Organized Housing a Must For Soph Coeds Next Year

A change in housing rules will require sophomore women to live in organized housing next year.

The new rule, which goes into effect in the fall, will require all unmarried sophomore girls not commuting from home or not living with relatives in Hays to live either in a sorority house or in a residence hall.

"We have contemplated this change for a long time, but have not had the facilities to enforce it until now," said Jean Stouffer, dean of women. "We feel that the girls get more out of college if they live in supervised housing."

A total of 745 women can be accommodated in women's residence halls next year. This does not include sorority houses. Approx-mately 400 freshman women and 300 sophomore women are expected to be housed in the dormitories next year. Junior and senior women who wish to live in the residence halls are still eligible to apply.

"We do not feel that we are being overly strict in this rule," said Dean Jean. "We wouldn't have made it if we didn't think the girls could receive better housing conditions on campus than off. This type of living arrangements for sophomore women exists on almost all Kansas colleges."

Ed Johnson, housing director, reported that off campus housing will be tighter than ever before next year, but with sophomore women living in the residence halls the off campus housing shortage will be lessened.

Girls who will be sophomores next year should make housing applications immediately, indicating which dorm, roommate and floor is desired.

"We hope it does not come to this, but if any sophomore girl fails to comply with these living rules, she will be suspended from classes until she moves into a dorm or sorority house," said Dean Jean. "Girls should make plans now for living in the residence halls."

About 433 Degree Candidates Prepare for 61st Commencement

Approximately 433 students—398 bachelor's and 35 master's candidates—will receive degrees May 25 in Lewis Field Stadium at Fort Hays State's 61st annual commencement.

Exact totals were not available at this time due to the checking of the candidates' qualifications at the registrar's office.

The commencement at 8 p.m. May 25 will culminate the four-day graduation activities. Candidates will meet May 22 at 7:30 p.m. in the stadium for a commencement rehearsal.

Starting the formal activities will be a President-Faculty Reception for degree candidates from 8 to 9:30 p.m. May 23. Candidates will be in academic dress and candidate wives in formal dress.

Reveille Distribution Friday; Ample Supply

Reveilles will be distributed tomorrow (Friday) in the Union. The "shortage of books" mentioned last week in The Leader applies only to those books reserved for students who have been here only one semester and have not paid in full for their books.

There are plenty of books for all full-time students. Plastic covers will be available at 25c each. Students are asked to show ID cards to speed up the distribution process.

Those not able to pick up books tomorrow may get them Saturday in the Union or next week in the Reveille office in Martin Allen Hall.

Officials Consider Suggestions For Relieving Parking Problems

With the FHS college growth and student enrollment rising in "boom" proportions, the administration is studying the alleviation of problems which come with growth—one being the parking problem.

Several suggestions are being considered concerning student parking, according to Bill Jellison, dean of men. Among these are:

1. Expanding the restricted zone.
2. Limiting campus parking to juniors and seniors.
3. Promote the use of bicycles by students.
4. Paid parking to finance the building of parking lots (funds for parking lots can be used as easily for salaries or other construction, Jellison said.)
5. Restricting freshmen whose homes are outside of Hays (commuters excepted) from bringing cars to Hays.

The last suggestion has received considerable attention. The plan is carried out with considerable success on other college campuses.

Such a regulation could have two effects. One, it would become imperative for freshman men to live in residence halls as freshman women do now, or acquire an apartment as near to campus as possible; and two, it is believed that students would be more likely to do what they came to college for—study.

Twenty students—five from each classification—were asked how they felt about the proposal. Four thought it was definitely a good idea; eleven thought it was bad. Five felt that while girls don't need cars, boys do. Three freshmen said they needed cars to go home every weekend and work. Six suggested that the college build more parking lots.

In connection with this survey, a study was made by the dean of students office concerning freshman men's grade points. The study included 507 freshman men, 17-19 years of age, who are living in Hays or a residence hall (non-commuters). Of these, 328 with cars had a grade point of .83, and 179 without cars had a .89.

"Since the statistics are only slightly different, we plan to do a statistical analysis to see if the figures are significant," said Jellison.

