas.

ASC also passed a motion to the effect that the council will not appropriate more money to campus organizations until a budget for the fall semester has been established. From the budget of $1,000 for this semester $575 has been given four groups during the last three meetings.

In other action taken by ASC, several minor changes were made in the bill governing Homecoming Queen requirements and procedures. Of consequence was the addition of a requirement stating that candidates must attend FHS at least one year before being eligible for Homecoming candidate.

Several delegates of ASC will attend the Conference of Kansas Students at the University of Kansas, Lawrence, Friday.

IFC Will Oppose Wheelchair Cagers Saturday Night

A basketball team composed of members of the Interfraternity Council will be mounted in wheelchairs to oppose a wheelchair basketball game from Kansas City in an unusual game to be played on the court of St. Joseph's Military Academy at 7:30 p.m. Saturday.

Sigma Sigma Sigma sorority and Sigma Phi Epsilon fraternity will sponsor a regular four-quarter game between the Kansas City Rolling Pioneers and a wheelchair squad from Denver. Proceeds from the game will go to the Ellis County Heart Assn. which will use the money for research and educational equipment on campus.

One Kansas City team member, Don Miller, attended Fort Hays State in 1958. While here, he was injured and rehabilitated at Hadley Rehabilitation Center in Hays. He is now a star member of the ball team.

Tickets for the game can be purchased for $1 from Sigma Sigma Sigma and Sigma Phi Epsilon members.

Persons living in the halls are contributing one candle each and the candles will be set in paper sacks filled with sand.

"Lavendar Hill Mob," the third in the series of classic and foreign films, will be shown at 7:30 p.m. Friday in Albertson Hall, Room 108.

Effective Sets, Realism Enhance Production of 'Inherit the Wind'

Editor's Note — The following review was made by Jim Uht for the play "Inherit the Wind," presented last Thursday and Friday under the direction of Harriet Ketchum, associate professor of speech.

The Old Testament Scripture from Proverbs (XI:29) "He that troubleth his own house shall inherit the wind: and the fool shall be servant to the wise of heart," provides the source of the title for the current production of the Picken Players.

In the drama that playwrights Jerome Lawrence and Robert Lee insist is not history, but is reminiscent of the fabled "Scopes monkey trial" of the mid 1920's, prosecutor Matthew Harrison Brady, ably portrayed by Kenn Pittman, admonishes the "good reverend" with this bit of scripture when FHS actor and set designer Richard Boss discredits his own daughter for her sympathy for the accused.

Plaudits to director Harriet Ketchum and her student assistants, Jean Bardot and Gary Lamb, for excellent casting throughout the long list of participants. Large enough to be unwieldy to the less skillful, the cast did a good job of realistically portraying the characters they represent.

The play tells the story of a Tennessee town rent asunder by a high school teacher who introduces the Darwinian theory of evolution to his pupils, his indictment for the crime and the resulting confusion of the trial which stars two eminent lawyers of the day. The scorching heat of mid-summer add to the passions and emotions of the townspeople.

One at first sees the town dead-set against the teacher who later gains limited support from former accusers because of the intensity of the attorneys who, several times during the trial, scream like wounded men at various rulings of the court. The teacher, Bertram Cates, is the "cause of it all," and Merlyn Reichel does a convincing job of depicting what turns out to be a minor role of a confused young man. When the trial assumes greater-than-anticipated proportions, he is torn between standing for his principles in teaching what he thinks is right, and confessing that he did wrong to put an end to the whole sordid mess.

The climax of the drama is the confrontation in the court room of the two celebrated attorneys and the subsequent death of the prosecutor just after the trial ends. Richard Wolf acts the role of agnostic, vitriolic attorney for the defense, Henry Drummond. After the jury has found his client guilty, his reasoning that he has "Won even though he has lost" is touching, if not to say poignant. The defense attorney eulogizes his adversary who succumbs in a heat of passion brought on by the judge's disposition of the case by a $100 fine for the defendant.

An early, brief appearance of a barker selling Bibles, and Kent Noland's portrayal of Mr. Sillers "who just works down at the feed store," provide comic relief to the otherwise tense evening. James Brumitt lends real strength to the important role of E. K. Hornbeck, a militant journalist and self-proclaimed critic, who at once takes the side of the accused and his attorney, and in the end, vilifies that attorney for being more religious than his opponent.

