EASTER LASS — March Leader Lass Karen Cain can't wait to get her hands on the Easter Bunny, or so it seems. Karen, a speech correction major, was selected from nominations received from Custer Hall. Debaters Finish 3-5 In Harvard Eliminations, Miss Requirement

Fort Hays State's debate team just missed entry in the national championship debate tourney at West Point when Richard Scott and Steve Tramel were downed at the district elimination meet early this week at Ames, Ia.

Scott and Tramel won three and lost five rounds, but qualification for the big meet demanded at least five victories in the seven-state district tourney which included 16 selected teams.

"I'm very pleased with the boys," said Jim Costigan, debate coach. "Considering that Tramel is a freshman and Scott a sophomore, trict meet for four consecutive years but has not passed the hurdle to West Point since 1961.

At the tourney just concluded, Scott and Tramel defeated Emporia State Teachers College, Wisconsin State College of Eau Claire and KU. They lost to Pittsburg State, Rockhurst, University of Missouri at Kansas City and the Air Force Academy.

they've done remarkably well this season and should be in good shape for next year."

"Remarkably well" includes winning the unofficial state championship and 71 per cent of all debates prior to this week's meet.

Dean Answers ASC Queries

"Sometimes professors get so bound up in the daily routine of teaching and administering they forget about communicating with the students," Dr. John Garwood, dean of the faculty, told All-Student Council Tuesday night.

With the idea of communication in mind, Dean Garwood answered questions posed by members of the Council.

When questioned about the class schedule change which will go into effect next fall, Dean Garwood said the increase to 7:30 a.m. and 5:30 p.m. hours was for several reasons.

"More students are anticipated," he said, "therefore, we need more classrooms. Also, we feel that by splitting the noon hour, it will be used more."

Referring to Saturday classes, Garwood said that regular Saturday classes will be used only as a "last resort."

Larry Roberts, WaKeeney sophomore, questioned the Dean on the possibility of having two six-week summer sessions instead of the single 10-week term now used.

Garwood said the possibility of

Fag Sale Ban to Cost Union $500 Monthly, Figures Show

(See Editorial, Page Two)

By Norman Brewer
Leader Editor

Banning cigarette sales on state-operated colleges and universities will cost the FHS Memorial Union nearly $500 a month during the regular school year, based on figures supplied by Midwest Tobacco and Candy Co.

A representative of Midwest said Tuesday that during January they delivered 633 cartons of cigarettes to the Union. In February 669 cartons were delivered and through March 19 deliveries totaled 461.

The price per carton to the Union is $2.25 for king size and filter cigarettes and $2.22 for regular packs, according to Midwest. The Union sells all brands for 30 cents a pack, nearly an eight cent profit. Profit on this volume would be approximately $475 for January and $500 for February.

On Monday, Jerry Ruttman, Union director, had no comment concerning the amount of revenue which would be lost.

However, he did say it would not help the Union financial situation and there is nothing to do but accept it.

The Union will provide more candy, cigars, pipes and pipe tobacco, according to Ruttman.

Concerning the possibility of having to reduce the Union staff, Ruttman said a month trial period beginning April 15 will determine this.

The ban by the Board of Regents will go into effect April 15.

Walter E. Keating, comptroller, said no figures were available because no separate records were kept.

Keating said he expects the loss of revenue to be absorbed in other Union sales and that the only inconvenience would be to the students.

Spring Vacation Starts Friday

Spring Vacation begins Friday at 5 p.m. and ends when classes resume at 8 a.m. April 6.

Friday also closes the nine-week period. Grades will be turned in to the registrar's office Thursday afternoon, will be processed by the IBM machine and available at adviser's offices after vacation.

When classes resume there will be 33 days of classes until final exams May 21, 22, 25 and 26.

The Memorial Union will open April 3 for the district music festival and be open at regular hours the rest of the weekend.

Leader Receives 2nd Class Rating

The Leader received a second class rating for the fall semester from the Associated Collegiate Press rating service.

Classification was based on a comparison of weekly publications of schools with an enrollment of 2,001 to 4,000 students. The classification places The Leader in about the middle of the papers rated.