Second Election Proposal Also Snubbed, 111-65 Count

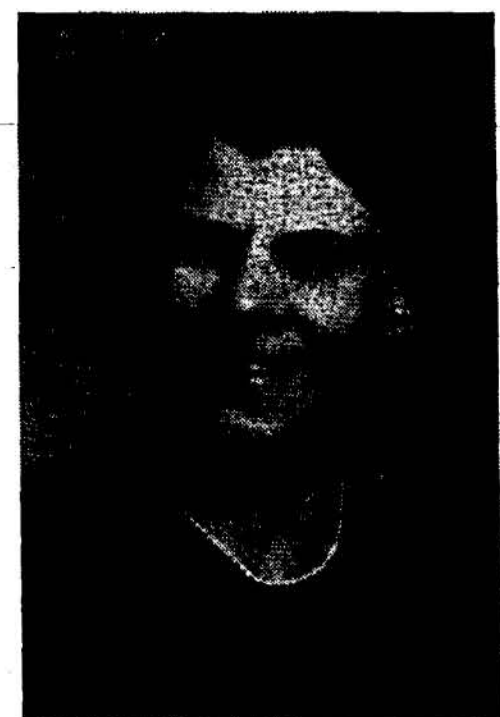

An amendment which stipulated voting and representation districts for All-Student Council was defeated, 111-65, by student vote Wednesday in the Memorial Union lobby.

The amendment to the Constitution of Associated Students read: "This would also mean that a representative from unorganized housing may not be a Greek, a Greek pledge or married, nor would Greeks, Greek pledges, or married students vote as members of the unorganized district."

Proposed by Jim Rock, fraternity representative on ASC, the amendment was identical to one proposed by Jean Oborny's, men's residence hall representative, except it allowed Greek pledges to represent unorganized housing if they pledged after the election.

Oborny's amendment was also defeated, last week, by a 361-132 vote. The earliest possible time a change of this type can come before the student body now is next fall, either by approval in ASC or by student referendum.

Mary Maude Moore

Miss Mary Moore Voted Second FHS Professor of Year

Mary Maude Moore, assistant professor of music, was elected the second annual Fort Hays State Professor of the Year by the student body Wednesday.

Miss Moore, who joined the faculty in 1959, won over five other instructors. The instructors were selected by ASC.

A native of Rosston, Okla., Miss Moore received her bachelor's degree in music from Oklahoma State University and her master's degree at the University of Oklahoma.

She has taught voice at Alva (Okla.) High School, was a youth activities director in Oklahoma City, spent two years with the Air Force Special Services in Japan and taught voice at the University of Oklahoma.

At FHS, she teaches classes in vocal pedagogy, voice and introduction to music, is director of the Women's Glee Club, the Men's Glee Club and the Impromptuos.

Other Professors of the Month voted on were Dr. Eugene Craine, professor of history; John Tomlinson, instructor in political science; Ralph Huffman, associate professor of industrial arts; Dr. Harold Choguill, professor of chemistry, and Dr. Roman V. Kuchar, assistant professor of language.

Finals Will Start Next Thursday

With dead week starting today, semester examinations are just a week away.

The finals will start at 7:30 a.m. next Thursday and continue through May 26, including two testing periods May 23.

No student shall be permitted to take an examination before the scheduled time and a fee of $3 will be charged excused persons taking late tests.

Concerning dead week, Dean John Garwood said, "We have asked the instructors not to give examinations during dead week. However, if the instructor wishes to give seniors special examinations, this is his decision."

Dr. Garwood points out that the reason seniors are exempt from finals in the spring is because of graduation scheduling, not just because they are seniors. If seniors were required to take tests, they would often be taking semester examinations after final graduation exercises, under the present procedure.

Instructors are to have all grades in to the Registrar's Office by May 27 and grades will be sent to the students' home by June 1 or 2, according to Garwood.

The graduate office announces that oral examinations over finished theses, masters' reports or field studies must be made by May 20.

Enrollment for summer school, which is scheduled from June 4 to July 30, will be June 2 and 3. Finals are set for July 29 and 30 and Commencement July 30.

Six pre-enrollment dates for freshmen entering FHS next fall are scheduled this summer. The first two are June 8 and 15.

Only 150 students will enroll at each session and permits will be awarded on a first-come, first-served basis to prep students who return a questionnaire sent out by the college.