The small audience feels the frustrations ever present in the person of Rachel Brown, portrayed by Susan Brown. She loves the school teacher, but her stern religious upbringing by her widowed father, the Rev. Jeremiah Brown, adds to her frustrations.

The simple, but effective, set alternated between the courthouse lawn and the courtroom. As in many FHS productions, Richard Boss displays his ingenuity in the execution of his designs.

Stark realism is embodied in the skill of the actors, directors, set designer and playwrights and provided an enjoyable evening worthy of consideration.

Furlough to Offer Varied Activities

Students who participate in the Fort Hays Furlough in May will have many activities to choose from.

Kent Collier, Exec. Secretary of the Endowment Assn., announced that students who would like to participate or work on committees should notify him. Activities for the Furlough include: wheelbarrow race, egg joust, greased pig contest, raft race, entertainment, scooter race, dance contest, golf tournament, football game, bike race, and variety show.

The FH Furlough is a money-making weekend for work scholarships. Patterned after "The Little 500" at Indiana University, this project will be the first of its kind on the Fort Hays State campus.

"Because something new takes much planning and preparation, we are asking for volunteers now. The project will be student-planned as much as possible so we encourage students interested in helping to contact me," said Collier.

New Honors Program...

In addition to outside reading, students are required to do several papers.

Mrs. McFarland's class is required to plan a utopia for their final project. Government, marriage laws and general organization among other things of the utopia is to be discussed.

"From their research about utopias and their preparation for designing a utopia of their own, most of my students feel that the United States is quite adequate and living in a utopia would not be desirable," said Mrs. McFarland.

Instructors teaching honors courses are finding their challenge as great as the students. "It is often hard to keep ahead of the students," said Mrs. McFarland. "I spend much of my time reading to prepare for the class."

"I think it is more challenging to the teacher," said Slecta. "Our classes cover a vast area and require the teacher to know much about it in order to teach the students — and do a good job."

Students who take the entire honors curriculum are excused from general education requirements, except health and physical education, however, if an honor student shows a deficiency in some area of study in the general education program or if he needs a general education course in his major field, he is required to take courses.

major field, he is required to take courses.

If a student enters the program after the first semester of the freshman year, he will be excused from the general education courses he has not taken. Any student who wishes to drop out of the Honors Program will be given credit for general education courses according to a schedule of substitution set up by the Honors Board.

Admission to the program is by invitation. Freshmen who rank in the 91st percentile or higher on the ACT tests are invited to join the program. Sophomores, juniors and seniors on campus must have a minimum grade point of 2.5, a faculty recommendation and approval of the Honors Board.

While some students suggested improvements, most of which will come with time, most students plan to continue in the program. "I feel that this system is the best for general learning and I plan to continue if I have the grade-point to do so," said Tim Powers, Liberal freshman.

Opportunity Knocks

Most students are of the opinion that giving responsibility to students is a good thing. But when opportunity knocks at the door, it is often unheeded or shied away from.

This was exemplified when the Constitutional amendment proposal was voted on recently. Of a student body of 3,850, only 220 voted on the measure.

During the course of this decade, FHS students have made progress toward obtaining a voice in the administrative policies that govern them.

Examples of this cited by Dean of Men Bill Jellison are student participation on the traffic tribunal, in student-faculty committees, student court, the legal board and giving student council an office in an academic building, although there is a shortage of space.

"It is hard to defend the point of view that students are really concerned about student right, responsibility and interest in light of an election in which less than 10 per cent of the student body voted," said Jellison.

"This does not mean that those who participate in student government are not interested or have unsound ideas," Jellison continues. "But in terms of pushing through reforms, etc., the ideas of small numbers do not carry as much weight as those of a large group would."

In order for student ideas to "carry as much weight" as possible, we must appear interested in the responsibilities we are slowly, but surely, gaining and take advantage of opportunities offered us.

Letter to the Editor

Dear Sir:

Our Constitution lists certain unalienable rights. I believe that one of these is the unalienable right to try to win a basketball game.

Dec. 3, tiny, undermanned Kansas Wesleyan University's basketball team journeyed to Hays to play FHS a basketball game. They probably did not relish the prospect. Yet that game was on their schedule, and play it they would.

It is generally held in our society that the object of any athletic contest is (1) to win, (2) to play by the rules, and (3) be a good sport whether you win or lose.

In accordance with these beliefs, KWU came to Hays and played the game. And they played it well. No one can deny that they tried to win. No one will deny that they did the only thing they could do in order to win. Indeed their only hope of victory was to play a control game. Yet there are those who would expect them to forego their only hope.

