FRIDAY, MAY 16, 1969

NUMBER 31

TAKING A DIVE during a bronc ride in practice is one of Fort Hays State's rodeo performers. Tickets are still on sale in the Memorial Union today for the fourth annual event.

Cowboys Invade FHS For 4th Annual Rodeo

More than 300 cowboys and cowgirls invade the Fort Hays State College Rodeo Arena today, Saturday and Sunday to vie for top prizes in the fourth annual FHS Collegiate Rodeo.

Show time at the arena (located west of the U. S. 40 and Highway 183 junction on the FHS College Farm) are 8 p.m. Friday and Saturday and 1:30 p.m. Sunday.

This year's show has been changed from a two to a three-performance affair because FHS is hosting the championship finals of the Central Plains Rodeo Assn. Sunday's matinee features the 10 best cowboys and cowgirls in each event from the association.

FHS should make a serious bid for the top honors, according to Rick Stewart, Hill City junior and club president. Fort Hays State competitors have won team titles at four of six shows in which they have competed and grabbed a total of 15 first places and numerous seconds and thirds in the previous rodeos. Stewart said the group has had an excellent spring tour and that this year's club is probably the strongest ever fielded at FHS.

A highlight of the show will be the appearance of former FHS student and club member and professional rodeo clown Joe Hedrick. The talented Nickerson native, who has thrilled many children as well as adults with his dangerous antics during the bull riding, is a high school teacher at Horton.

Furnishing the stock for this year's show, as he has since the beginning four years ago, is Abbeville contractor Floyd Rumford. He is stock contractor for the mid-west and supplies many rodeos throughout the area.

An event that always draws a large following is on the slate again. That is fraternity steer wrestling. Teams of men have to rope a steer or cow and ride it into a designated circle — a task that is easier talked about than done.

Men's competition takes place in bareback riding, saddle bronc riding, steer wrestling (bulldogging), calf roping, and the always anticipated (by the fans anyway) bull riding.

Women competitors tangle in goat tying, barrel racing and pole bending.

The FHS club has been working since September on the completion of its bleachers. Many hours of cutting, fitting and welding have taken place and hopes are high to have accommodations for 3,000 spectators. Other repairing and fixing is taking place in the arena built solely by club members.

ASC Reviews Constitutional Amendments

By ELLA RAYBURN
Assistant News Editor

Proposed amendments to the new All-Student Council constitution were presented by Bob Miller, chairman of the Constitutional Amendment Committee in Tuesday's meeting.

The amendments involved combining the 11 Senate districts into seven and having one seat for every 50 votes per district rather than two representatives from each district as presently stands.

The second amendment proposes that Senators elected in the fall serve until the following fall. As it now stands, representatives elected in the fall serve until May 31.

The third amendment under consideration is for vacancies in the Senate to be filled by a student receiving a majority of the votes of the Student Senate. This Senator should be from the same district as the vacant position and would serve until the end of that term.

Presently the President appoints students to fill any vacancies, subject to two-thirds ratification by the Senate. No stipulation exists requiring appointed Senators to be from the district they are filling.

The fourth amendment deals with electing a vice-chairman, secretary and treasurer from Senate membership in the fall rather than spring.

Discussion and voting on the amendments will be at next Tuesday's meeting.

Members present at Tuesday's meeting were: Debbie Andrist, Barb Bolt, Rex Cooper, Vic Dahlert, Crystal Dickerson, Chuck Eubank, Finnm, Trudy Holler, Linda Loomis, Miller, Carolyn Nelson, John Petty, Linda Steitz, Marcia Turnbull, Lana Underwood, Pat West, Dave Westervelt, Dave Webber, Chuck Worden, Rosemary Barron, Vern Bruhn and Jeff Ehrlich.

Members absent were: Steve Miller, Margo Skomshar, Barret Halberman, Susan Wheeler, Phil Yearst, Don Dome and Larry Moore.

850 To Receive Degrees June 2

More than 850 persons are expected to receive degrees at 8 p.m., June 2, at Lewis Field Stadium.