All students now enrolled who plan to be in summer school should inform the registrar's office so that a permit will be made for you.

LASS OF THE YEAR — Leslie Cheatum, Garden City freshman, has been named the 1963-64 Leader Lass of the Year by vote of the student body. Runnersup are Janie Wood, Hays freshman (left), and Tonya Armstrong, Goodland freshman. Miss Cheatum, a speech therapy major, will be awarded $5 gift certificates from Ann's Dress Shop and the Cross Shop and a charm bracelet from Kuhn's Jewelers. Miss Armstrong will receive a $5 gift certificate from Finch's and Miss Wood an equal award from Nelly's Dress Shop. The lasses will also receive 5x10 photographs from The Leader.

Furlough Minus Costs Equals Experience

Lots of fun and experience, but no profit—that's the story of the first Fort Hays Furlough.

After nearly completing the tabulations of receipts and bills; Kent Collier, executive secretary of the Endowment Assn., said that no profit was realized from the Furlough. However, he estimates that they will come out even.

"We had several unexpected bills which erased our profits," said Collier. "But we still have 30 bicycles, helmets—and most of all, experience."

Several work scholarships will still be given in the fall, if plans work out. Collier said that some individuals have offered to contribute to the Furlough scholarship fund.

"We're disappointed, to say the least, about the financial results of the Furlough, but we now have something started from which to work for a bigger and better Furlough next year."

Anyone desiring to see the film of the Furlough should contact Collier in the Endowment Office, Picken Hall, Room 202. Persons wanting to work on the committees for next year's Furlough should also contact Collier.

Grain, Popcorn Add $6,000 To FHS Student Loan Funds

Contributions to the various student loan funds available at FHS come in many strange forms. Gifts of grain and proceeds from popcorn sales at basketball games have added nearly $6,000 this year.

A total of 2,000 bushels of wheat, presented to the college by an anonymous donor, brought $4,504 after taxes and storage charges. This amount was added to $4,946 in the Wheat Loan Fund established last year by the same donor.

Nearly $9,500 is loaned to needy students at 3 per cent interest on a revolving basis. Students with average grades are eligible for loans from the Wheat Fund, because the money is not part of the National Defense Student Loan program, which requires a 1.5 average.

During its first year, the Wheat Fund provided 21 loans, and 18 or 19 are expected to be made from this year's wheat gift.

Popcorn sales at basketball games account for a major part of $850, a gift to the Endowment

Assn. from Seventh Cavalry. Popcorn money was augmented by profits from campus directories sold last fall by the group.

Milo—16,250 pounds of it—added $250 to the National Defense and United Student Aid funds. The milo was a gift of Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Schraeder of Jetmore, FHS graduates of the classes of 1950 and 1949, respectively.

Besides contributions from grain sales, the college has received $1,500 from the anonymous donor who last year started the Kansas Loan Fund at FHS with a gift of $7,000.

During 1963, 23 loans were made at 3 per cent interest from the original contribution.

Also received recently was a $100 gift to the National Defense Loan Fund from the Optimist Club of Great Bend.

Need A Stage or Costume Designer, Actor, Painter? Just 'Ask Richard'

"If you want the job done, ask Richard." It's just that simple.

"Richard" is Warren Richard Boss, a senior. The job may be designing a stage set for a play, acting in the show, singing, painting in oils or designing costumes then stitching them up.

The result is the same—"Richard always comes through," say faculty members in speech, drama and art, the areas in which he is most interested.

"He has abilities people don't know about," says Al Dunavan, speech and drama instructor. Dunavan should know, for it is in drama that Boss has been particularly active.