Who will say that they did not play according to the rules? There is no rule in college basketball against the type of game they played. They also seemed to be good sports, for they knew how popular that type game is, and they were playing in hostile surroundings. It is very conceivable that they don't like that type of game. But there is no use in playing the game if you aren't going to do your best to win.

The series has not been renewed. It is well and good for both schools. The Tigers can gain little prestige flogging a foe of Kansas Wesleyan's caliber, and the Coyotes may not have to play control ball against Tabor. Kansas Wesleyan is outclassed and they knew it. It speaks well for them that they realized this and yet refused to play "dead" for the Tigers. They still did all they could within the rules to win. For this they cannot be blamed.

Sincerely
Ralph F. Voss
Plainville junior

Brewings

Fort Hays State's encounter with Kansas Wesleyan University, Salina, has been the topic of several newspaper stories throughout the state since that game was played Dec. 3.

There are several points which I wish to correct:

1. There have been several implications that the Coyotes outplayed FHS. They had better field and free throw percentages and were credited with the same number of assists (passes which lead to a score from the field).

However, FHS cagers outbounded KWU, 22-15. They did not have a violation (double-dribble, steps, etc.) while the Coyotes had seven. The Tigers lost possession three times while gaining 11 and KWU threw the ball away 13 times while gaining only twice.

This would indicate to me that we defeated Kansas Wesleyan at their own game.

2. It has also been said that the Coyotes played the same brand of ball at the start of the second half as they did in the first half. When a team does not shoot during the first 9:38 of a period, one would tend to think otherwise.

However, this is not to say that they did not have the desire to win, which they displayed during the opening half when effective ball control was demonstrated.

I also point out a ruling which states that the team behind is required to challenge the opponent when said opponent stalls, as FHS threatened to do early in the second half. The Coyotes were warned that they were on the brink of such a violation.

3. Bengal fans have received criticism for their conduct. I saw nothing unsportsmanlike or disrespectful and would contend that when the home fans lose the desire to support their team wholeheartedly, athletics is reaching an all-time low. Basketball fans at FHS are in no danger of reaching this low ebb, but this does not make them disrespectful.

4. It was also implied that the series between the two schools was severed because of this contest. In reality, the contract was severed the moment the contest concluded. KWU was then in the same position as most of Fort Hays State's other non-conference opponents—a new contract would have had to be negotiated for the 1964-65 season.

5. The biggest criticism I would offer is the manner in which this situation was handled by several newspapers. Most reports were slanted, prejudiced, incomplete and blown out of proportion.

Controversial issues make excellent copy and should not be shied away from. However, there appears to be a difference between reporting an issue and creating and molding one. — Norman Brewer

Letter to the Editor

Dear Editor:

Considerable concern was voiced throughout this nation about the "do nothing" congress of 1958. With the appearance of similar tendencies within the present Congress, the citizens are once again expressing concern. Fortunately the student at FHS need not feel similar concern about the legislative branch of his government. Rather than a "Do Nothing" Student Council, we seem to have one whose motto is "Do Something," even if it is wrong! The manifestation of this motto is seen in the totally irresponsible action of the council in its allocation of funds.

The All-Student Council of FHS has $1,000 that it may spend each semester. It is, I think, a very basic assumption that this money should be spent in a manner that will benefit all the students as well as the college. Surely this is not such a difficult task. Yet, when the council begins to dole out money without a budget, without sufficient investigation, and without regard to benefits to the students and college as a whole, then irresponsible is the only way to describe its actions.

Item: The ASC is, in fact, operating without a budget. No government, certainly no business, and no individual who retains his economic sanity would attempt to operate without some kind of an economic plan. ASC, however, seems to be above such considerations, only this week did they decide to consider a budget.

Item: People-to-People petitioned the council for funds. At the time of its request it was brought out that last year when P-t-P received funds, it was on the condition that it would not request further funds. Some uncertainty of this fact was felt. However, no investigation was made.

Item: IFC requested money to send two representatives to New York for a national convention. This certainly would not benefit the entire student body. The justification was that by attending the conference FHS would gain prestige. Yet, the Young Democrats who are much more active on a state and national basis and would, therefore, bring as much if not more prestige to the campus were denied a similar request.

