Stanley V. Dalton, Secretary

It was suggested that three courses in the Caribbean area are not warranted as shown by the enrollments in the two courses now available. After some discussion, it was the decision of the Senate that three courses on the Caribbean and Central America area are not justified and that two courses seemed to be sufficient. It was suggested that Dr. Welty be notified that if the History Department wished to change the present courses, or add one and drop one, or any change or combination they thought best, this would be approved.

Declaration of Intent: to petition Kappa Mu Epsilon to organize a chapter here.

Dr. Stopher presented the attached declaration of intent of several students to petition the national organization of Kappa Mu Epsilon, an honorary fraternity in mathematics, to organize a chapter on this campus.

It was suggested that this would bring up the question regarding credit given for this organization. The Math Club carries activity credit and it would not be wise to give activity credit for both as there is some overlapping of membership, meetings, etc. Honorary fraternities were discussed and it was suggested that if a group wished to petition, they were free to do so. Activity credit is not asked for the mathematics honorary fraternity.

RECOMMENDATION: Mr. Brooks moved that this "declaration of intent" be approved. Seconded and carried.

Meeting adjourned at 5:50 p.m.

FINANCIAL INSTITUTIONS

This course is designed as an institutional approach to finance. It will be introduced to the whole field of finance. A broad survey course emphasizing institutions of the student who will take no further work in finance. The student who plans advance study gains an understanding of the functions and inter-relationships that should be exceedingly helpful as he embarks on specialized study. Rather than displacing courses such as money and banking, business finance and investments it is our idea that this course should prepare the student for a more sophisticated and penetrating study of his advanced finance courses.