The senior class selected Dr. M. C. Cunningham to give the commencement address. Dr. Cunningham's appearance will be his final public duty prior to his retirement on July 1. Other members of the platform will include Dr. Ralph Coder, Dean of the Graduate Division; Dr. John Garwood, Dean of the Faculty; Standlee V. Dalton, Registrar; members of the Board of Regents, and a representative of the Governor's office.

Commencement activities officially open May 31, with the President-Faculty Reception for degree candidates. The formal reception is scheduled for 8 p.m. in the Black and Gold Room of the Memorial Union and marks the candidates' first appearance in academic dress.

Baccalaureate is scheduled for 8 p.m. June 1, in Lewis Field Stadium. Rev. Orlo Choguill, minister of the First Presbyterian Church will conduct the service.

Alumni Achievement winners will be honored by the Alumni Assn. at a reception after Baccalaureate in the Memorial Union Black and Gold Room.

Honored at the reception will be Dr. Geneva Herndon, professor of speech; Donald M. Gamet, a partner in Arthur Anderson and Co., Kansas City, Mo.; and Rep. Keith Sebelius, First District Congressman from Norton. Gail Lupton, Alumni Assn. president from Great Bend, will present the awards.

The luncheon honoring members of the graduating classes will be at noon June 2 in the Memorial Union. At that time all seniors of the class of 1969 will be granted honorary membership in the Alumni Assn.

Rehearsal for commencement will be at 1:30 p.m., May 31, on the cinder track at the North side of Lewis Field Stadium.

In case of threatening storm before either Baccalaureate or commencement, the exercises will be held in the Coliseum. Under these circumstances, KAYS Radio Station will announce the change prior to 7 p.m. Sound will then be piped into the Memorial Union so those unable to obtain seats in the Coliseum may hear the exercises.

Caps and gowns may be secured in the Coliseum before May 28 and 29. Caps and gowns are to be checked immediately after commencement under the East Stadium.

May the years ahead bring to each of you good health and happiness and may you continue your loyalty and devotion to the students who come to our campus. Our thanks to each and every one of you for your friendship and unwavering support.

Respectfully yours,
M. C. Cunningham,
President

Bond To Speak At 8 p.m. Thursday

Julian Bond, the first Negro to serve in the Georgia legislature since Reconstruction after the Civil War, will speak at 8 p.m. Thursday in Sheridan Coliseum. Bond will be the second speaker in the All Student Council's Controversial Speakers Series.

Bond said recently, "There probably won't be a general uprising such as we had in Watts a few years ago, but you are going to see a lot more bitterness and terrorism in the next four years. He has also emphasized that "It isn't the black communities that need to change; it is the white communities that need civilizing."

Bond's name has appeared several times in political news the past few years, first when he was elected to the Georgia legislature and again last summer during the Democratic Convention in Chicago when he led a group to challenge the seating of the "regular" Georgia delegation. His name was also placed in nomination as the party's vice-presidential candidate.

Tiger Debs Slate Thursday Tryouts

Auditions for the Fort Hays State Tiger Debs will be held Tuesday from 4:30-6 p.m. at the tennis courts behind Forsyth Library. Karen Anderson, Hays junior, and the group's director, said all girls, including those on the team last year, who are interested in trying for a place on the Tiger Debs, must audition at that time.

OES Scholarship Available

An Order of the Eastern Star Scholarship is still available for next year. The scholarship is presented to a junior student who is a member of Masons or O.E.S., or whose parents belong to one of these groups.

Qualifications for the scholarship include: scholarship standing, excellent character, leadership qualities, high ideals, personality, and a definite promise of future usefulness.

Those interested in applying should contact Miss Ethel Artman in the Student's Aid Office.

Campus Club To Hear Social Worker

Julius Cohen, a social worker at the High Plains Mental Health Clinic, will speak for the Sociology Club at their next meeting. The meeting will begin at 7 p.m. and will be held Thursday in Sheridan Coliseum.

In Pursuit of Derbies

Coeds Stalk Streaking Sigs

By LES ANDERSON
Managing Editor

Probably the most-chased men on campus today are members of Sigma Chi fraternity. The reason? It's Derby Days.