Item: Alpha Psi Omega petitioned ASC for money to buy blazers. While APO provides a valuable service to the campus such as ushering at programs, it is doubtful that the wearing of new blazers would increase the value of that service. Seventh Cavalry, a very fine honorary and service organization, provides many similar valuable services for the campus. Seventh Cavalry has special blazers which the organization itself paid for. If APO is to be rewarded for its services, why should not Seventh Cavalry, be reimbursed for its zers? For that matter why not WLO, K-Club, or the Union Board?

The money that ASC is so blithely doling out to minority groups, for frivolous purchases, and in a discriminatory manner is your money. I assume it should be spent to benefit you and should be spent in an equitable manner. Therefore, if you would like to see this irresponsibility stopped, talk to your representative. Or, if you would like your group to have new blazers, come to the next ASC meeting (5:30 p.m. Tuesday, Rarick Hall, Room 301). Or if you don't care, maybe ASC should buy itself new blazers. I could use a new coat.

Michael W. Butler,
Graduate Representative.

Guidebook for Students Goes to Printer Friday

John Garwood, dean of the faculty, and Robert J. Spangler, director of news and publications, will travel to Topeka Friday with the copy and layout for the new student guidebook, which is expected to be available by March.

Similar in format to the publication now in use, the book is primarily for prospective freshmen.

"We have tried to make this guidebook more informal and one which will give freshmen the essential information they need," said Garwood.

The cover for the publication will follow the pattern of the 1963-65 general catalog at FHS.

Over $30,000 in Scholarships Aiding 226 Students This Year

Editor's Note—This is the last in a series on student aid written by Sharon Kleweno, Leader Staff Writer.

Scholarships and awards are helping 226 students through 1963-64 school year.

These are offered in three areas, general scholarships for freshmen in the upper 20 per cent of their high school graduating class and awards for proficiency in the field of music and athletics.

All of these scholarships, 132 of them, pay fees for either one or two semesters. Some scholarships are limited to majors in certain fields.

To be eligible for a scholarship, the Student Aids office must have a high school transcript, a recent photo and ACT test scores on file by April 1.

General scholarships are, for the most part, given to freshmen. This year 84 freshmen and 53 upper classmen share $30,324 in scholarship funds.

Twenty of these scholarships were donated by campus organizations. Those who donated more than one scholarship are: Agnew Hall two, Custer Hall three, Faculty Assn. six, McGrath Hall four. Others who contributed a scholarship are: Eta Rho Epsilon, phys. ed. sorority, Home Ec. Club and Gamma Omicron Phi; Phi Kappa Phi, scholastic honorary; Wooster Place and one anonymous donor.

Hays merchants contributed 26 scholarships and out of town donors contributed 89 scholarships.

Hadley Hospital awards six scholarships to students who, after completing one year of college, show promise in the field of nursing. If for any reason the student drops nursing, the scholarship becomes a loan.

This year FHS has given 79 athletic awards totaling $13,239. These awards are made for proficiency in any of the three major sports — football, basketball or track. Applications may be made directly to Wayne McConnell, football coach; Cade Suran, basketball coach; or Alex Francis, track coach.

Eighteen music awards have been made for efficiency in either voice, piano or other musical instruments. A special music application as well as the general scholarship application should be mailed to Miss Lucille Felten of the music faculty.

Miss Ethyl Artman of the Student Aids Office said that loans are necessary in addition to scholarships to pay all of the expenses for a year. Applications for scholarships far outnumber those who receive them.

VISITING DIGNITARIES—President M. C. Cunningham visits with Wichita Eagle reporter W. Lynne Holt (center) and Max Bickford, secretary of the Board of Regents, who accompanied members of the state House and Senate when they toured the campus Friday. The legislators visited numerous state agencies prior to the 1964 legislative budget session.

Material for Papers, Speeches Abundant in Forsyth Library

More than 300,000 books, pamphlets, periodicals and maps fill the shelves in the Documents Department of Forsyth Library. These publications of the United States, state, local, and foreign governments and of the United Nations provide an important source of material for reports, term papers and speeches.

Much of this material is prepared with the intention of informing the general public and is not for specialists only. Students in all subject areas will find material which is written in an interesting style with a minimum of technical terminology.

Reports on achievements and progress in scientific research and exploration are available to science students in the publications of the Atomic Energy Commission, National Aeronautics and Space Agency and other agencies. The student majoring in business and economics and the businessman in the field are served through the work and publications of the Department of Commerce and the Small Business Administration.