The major criticism of the paper was a lack of "human interest" stories. Norman Brewer, Norway junior, is editor, and Malcolm Applegate is adviser of the publication.

SOC, New Organizing Group, Releases Plans

A Student Organizations Committee (SOC) has been set up at FHS for the purpose of promoting, coordinating and evaluating student organizations associated with the college.

It will formulate policies relating to initial approval and continued recognition of all student and student-faculty organizations.

According to Dr. Richard Burnett, executive assistant to the president, the committee was set up "as a system whereby organizations can function as effectively as possible."

The move will put in writing what has been generally understood about student organizations. Burnett said he hopes the committee will effectively operating by May 15 or at latest by Oct. 15.

An open meeting explaining SOC will be held today at 5 p.m. in the Memorial Union Trails Room.

The committee will be made up or 10 or 11 members—five student members appointed annually by the student-body president with approval by the All-Student Council and five faculty members appointed by the college president from the committee appointees or in addition to them.

Organizations in SOC's jurisdiction are:

1. Organized social and living groups such as residence halls, fraternities, sororities and colonies.

2. Religious coordinating agencies such as ecumenical organizations designed to coordinate activities among church affiliated groups.

3. Departmental organizations related to and approved by a specific college department and/or division.

4. Academic honorary and recognition groups.

5. Service organizations designed to promote service.

6. Special interest groups desiring to promote a special interest other than those mentioned above.

All organizations must gain recognition from SOC and renew it each fall. Forms will be available soon.

In general policy organizations under the jurisdiction of SOC which fail to comply with the policies and regulations will be subject

Student Court Called; Prosecutor Not Ready

The Student Court case scheduled last Friday concerning three students involved in a home-brew incident, was held Wednesday in the Memorial Union.

The reason the court was postponed was because Attorney General Robert Ochs had not completed his investigation, according to Bill Jellison, dean of men.

Results of the case were not available in time for publication.

Editors Take a Look

The Board of Regents' ban on cigarette sales received approval from many Kansas editors, but most doubted the positive effect it would have toward decreasing smoking among college students.

The Hutchinson News says the Regents are not attempting to improve morals, lessen fire hazards or lighten the task of janitors, but "only trying to save lives." However, the News points out that the effect is not likely to noticeably decrease the "cigarette consumption by student bodies."

"Were they to walk a mile for their Camels and other brands, there would be added protection for their health," the News says. "But they won't. Not today's undergraduates. They'll drive. And the extra consumption of gasoline involved will add to the cost of a college education."

The El Dorado Times believes the Regents are attempting to afford a species of protection to young people against formation of an unwise and unhealthy habit. The reaction of the Salina Journal seems favorable since they simply bring out the key points of the report by Dr. C. Frederick Kittle, KU Medical Center, which prompted the Board's action.

Angelo Scott of the Iola Register countered Governor John Anderson's statement that it is seldom successful to try to regulate morals by saying morals is not the issue. It's lung cancer and heart disease the Regents are fighting against.

The Governor said he saw little merit in the action.

Simmons Article Brings Retort From Hays Youth at Vanderbilt

Editor: The problem of racial prejudice in the Southern United States is rarely understood in its entirety by someone other than a Southerner, at least to the extent of active participation in the process of eliminating it.

For this reason it is with regret that I read of Rev. Norman Simmons' "work" in the voter registration difficulties in Canton and Hattiesburg, Miss.

With due respect to Rev. Simmons' position as a leader of youth and to his stand on the civil rights issue, I believe that he overstepped his province in interfering with the registrations.

Rev. Simmons' statement, "I want to help because I felt that simply talking about race relations is not enough" was admirable. However, his participation itself was "not enough," because Rev. Simmons did not know "enough" about the situation in the South. Rev. Simmons would have been far wiser to delve into the background of the problem—to ask the Memphis social worker, and the Nashville attorney, and the Montgomery preacher, and to discover why the situation exists, instead of plunging headlong into one of its manifestations.

Had he done so, he would have realized that he was doing nothing more than aggravating the wound. He would have realized that desegregation will come only when "enough" people, in the South itself, cannot live with themselves any more, or realize that they do not have to, that desegregation is merely one small episode in the long effort for justice. The problem's solution will come when Southerners themselves gain that perspective, seeing the entire civil rights business as little, and are liberated from themselves.