As the Sigs streak across campus from class to class, they'll be the objects of hot pursuit by members of the eight residence hall and sorority teams. For each derby snatched a team receives one point.

The chase climaxes Saturday morning at 9:15 a.m. as the Derby

Chase is held in front of the Memorial Union. The action moves to Lewis Field Stadium at 11 a.m. as the Derby Day events are staged.

Events on the program include Little Furlough, Musical Tubs, Water Balloon Toss, Skin-the-Snake, Disc Quest, Great Stagecoach Race, Balloon Bust, Doughnut Dash, Mystery Event and the Lemon Meringue Relay.

The tug-of-war and house decoration judging were held Thursday night.

The weekend of activities climaxes at the Derby Day dance at 2:30 p.m. at the Dark Horse Inn. Trophies will be awarded to the top three teams.

Proceeds from Derby Days go to the Wallace Village for Children, a center for rehabilitation of minimally brain-damaged children located in Broomfield, Colo. Sigma Chi has set a goal of $200 for this year's event.

Spring Concert Sunday

Collegian Chorale, Women's Glee Club and Men's Glee Club will present a Spring Concert at 8 p.m. Sunday in Sheridan Coliseum.

Patrick H. Goeser, instructor in music and director of the groups, said, "The program offers a wide variety of music and a wide variety in groups."

Collegian Chorale will present spirituals, folk songs, music from a comic opera, a German song, religious music and three choral arrangements by E. E. Cummings.

Women's Glee Club will sing pop, show, religious, contemporary and three short works by Brahms.

Men's Glee Club will perform three anthems, a Negro spiritual, folk songs and show tunes.

Honor Council To Meet Today

The first meeting of the Honor Society Council will be held today at 8:30 a.m. in Albertson 315.

Purpose of the meeting is to elect officers and to establish procedures for operation during the 1969-70 school year.

Groups included in the honor society are Phi Kappa Phi, Phi Alpha Theta, Sigma Alpha Iota, Kappa Omicron Phi, Alpha Lambda Delta and Phi Eta Sigma.

ASC Amendment Needed

In Reader's Views . . .

Botany Prof Pans Anderson's Column

Elections for Student Senate representatives revealed a need for an amendment to the new All Student Council Constitution which was adopted this year.

Under Article IV, section 401 of the Constitution, which describes the composition of the Student Senate and the procedures for electing members of the Senate, two senators are to be elected from each of the 11 divisions, and one senator for every 50 votes cast is to be elected to represent men and women's Greek organizations, the various living districts, and unmarried and unorganized students.

No mention is made in the Constitution on how write-in votes should be handled in the Student Senate elections. The problem, then, arises when not enough students run for positions on the Student Senate. When a seat is uncontested, it usually is filled by write-in votes.

This situation occurred in the Student Senate election held three weeks ago. More than 15 Senate seats were filled by write-in candidates were allowed to take a seat for the offices.

Ten seats were filled by write-in candidates who had less than five votes. A majority of those write-in candidates received only two votes. Yet, under present election rules those write-in candidates were allowed to take a seat on the Senate.

Ironically, the students who assumed their office on the Student Senate with only two votes behind them, will have the same power and voting privileges as the student who campaigned for an office and received a substantial number of votes.

What is even more ironic, the candidate who ran for an office and received many votes, yet lost by a mere five to 10 votes will not gain a seat on the Student Senate, and will not be able to have the voting powers of the senator who was elected with two write-in votes.

Certainly, a change is needed. An amendment should be made to the present Constitution which would establish a minimum number of votes a write-in candidate must receive in order to win an uncontested Senate seat. This will eliminate the election to the Senate of a student whose name was merely written in on the ballot as a joke made by a mischievous friend. It will also tend to reduce the ironies that are incurred when a man is elected with an "overwhelming" mandate of two votes.