If a student's academic program is planned for teacher preparation, to enter government service, to be a sociologist, a political scientist, an historian or home economist, or to enter any other career open to you, he will find the contents of government publications interesting, informative and an important source of facts and figures.

Among the publications recently received are: U. S. Government Organization Manual; The Statistical Abstract (Uncle Sam's answer book); Reactor Physics; Fine Arts in the Soviet Union; Administered Prices; Effects of Light on Plants; What a Consumer Should Know About Food Standards; Adult Physical Fitness, Program for Men and Women; A Place to Live, the Yearbook of Agriculture, 1963.

Annual Banquet Honors Kappa Omicron Phi

The Annual Founders Day Banquet will be held in honor of Kappa Omicron Phi, honorary home economics fraternity, this Saturday in the Trails Room of the Memorial Union.

A candle lighting service will begin at 5:30 p.m. and will be followed by the banquet. After dinner the mothers of the new members will participate in a Mother Patroness Service.

Kappa Omicron Phi has 16 active members and three faculty members. Marlene Thaeta, Sylvan Grove senior, is president of the fraternity. Basketball Assembly

'TIS THE SEASON TO BE JOLLY

If you have been reading this column—and I hope you have; I mean I genuinely hope so; I mean it does not profit me one penny whether you read this column or not; I mean I am paid every week by the makers of Marlboro Cigarettes and my emolument is not affected in any way by the number of people who read or fail to read this column—an act of generosity perfectly characteristic of the makers of Marlboro, you would say if you knew them as I do; I mean here are tobaccoists gray at the temples and full of honors who approach their art as eagerly, as dewy-eyed as the youngest of practitioners; I mean the purpose of the Marlboro makers is simply to put the best of all possible filters behind the best of all possible tobaccos and then go, heads high, into the market place with their wares, confident that the inborn sense of right and wrong, of good and bad, of worthy and unworthy, which is the natural instinct of every American, will result in a modest return to themselves for their long hours and dedicated labors—not, let me hasten to add, that money is of first importance to the makers of Marlboro; all these simple men require is plain, wholesome food, plenty of Marlboros, and the knowledge that they have scattered a bit of sunshine into the lives of smokers everywhere; if, I say, you have been reading this column, you may remember that last week we started to discuss Christmas gifts.

Do you know someone who is interested in American history?

We agreed, of course, to give cartons of Marlboro to all our friends and also to as many total strangers as possible. Today let us look into some other welcome gifts.

Do you know someone who is interested in American history? If so, he will surely appreciate a statuette of Millard Fillmore with a clock in the stomach. (Mr. Fillmore, incidentally, was the only American president with a clock in the stomach. James K. Polk had a stem-winder in his head, and William Henry Harrison chimed the quarter-hour, but only Mr. Fillmore, of all our chief executives, had a clock in the stomach. Franklin Pierce had a sweep second hand and Zachary Taylor had seventeen jewels, but, I repeat, Mr. Fillmore and Mr. Fillmore alone had a clock in the stomach. Some say that Mr. Fillmore was also the first president with power steering, but most historians assign this distinction to Chester A. Arthur. However, it has been established beyond doubt that Mr. Fillmore was the first president with a thermostat. Small wonder they called him Old Hickory!)

But I digress. To get back to welcome and unusual Christmas gifts, here's one that's sure to please—a gift certificate from the American Chiropractic Society. Accompanying each certificate is this winsome little poem:

Merry Christmas, Happy New Year,
Joyous sacro-iliac!
May your spine forever shine,
Blessings on your aching back.
May your lumbar ne'er grow number,
May your backbone ne'er dislodge,
May your caudal never dangle,
Joyeux Noel! Heurweiz massage!

The makers of Marlboro, who take pleasure in bringing you this column throughout the school year, would like to join with Old Max in extending greetings of the season.

FHS Grapplers Open Season At Great Plains AAU Meet

FHS wrestlers tune up for their first dual meet of the season by participating in the Great Plains AAU College Open Invitational Meet at Lincoln, Neb., Friday and Saturday.

The Tigers meet Adams State, Alamosa, Colo., in a dual match at 7:30 p.m. in Sheridan Coliseum Monday.

Thirteen grapplers leave tonight for the tourney, which is sponsored by the Midwest Amateur Athletic Union.