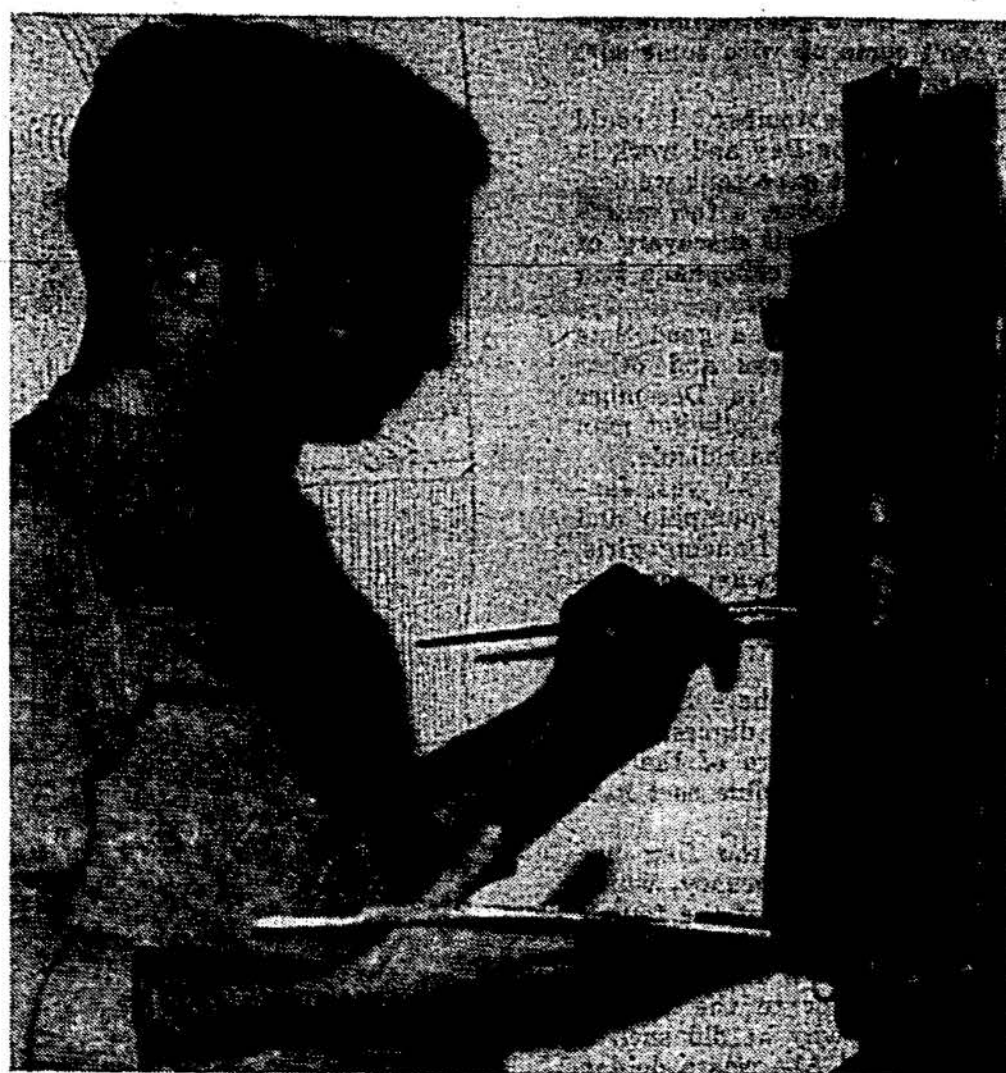

Boss graduated from Hill City High School in 1951 and came to Fort Hays State in January, 1961, after a two-year hitch in the Army and trying his hand at several ventures.

While working for a Hays florist, he decided to get a college education and for a time tried working full-time and attending classes full-time. When this didn't work, he concentrated on his education.

Almost immediately, Harriet Ketchum, dramatics director, discovered his interest in stagecraft and the theater. For one play after another, the programs read: "Stage set by Richard Boss...costumes designed by Richard Boss...played by Richard Boss."

The division of music began calling on Boss, too. Dunavan, when asked to arrange production of "Brigadoon" in Sheridan Coliseum, talked over the plans with Boss. They conceived an idea for the set—a long front of a large two-story building with several entrances—and Boss picked up a piece of notebook paper and his pen. An hour later he handed over the sketch and a few days later the set was constructed—exactly like the design.

For "The Diary of Anne Frank" Boss built a model of a tri-level stage, then constructed the actual set. He also played a role in the drama.

"Le Misanthrope" called for elaborate period costumes. Boss sketched, then helped make the dresses.

"Kismet," presented last year by the division of music, had some unusual settings. "No problem," said Dunavan. Boss went to work.

For the "Poise 'n' Ivy" show this spring, time was growing short and the stage had not been drawn. "Let's go to work," said Dunavan, and 17 minutes later Boss handed over the drawing. The next day he and Dunavan built the set.