To the Editor:

Concerning the Peace Rally held on campus last Weds., I should like to call attention to two errors of fact in Les Anderson's column. The first was the statement which was probably taken from the remark of Mike Finnin stating that the reason the rally lasted an hour and a half was due to Dr. Reynolds and his tape recorder. The playing time on my tape of the proceeding indicate that the formal presentation of the peace people lasted about 20 minutes, and that the heated side discussions lasted about 25 minutes, making a total of approximately 45 minutes from the time I turned my tape recorder on until I left the area for an interview in my office with Jan Shaffer.

The second error concerned the color of the hair of the "small, gray-haired man." I would invite Les Anderson to take another look after he has changed his glasses.

I believe that we had a good healthy interchange, and that this meeting gave both sides a chance to express their views, and it acted as a safety valve to release steam. As one student expressed it to me, he believed that had I not come over to where the Veterans had Mike Finnin cornered and served as Moderator, that they might have fought it out instead of talked it out.

It was indeed unfortunate that the rally was set up during class hours, and also that it was not stated by the M. C. the time of termination of the rally, nor did I see anything in any of their pamphlets which indicated the length of time the rally was to run.

Mr. Anderson made the statement: "The Vet spoke. A train roar would have helped here, too." The M. C. specifically stated that he was willing to hear the other side, too. Was Mr. Anderson not willing to hear both sides? Dis-sent is a two-edged weapon, and the peace people learned that there are many students and staff who do not take kindly to the "peaceful" disruption of their classes.

Sackett Cites ASC Confusion on Appeals Court

To the Editor:

The front-page article about cheating on campus in your issue of May 9 was a little garden of inaccuracies. I don't know whether Mike Finnin or Ella Rayburn was to blame, but both had access to better information than they used.

1. Finnin was quoted as talking about "the newly established committee on cheating." There is no "newly established committee on cheating." A committee of the Faculty Senate, chaired by Mr. Ginther, is proposing a Committee on Academic Dishonesty. By May 9 this committee had not even reported to the Senate. (If he meant Mr. Ginther's committee, it is not newly established; it was established Oct. 15).

2. The so-called committee on cheating is not "a project of the Fort Hays State Chapter of the American Assn. of University Professors," as Miss Rayburn writes. The only connection the AAUP has with it is that last year it ran a study of cheating on the campus and recommended to the Faculty Senate that the Senate draw up a code, in cooperation with the ASC. Mr. Ginther's committee is entirely a creation of the Senate and ASC.

3. Miss Rayburn also says, "This committee of four faculty and two students . . ." Leaving aside her faulty pronoun reference which makes the sentence difficult to understand, the committee which drafted the proposal consisted of four faculty and three students, not two. What I find interesting is that three students were Mr. Finnin's own appointees. If he doesn't trust their judgment, as exercised in their participation on the committee, why did he appoint them?

Besides the just plain misinformation contained in the article, which I suspect derives about equally from irresponsible mouth-shooting by Mr. Finnin and irresponsible reporting by Miss Rayburn, there is an interesting point which, as a long-standing observer of student government, I cannot forbear mentioning.

Mr. Finnin complains that the student court has received only "token use." Of course, a court deals with infractions of a code. If Mr. Finnin wanted the court to be used, he had only to spend his year as student government leader in developing a code for the court to enforce. If there were no laws in the State of Kansas, the courts in the state wouldn't get much use, either.

The trouble with student government, on this campus as on most, is that it makes no effort to govern the students. The results of this are twofold. The first result is that students participate in the total ineffectuality of student government and don't participate in elections, witness the last one at Fort Hays State, where fewer than one third of the students voted. And was touted as the best turnout since 1957.

The second result is that the inaction of student government is the one area where they really have competence. The participation of the student body in . . .

faculties and administrations to impose regulations on them.

Mr. Finnin had a copy of the AAUP report on cheating in his hands since last October, and on one occasion I publically challenged him to take the initiative in this matter. Instead, he failed to act, and even when the Faculty Senate invited him to appoint students to Mr. Ginther's committee, he dawdled for months before doing so. Now, after all this time, he suddenly wakes up and courageously lifts the lance against his own appointees.

This is one illustration of why it is very difficult for faculties to take seriously the claims of students that they should have a voice in the management of the institution.