147 pounds; Vic Lyczak, Northbrook, Ill., junior, 157 pounds; Delbert Erickson, Atwood senior, and Dennis Bangert, Russell freshman, 167 pounds; Jim Tinkler, Russell senior, 177 pounds; and Martin Landwehr, Wichita freshman, heavyweight.

Members of the squad will compete as individuals, with trophies going to the first four places in each weight division. Other awards at the tourney are fastest fall, most falls, sportsmanship and outstanding wrestler.

The tourney will be in Pershing Municipal Auditorium with two sessions Friday and two Saturday.

Grapplers finishing first or second will qualify for the national AAU tournament to be held next year.

In the tourney last year Tinkler placed third in the 177-pound division.

The FHS grapplers are now in the process of challenging matches for weight positions for the Adam State dual meet.

The Indians defeated the Bengals 8-2 to register one of the two defeats handed them last season. Kansas State University was the other team.

Frank Powell, Adams State coach, feels the Tribe is definitely strong in the lightweights and middleweights, but is concerned about the heavyweight situation.

FHS coach Dave Winter commented earlier this season that his team will have to rely heavily on the newcomers in the lighter weights.

Bengal Gymnasts Turn Back KSU, NE Oklahoma

The gymnastics team, coached by Edgar McNeil, seek their second victory at the Colorado Invitational in Boulder Saturday.

The Tigers won their last opener last Thursday, beating both Kansas State University and Northwestern Oklahoma in a double dual by identical scores, 87-25.

"I was concerned because this was the earliest open meet we have ever scheduled," said McNeil, "but as a whole the team performed very well and I was quite pleased." The 87 points scored by the Tigers neared the possible total of 91.

Jim Mull, Kansas City, Kans., sophomore, and Johnny Appleton, Wichita sophomore, both won two events.

Joe Johnson, Preston senior; Gary Cooper, Alton, Ill., junior; and David Blackwell, Larned junior, all took single honors as the Bengals won all seven events.

Mull was high point man for FHS with 44 points.

NEW CHEVELLE!

BY CHEVROLET

The kind of go—6 or V8—you'd expect from one of Chevy's great highway performers. Come on down and drive it.

The kind of comfort you'd expect in a large interior. Come on down and sit in it.

The kind of fresh styling—inside and out—that makes it the year's smartest surprise. Come down and stare at it.

New Chevelle Malibu Sport Coupe

Now—Chevy spirit in a new kind of car!

We built this one to do more than just stand around looking beautiful. Held its weight down in the 3,000-pound range. Then built four lusty engines—two sixes and two V8's—with output all the way up to 220 horses*!

And if that makes you think this is one frisky car, you've got the right idea.

You've also got a roomy car here. Yet its 115-inch wheelbase keeps it highly maneuverable in traffic and very easy to park.

With its Full Coil suspension, it's got a ride that reminds you of the Jet-smooth kind the way it muffles noise and cushions bumps.

And the fine hand of Body by Fisher craftsmen shows up beneath this one's suave good looks, too.

Sound good? There's more. Like the fact that Chevelle comes in three series with eleven models—convertibles, sport coupes, sedans, wagons, even Super Sport models with front bucket seats. Like the fact that (and see if this isn't one of the nicest surprises of all) the new Chevelle comes at an easy-to-take price!

Like to hear more? The listening's wonderful at your Chevrolet dealer's—and so's the driving.

See five entirely different kinds of cars at your Chevrolet Showroom—CHEVROLET, CHEVELLE, CHEVY II, CORVAIR & CORMETTE

FHS Stretches Season's Skein To Five Wins

Fort Hays State roundballers ran their season record to five victories and no defeats Tuesday night at Sheridan Coliseum with a 106-73 victory over an outclassed Kearney State squad.

The Antelopes contended for the lead for the first 2:30 of play, but then Tom Ashelman dropped in two quick buckets and the Tiger lead steadily grew.

Leading the Tiger scoring attack was Sam McDowell with 27 points, followed by Ashelman with 20, Dick Schur with 13, and Al Casey with 11.

Leading scorer for the Antelopes was Jim Walters with 14 points supported by Larry Martin and Mark Cordes with 12 each.

Fort Hays State, battling numerous costly errors, fought back from an 11-point deficit in the first half to overcome Hastings (Neb.) College, 95-72, Saturday night at Sheridan Coliseum.

Bill Royer, reserve Tiger forward, led the Tigers' winning surge with 10 points in the first 5:05 of the second half as FHS advanced from a skinny, 40-37, halftime advantage to a 58-43 lead.