Meanwhile, in the art studios he's known for his work in oils, landscape and portraiture.

"He has tremendous ability," says his adviser, Martha Dellinger. "He's a delightful person and quite superior in his work. He takes anything he's given as a suggestion and does something with it. Were it not for the vast quantity of labor and effort he has given—in stagecraft, theater and art—beyond his academic assignments, I'm certain he'd be almost a straight A student."

In lieu of a research paper in a Shakespeare class, Boss built a wood revolving stage with three sets for "Midsummer Night's Dream."

Boss is wrapping up his college career this spring. He says his dramatic work has been fun, but he's also done other things. He's president of Alpha Psi Omega, an honorary dramatics fraternity, and past president of Little Theater. He's also a member of Seventh Cavalry, men's leadership organization which chooses its members by unanimous vote on the basis of character, leadership and grades. Boss meets all requirements. His cumulative grade index is better than 2. (B).

Students' Attitude Toward Sex Is Changing, Say College Deans

That college students' attitudes toward sex is changing was one of the points brought out at the Conference of Student Problems and Student Morale recently at the University of Kansas.

The meeting of the six state schools was called by the State Board of Regents in concern for the mental health of Kansas college students. In attendance from FHS were Jean Stouffer, dean of women, and Bill Jellison, dean of men.

According to Jellison, some of the points brought out were:

1. Attitudes toward sex are changing due to influences outside the American culture and due to scientific inquiry. It is the duty of the college to make regulations preventing situations conducive to sexual relationships.

Women's residence hall hours and apartment regulations do not prevent sexual relationships, but do prevent temptations for those whose set of values do not include promiscuity.

2. A student who has identified a definite set of values for himself usually has more stable mental health than one who has no values at all.

3. The pressure a student feels from a problem is a result of his attitude toward that problem.

4. It is necessary for a college to provide the opportunity for each student to belong to an organization he can identify with, whether it be an academic club, housing unit, or social organization.

5. College students are not over-conforming as they did five years ago.

Divert the Campaigns

Forthcoming elections are gaining momentum and by next fall political campaigns will have reached a heated stage.

Except for the Big First, we in the western part of the state often do not come in contact with the political mainstreams as much as we would prefer. Therefore, it is time to start planning ahead to divert the campaign trails to Hays and the campus.

The Leader advocates that organizations invite candidates for state and national offices to come to Hays and speak on campus. The Young Republicans and Young Democrats could be two of the most influential groups in this endeavor.

With a little initiative and backing by sponsoring groups, the people in this area would have an opportunity to hear candidates and, consequently, vote more intelligently.

Political campaigns will be intensive in the fall; the time to plan is now.

Leader Staffers Plan Field Trip

Fourteen members of The Leader staff will help write and edit the Hays Daily News on a field trip Saturday.

The students, advised by Malcolm Applegate, will spend the day at The News covering news beats,

'No Question' Book Return Starts Monday

Alpha Lambda Delta, freshman women's honorary sorority, is sponsoring a library book return starting Monday and continuing throughout final tests.

All students are asked to return library books which are overdue or forgotten. There will be no fines or charges and no questions asked.

A big box will be set up in the Union lobby and smaller boxes in the residence halls.

'Project Freedom' Needs Books for Dixie Schools

Books are being gathered by the Campus Christian Council and the Hays Council on Human Relations for "Project Freedom."

All types of books are needed for libraries and schools in the South. Any book a student may wish to donate, including textbooks, may be put in boxes located in the Memorial Union, Wesley Foundation and the residence halls.

Brewings

Here we go again, let's hope. It's a bad situation when you lay off a week, use a guest column and then can't come up with some sort of inspiration.

If it was September, I could comment on Labor Day and work in something about expectant women. Or if it was October, a few words on Columbus and his discovery of electricity and the cellophane bag would be appropriate.

November's always a good time to talk about turkeys and other fowl creatures and in December one can count on the jolly fat man to absorb much of the ridicule.

And in January? Ah yes, January—the month of pumpkin and asparagus festivals. Dancing girls, wine and ballpoint pens; corporation taxes, Sears Roebuck catalogs and Goldwater. Plus New Year's parties.