Dr. S. J. Sackett,
Professor of English

In Defense of Protests, Rallies

To the Editor:

Meaningless, useless, irrelevant are such terms that I have read and heard in regard to the Peace Rally on campus last week. Many people have commented to the extent, it really didn't seem too successful. Yet one of the outstanding results from the peace gathering is everybody still has something to say about it. Strange that something so unsuccessful should receive so much attention.

I would like to commend Bill Rogers and his cohorts for being concerned. Mr. Rogers doesn't believe in the Vietnam war, and is one of the few individuals who isn't afraid to say so in public. I am sorrowful our government hasn't given the effort required to explain our presence in that part of the world plus justified the cost in American lives for being there.

However I can not agree with Mr. Rogers' arguments of dissent. An unfair and unjust war it most certainly is, but I challenge the backers of the peace rally to show what war is just and fair. How can anyone justify the deliberate destruction of human life? If our position in Vietnam is unfair then I can only assume the Viet Cong and North Vietnamese position is fair and just. Many Americans have made a total commitment to their beliefs that our presence there is unjust and unfair. For there are several hundred American soldiers fighting for and commanding North Vietnamese units. Maybe the Peace movement backers should consider again what is fair or just in regard to war and make such a commitment total. Again I ask what is a fair war?

I am sure President Nixon would be more flattered than insulted that Professor Day has given him so much credit for being the soul perpetrator of the war. If Professor Day would review his history I am sure he would find our nation's involvement in Vietnam began much before the name of Nixon was even widely known in political circles.

In concluding I must say I will be able to sleep more comfortably now knowing that a professor on campus seemingly has a direct line with the FBI, CIA, and no doubt the CID in order to save us from ourselves. For it seems in our present day and age any person that publicly proclaims his beliefs is indeed a revolutionary. I would like someone to inform me that if demonstrations and public proclamations prove nothing, (as Jan Shaffer's article last week suggested) what does complete silence on the part of the veterans organizations and other assorted campus groups prove? Publicly ignoring the war will neither help to gain peace or patriotism.

A Shiny Badge For His Effort

A thousand apologies and a shiny badge to the professor of botany identified as the little, "gray-haired" man in last week's column. According to the professor in question, two "errors of fact" appeared in the column concerning the peace rally and the proceedings. (See letter to editor.)

First of all, I stand corrected on the length of time the professor spent at the rally. What people thought seemed like an eternity might have been only 45 minutes.

As for "the small, gray-haired man" description, I may have been mistaken. Or possibly the reflection from the shiny top of his tape recorder might have "grayed" the appearance of his hair — whether it be black, brown or buff. (No pun intended.)

Now for a few errors, fact, memory or otherwise, from the little, dark-haired man's letter.

The "good healthy interchange" is questionable. As for a "safety valve to release steam," if it's true it's all on tape. And, as a small favor to the interested professor, I've contacted a local power plant and they've agreed to permit him to record, at his earliest convenience, some more steam being released. But I seriously doubt if the FBI will be as interested in the latter tape—no error, just fact!

If any student actually believed that the little man's role as "moderator" (?) saved a fist-flying exhibition, he must have also been a vet—or a senior botany major with a borderline grade at stake. Shouldn't moderators be unbiased and non-partisan? Yet, he seemed to sway toward the veterans' views. Error or fact?

Concerning the train roar that would have helped when the vet spoke: the little man's glasses are now in question—at least his reading glasses. I was willing to and did hear both sides—or what he called both sides. But those opposed to the protestors' stand might have gained a more impressive effect by deflating an inner tube before the crowd.

Someone started to phone the little, dark-haired man at his office for the precise color of his hair but was thwarted in his attempts when he was greeted with a friendly voice saying, "Dr. Reynolds is not in . . . this is a recording . . ." No doubt the little, dark-haired man had gone to play "moderator" at the sauerkraut rally in Munjor. Shine your badge, little, dark-haired man!

Sam Column:
'Inappropriate'

To the Editor:

Your column, "Sam Shakes 'Em Up on Kaycee Strip," impressed me as a waste of newspaper space. How much relevance does the story concerning Sam's "shaking them up" in K.C. have to student interest and campus activity?

