FORT HAYS STUDENT OPINION POLL
On Building a Physical Education - Field House Complex
February 6, 1970

Total

Fort Hays State College is considering issuing revenue bonds to construct a physical education-field house complex. These bonds would be retired by increasing student fees. It is projected that phase I of the project, which is the physical education building, would increase student fees $9.75 per semester. Construction of phase II (the field house) would increase student fees by about $34.12 per semester. If we build both phases, the total added cost per semester would be approximately $43.87.

Please indicate your preference for what the college should do about this project by marking the appropriate box with an X.