Hastings, a tall, hard-running outfit, gave the Bengals continuous trouble, but the Suran fivesome poured in a sizzling 56 per cent of their field shots and 90 per cent of the free throws during the second period to clinch the win.

Leading scorer for the Tigers was Sam McDowell with 31 points, followed by Royer with 26, Dick Schur with 10 and Tom Ashleman with eight.

Ron Priebe, leading scorer for the Broncs last year, took scoring honors for the visitors with 16 points; Walt Hamlett and Bennie Crawford added 15 each, and guard Mel Harris contributed 12.

Hamlett had an excellent night on the boards, pulling down 20 caroms.

Time and Effort is Key To Successful IM Program

By Eldon Palmberg
Leader Sports Writer

Alex Francis, IM director, and 28 FHS students contribute time and effort to make the world of men's intramurals go around.

Francis is assisted by Larry Pickering, WaKeeney sophomore, and Don Lakin, Pawnee Rock sophomore. Working under Francis, Pickering and Lakin are 23 students enrolled in Supervising and Officiating of Intramurals, a class taught and created by Francis.

Also in cooperation with them are three organization men that make up the governing body of intramurals. Their job is to settle all disputes and add or omit rules as they see fit. Don Herron, Kinsley junior is president; Joe Krasinski, Hamden, Conn., junior is vice-president, and Roger Newlin, Liberal, senior is secretary-treasurer.

The endless efforts have apparently been of some gain. In 1960 around 1100 men competed in IM competition. This year an estimated 1400 will compete in the program. About 60 per cent of the men at FHS take an active part in intramurals.

Last year 22 teams competed in football, 36 in basketball, and 19 in softball.

The competition is divided into an organization league and several independent leagues. The school champion in each particular sport is determined by matching the organization and independent league winners in a single-elimination play-off.

Each fraternity may appoint three men to compete for the coveted "K" award, given to the person helping his team the most during the year. The person gets an allotted number of points for the position his team finishes.

Tigers Open CIC Play Against Washburn U.

Bengal cagers, with five victories under their belt, open CIC play Saturday night at Topeka against the Washburn University Ichabods.

Washburn, with three victories and one loss to date, will be sparked by 6-6 center Greg Gibb, 6-2 guard Kenny Hendrix, 6-6 forward Jerry Williams, and 6-3 guard Gordon Hibbard.

Gibb, a two-year letterman, sports a hook shot and can be expected to carry a large part of the scoring load.

Hendrix is a transfer from Coffeyville Junior College and played on the Coffeyville Juco national championship team in 1962.

Jerry Williams, leading scorer from last year with 13.5, and Hibbard, a Dodge City Juco transfer, are also expected to see considerable action.

The Tigers thus far this season have been led by Sam McDowell with a 24-point per game average for four games, followed by Tom Ashleman with a 13.0 average, Dick Schur with 12.9 and Gordon Stout with 9.3.

Ashleman leads in rebounding with 53 snares for a 13.25 average, ahead of Jude Gertsner with 31 caroms for 7.75.

Schur leads the Tigers from the field, 22 of 40 attempts for 55 per cent, and from the free throw line, hitting 7 of 8 for 87.5 per cent.

The Tigers have averaged 44.5 per cent of their field shots and 74.8 per cent of the charity tosses while averaging 84.75 points per game for four contests to 73.5 for their opponents.

The FHS junior varsity squad plays Friday night at McPherson Central College and at Bethany College Tuesday night.

Jayvees Defeat Industrial Team

The Tiger junior varsity basketball squad won its second straight game of the season Friday night, beating the Gilmer Oilers of Manhattan, 81-80, at Sheridan Coliseum.

Paul Graber, former Hays High cager, brought the victory home for the young Bengals with a pair of free throws with 57 seconds remaining.

FHS trailed as much as 13 points in the first half, but bounced back to trail 48-46, at intermission.

Jim Tieszen, 5-8 freshman guard, led the FHS attack with 18 points and also played a good floor game. Graber finished with 17, Jerry Maska 15, and a top defensive showing, and Rod Heitschmidt 14.

The Oilers, a Topeka Industrial League team, were led by Don Dawes with 20 points and Gary Garret, ex-Colby star with 16.

The double header junior varsity basketball game scheduled at Brewster Wednesday was postponed because of bad weather. It will be rescheduled for sometime in February.