(I think this is where Shulman would say, "But I digress," although with that hero of the collegiate uncomprehensible sect it is hard to say.)

God, mother and the flag are the key words in February, which houses the birthdays of the founder and liberator or this fair land. George, an avid fan of cock fighting, was a debtor to the British which explains why he did such a splendid job and Abe was a debtor to the corner liquor store, attempting to keep his generals in a prime fighting condition.

In March the wind and St. Patrick's Day are good topics. And in order to keep them as such I shan't say more.

And May; well, in May everyone sits around and counts the days until school is out. Ten, nine, eight . . . —Norman Brewer.

taking pictures, editing and handling makeup and other phases of the production for the Sunday morning paper.

This is the second year a field trip has been taken at The News.

Business Majors Form Club, Hays Sophomore Is President

Twenty-seven men, all economics and business majors at FHS, met and formed an economics and business club for men majoring in and entering that field.

Richard Osborne, associate professor of economics and business, was selected adviser to the group. An executive committee is in the process of writing by-laws and complying with requirements of the college.

Long-range plans call for possible affiliation with a national business fraternity.

Top Physics Sophomore Gets Award, Honors

Gene W. Wester, Mankato sophomore, was named outstanding sophomore physics student at Sigma Pi Sigma's 25th anniversary banquet recently.

Wester received a $100 cash award from the Harvey A. Zinszer Physics Prize Fund. He also received an award from the Chemical Rubber Company.

Dr. Harvey A. Zinszer, former FHS professor and founder of the FHS chapter of Sigma Pi Sigma, received a plaque honoring his outstanding teaching, humanitarianism and scholarship.

Featured speaker at the banquet was Dr. Robert Friauf of Kansas University. His speech was entitled "Physics of the Photographic Process."

Choir Medal Awarded To Three-Year Members

A new award is being presented this year to Concert Choir members who have participated in the organization for three years.

The Choir Award is a gold pin with the silhouette of Malloy Music Hall raised on its surface.

Ag Students Take Trip

Fifty agriculture students took an animal husbandry trip to view various farm-animal-raising programs in the area recently.

The group stopped at the Don Baker sheep program at Timken, Clarence Vesecky swine program also at Timken, Thies Packing Co. at Great Bend, Mulla cattle feeding program at Pawnee Rock and the Lewis Ranch at Larned.

Student Aid Hike Possible If Bill Passes

Any capable student will be able to attend college without financial worries if a new national student assistance program is approved by Congress.

The bill, authored by Senator Vance Hartke (D-Ind.), provides for a multi-purpose program of student financial assistance, flexible enough to meet the diverse requirements of the nation's post secondary institutions, and balanced between loans, scholarships and students employment activities.

The four basic parts of the Hartke proposal are:

1. Undergraduate Scholarships — Grants up to $1,000 awarded based on need, academic promise and high school record; to be given to entering college freshmen for four-year undergraduate study.

2. Long-term Students Loans — The present loan limit of the National Defense Education Act would be raised from $1,000 to $1,500 for undergraduates and from $2,000 to $2,500 for graduate students.

3. Educational Loan Insurance — A program to guarantee commercial or college loans negotiated by college students. Loans would be limited to $2,000 per academic year to any borrower and $10,000 total.

4. Student Work-Study Program — A program enhancing student employment opportunities while contributing to the college and the student's education. Jobs would relate to the student's field of study and would include research, public service, internships and assistantships.

Youthful Astronomer Views Setbacks As Routine in Building Observatory

Setbacks are almost a part of the normal routine for astronomer Richard Weber, Ellis sophomore.

About 1½ years ago, Weber decided to fulfill a long-time desire by constructing a homemade observatory in his backyard. Simultaneously, he set up shop in his home to work on grinding two powerful lenses to equip the observatory.

Recently, Weber thought he had the circular observatory, made from "old bricks and wood I scrounged around town," nearly complete. But he found that the wooden dome on the 10-foot structure was too heavy to roll on a track made of quarter-inch pipe. So now he has to construct it from tin.

Another problem came in grinding an eight-inch lens. After nearly 60 hours of grinding and polishing the mirror, Weber found it didn't have the proper curvature.

"So there was nothing to do but start over," he said.