Rev. Simmons would then have known that full civil equality for the Negro will not be accomplished by a well-meaning outsider, but by the Southerner himself, whose life is the question.

Sales for the $10 a plate dinner, scheduled April 22 in the Memorial Union Black and Glod Room, had totaled 120 late last week.

Keynote speaker for the sixth annual affair, which honors the memory of Dr. L. D. Wooster, is Dr. Walter Judd, former U. S. Congressman from Minnesota and a medical missionary. Dr. Wooster was the late president emeritus of FHS.

Judd, who served 10 terms in the House of Representatives, was voted one of the five most influential members of the House by the entire membership in 1962.

Tickets for the Wooster Dinner can be purchased at the Union information desk or at the Endowment Assn. office, Picken Hall, Room 212. Profits from the event go into the Wooster Endowment Fund to provide loans and scholarships for deserving students at FHS.

Tiger Thinclads Open Outdoor Season April 3

Fort Hays State opens its outdoor track season April 3-4 in the Texas Relays at Austin, Texas.

Francis is holding tryouts this week for positions on the two-mile, distance medley, sprint medley, and mile relay teams which will be entered in the Texas Relays.

He also plans to take Schmidt along to defend the mark he set last year in the freshman high jump. Schmidt cleared 6-7½ to win the event.

Coach Alex Francis' Tigers broke a total of five records and set a new mark in a new event during the four-meet indoor season.

Lakin, a Pawnee Rock product, broke the two-mile record in the opening meet of the season with a 9:31.1 performance and then lowered that to 9:17.0 in the CIC indoor meet at Omaha. Lakin ran an unofficial 9:07 at the KSU Indoor Invitational meet.

Harms, 880 runner and two-mile relay anchorman, shattered the 1:58.2 880 record held by Gene

Hayes, set in 1962, with a 1:57.6 time in the preliminaries of the CIC meet and then lowered that mark with a 1:55.7 charting in the finals.

At the KSU relays, Harms anchored the two-mile relay to a victory with a 1:53.8 performance and the sprint medley relay team to a second place finish, running the half-mile below 1:54.

Lowell Smith, Clyde junior, broke the mile record of 4:27.5 set last year by Lakin with a 4:22.5 clocking.

Tom Kindsvater, Dodge City sophomore, set a new record in the 220 yard dash with a 22.7 time in the opening meet of the season.

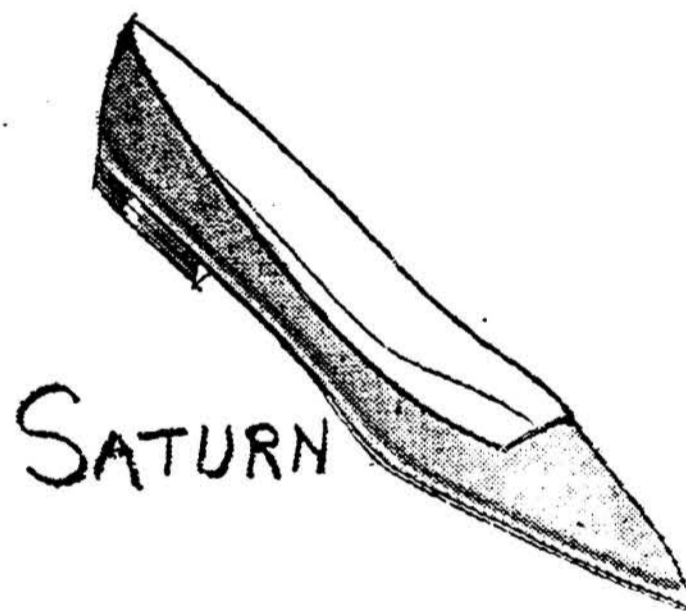

Bob Schmidt, Ellis high jumping sophomore, raised his own school record of 6-4¼ with a 6-4½ performance in the Kearney triangular.

Schmidt also set a new record in the triple jump, a new event this year with a 43-11 mark set in the CIC indoor championships at Omaha.