With a six-inch lens about complete, the student astronomer is concentrating his spare time on finishing the more powerful eight-inch lens and reconstructing the observatory dome.

"I hope to have them finished sometime this summer," he says.

Weber has been interested in astronomy since his junior high school days.

"I was nosing around the Ellis library one day and picked up a book on astronomy," he says. "It aroused my curiosity, so I started reading everything on the subject that I could get my hands on."

"I bought my first small telescope as an eighth grader. Since then I've bought and built several small scopes, but the six-inch and eight-inch lenses are the first large ones I've tried to make."

"The bigger lenses require more accurate curves," he explained. "Several grinding motions are used to equalize the curve around the lens and if you overdo any of these motions, your curve will be off."

"When you're grinding to a few millionths of an inch, you have to be mighty careful. A test tells the grinder when the proper curve is obtained."

Polishing also requires extreme care, especially in keeping a uniform room temperature so the mirror doesn't expand during the process.

Weber estimates that 40 hours of grinding and another 40 hours of polishing go into the larger lenses.

The ability to fashion "pieces of junk" into useful astronomic parts have helped Weber cut the cost of what could be an expensive hobby.

The bricks for the foundation of the observatory were gathered from old buildings being torn down in Ellis, and the mounting for one telescope was made from an old car axle.

"By grinding and polishing my own lenses, I imagine my cost has been only about one-fifth the cost of new lenses of comparable size," he says.

When Weber's powerful eight-inch telescope is complete, he hopes to see such sights as the canals and polar ice caps on Mars and the cloudy atmosphere around Venus. In addition to knowing the ins and outs of finishing lenses, Weber is well-versed in astronomical phenomena.

He's taken FHS's only astronomy course, which, he confesses, "was a breeze after years of study on my own."

The son of Mr. and Mrs. John Weber, the young astronomer is majoring in physics at Fort Hays State. However, he hopes to take work in astronomy at the University of Kansas, so his hobby may same day turn out to be his life's work.

Exposure to Greeks First Is Goal of New IFC Plan

Summer rush for fraternities, designed to expose prospective pledges to Greek life before they are oriented to a predominantly independent situation was accepted at Interfraternity Council Monday. Summer pledging previously has been forbidden, and no pledging could take place until formal rush week.

Mike Watson, summer rush committee chairman, moved to accept the following proposal, which passed:

1. Formal rush shall begin Sept. 6, 1964, at 2 p.m. with a general meeting in the Union.
2. Junior IFC will sponsor a picnic at 5 p.m. for prospective pledges.

3. Fraternity houses will be numbered alphabetically and rush-ees will be divided into seven groups. The groups will then follow a set schedule in visiting house to house.

4. Open house will continue until 11:45 Tuesday, Sept. 8. At 1:30 p.m., rush-ees will be free to visit the house of their choice.

Rules are: At no time will any fraternity provide transportation for the rush-ees; the rush-ees must leave the houses at the end of the indicated time; there will be no contact between fraternity members and rush-ees other than the indicated times during this period.

By 8 a.m. Wednesday each fraternity will submit bids for their desired pledges. These bids will also be distributed to the rush-ees Wednesday morning.

Formal pledging will be held at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday for all fraternities. During the three-day rush period, rush-ees will live in residence halls at a minimum cost to them.

Each fraternity will submit a check for $15 to IFC for dues and later $35, which will be returned unless there is an infraction of pledging rules.

IFC will determine all fines and other disciplinary action. Also, any rush-ee involved in a violation will forfeit all pledging rights for the fall semester and will not become eligible to pledge any fraternity until the spring semester, 1965.

Informal rush may continue after the first formal pledging from Sept. 9 until Dec. 31.

The second formal pledging will follow this schedule:

1. Fraternities with up to 30 active members may begin second formal pledging on Oct. 5, 1964.
2. Fraternities with between 30 and 45 active members may begin second formal pledging on Oct. 12, 1964.
3. Fraternities with more than 45 active members may begin formal rush on Oct. 19, 1964.

In order for these proposals to be officially accepted, an amendment to the constitution will be necessary. This will be done next fall because no more IFC meetings will be held this semester.

Washburn Wins CIC Golf, FHS is Fifth

Washburn University won its third consecutive CIC golf championship at Omaha Tuesday. The Ichabods, second in the NAIA last year, finished with 767 strokes to win the title.

Pittsburg State was second with 778 strokes, Emporia State third with 783, Omaha U. fourth at 788 and Fort Hays State was last with 807 strokes.

Wind and cold rain forced the meet to end abruptly after 45 holes, instead of the regular 54. Only nine holes were played Tuesday, before the wind, rain and 37-degree temperature became unbearable.

Jerry Adams led Washburn to its victory. Adams took medalist honors in a special play-off with Don Tourtelot of Pittsburg after both had turned in 183's for the 45 holes.

Omaha's Curt Carley was third in the individual competition with 189.

Leading Fort Hays State was Russell junior Bud Carlisle with a 199. R. J. Smiley carded a 200, Bud Frieden had a 202, and Bill Getty and Jon Gicken had identical 206's.

Coach Joel Moss said his linksmen "just couldn't get going" in the CIC meet Monday and Tuesday.

We'd like to say some nice things about America's young adult drivers

And we think we've got good reason! Last January, we selected twenty 18- and 19-year-old young men and women through the Junior Achievement program to drive our team of Chevrolets in the Mobil Economy Run, April 3-9. It was the first time any company had relied entirely on drivers with limited experience in this exacting competition.

We brought these young adults—most of them college students, some from the business world—to Arcadia, California, in late February. For six weeks, our expert teachers trained them in the skills of economy driving.

Then, on April 3, they set off on the Run, 3,243 miles from Los Angeles to New York.

We were going against the grain. It takes high proficiency to win the Mobil Economy Run. Competition is tough. Why did we rely on drivers with such limited experience?

Chevrolet wanted to give the Chevy Teen Team a chance to prove in front of the nation that they and the 6.5 million licensed drivers in their age bracket are safe, sane people behind the wheel. We felt the Run offered a splendid chance.

The Corvair, Chevy IIs, Chevelles and Chevrolets driven by the Chevy Teen

Team in the Mobil Economy Run did remarkably well compared with the class winners in overall miles-per-gallon figures. The final results are a tribute to the high degree of driving skill displayed by the Chevy Teen Team representing the youth of America.

No wonder we're proud of America's young adult drivers. We couldn't have a better reason.

E-State Cops 6th Track Crown; Tiger Thinclads Finish Third

Emporia State used its depth in the field events and the distance races to earn its sixth consecutive Central Intercollegiate Conference track and field championship Saturday at Lewis Field Stadium.

The Hornets earned 90½ points to outscore their nearest opponent Pittsburg State with 77½ points and Fort Hays State came in third with 59 tallies. Omaha University was fourth with 24 and Washburn University finished last with 19.

Five new records were established during the two-day meet. However, the surprisingly ideal weather conditions failed to produce the expected run on the CIC records. Three of the records came in old events and the other two were established in new events.

John Camien of Emporia raced to a 4:09.4 timing in the mile run, and teammate Ireland Sloan wiped out a 17-year-old record with a 9:16.0 clocking in the two-mile run. In the 220-yard dash, Omaha speedster Terry Williams raced around the curve in 21.5 seconds.

The new events were the triple jump won by Washburn's Norm Wright with a jump of 44-5½ and the intermediate hurdles, taken by Dave Palmer of Pittsburg in 38.6.

Roger Sayers of Omaha, winner of the 100-yard dash and the 220-yard dash in the last three years, scratched from all events in the finals. He was bothered by a leg injury sustained in the 220 preliminaries Friday night.

Fort Hays State won first place in one event—the high jump—which was won by Rod Williams with a jump of 6-4½. Teammate Rod Schmidt, a consistent 6-6 jumper, cleared only 6-2. Schmidt reportedly was bothered by a back injury.

Buried in the results of the meet were three new school records for Fort Hays State. Ron McKown bettered his own mark in the intermediate hurdles with a second-place finish of 39.4. Don Lakin ran the two-mile run with a mark of 9:21, and the Tiger 440 relay team took second in 42.6 for another school record.

The Missouri Valley AAU Meet May 23 at Kansas City and the NAIA Championships May 29-30 at Sioux Falls, S. D. remain on the 1963 track and field schedule.