The story seemed to be a rather detailed biographical sketch ("how a poor unknown girl made it big," in 1,000 words or less), and merited considerably less room.

While I have nothing against the club entertainer, and won't here pass judgment on her choice of material, I feel that if we want to read reviews of nightclub performers, there is literature far more appropriate than a campus newspaper.

It hardly seems that our culture would be enriched by Sam's, and, therefore, Rusty Warren's, type of humor. Sam has received a lot of free publicity — nearly half a page, including a full-length picture — in a place where it is entirely inappropriate.

Richard Kraus,
Grainfield Senior

ED NOTE: To answer your question, it is considered "reader and human interest." And I thought you weren't "passing judgment on her choice of material."

Peace Vigil Not
'Apathy Rampant'

To the Editor:

In 1954 the United States aided an imperialist country to wage a war in Southeast Asia. Today, 15 years later, that aid has grown into an all out war just short of nuclear warfare. Our involvement has led to mass demonstrating and a dichotomy of war supporters and peace-seeking doves.

With the latest edition of our school paper one article, headlined "Demonstrations — they prove nothing," stated that Wednesday's rally for peace was "apathy rampant." Nothing could be farther from the truth! The rally proved that some students do care about our situation in Vietnam. It also proved to be quite peaceful. The only "apathy rampant" present was after the rally when a man with a functioning tape recorder started to hassle Mike Finnin with feeble questions which were almost totally insignificant to peace in Vietnam. Another article claimed the radicals to be Communists.

Obviously the media of the land has brainwashed our minds to the point that we put down anybody who advocates anti-government action, leading to hysteria and intolerance toward the activists and in the end labeling them Communists.

If they are corrupt maybe it is good. Maybe corruption is the bridge to solving our social ills if the self-righteous of the right ignore the wrongs our society has committed. Or maybe both the right and left see these wrongs. They differ only because the left is desperately trying to reform us via methods which are intolerable in the eyes of the right.

By manipulating demonstrations are the reformers able to disseminate their ideas. On the other hand, the right tries to play it cool by keeping silent on controversial issues. It is this silence which is to blame for much ignorance among the fabric of our free culture.

The Bible says, "As ye sow, so shall ye reap." The Establishment has sowed conservatism, putting down all non-conformity within the fortress of the country. In return it shall reap a reaction which goes to extremes to express itself by using drugs, long hair, and demonstrations. If your paper prints this I will be surprised.

Oukada Takes Three Events

Thinclads Win 1st RMAC Title

This weekend the Rocky Mountain Athletic Conference track and field champions of Fort Hays State are not competing but preparing for the Missouri Valley AAU meet May 24 at McPherson.

Friday and Saturday FHS outdistanced the Hornets of Emporia State as the Tigers won all but one race of 440 yards and over in the conference meet. FHS racked up 159½ points, finishing well in front of Emporia State, who tallied 125½ points.

The Tigers were paced by triple-winner Larbi Oukada who won the three mile, mile and 3,000-meter steeplechase. Oukada's 13:50 in the three mile broke the existing FHS mark of 13:56 set in 1966 by Don Lakin.

Other finishers in distance events were fourth-place finisher Alvin Penka, who ran the fourth fastest three mile in FHS history; Bruce Zamrzla and Herb Camien placed fourth and fifth in the mile; Ron Borger switched from his specialty of 880 yards and finished second in the 440-yard dash; Bob Young ran to a fourth-place in the 880-yard run; and in the steeplechase Dave McLeland and Dennis Wheatcroft trailed Oukada for a 1-2-3 finish.

FHS collected six of 18 first-places in the two-day meet which found 10 of the 14 RMAC teams competing. In addition to Oukada's three wins, Mike Estes led the pack in the 440-yard dash with a 48.4 showing; Steve Boehmer proved to be the best half-miler of the day when he ran a 1:54 in his event; and the quartet of Dave Schneider, Young, Borger and Estes compiled a 3:15.3 in the mile relay to win the final running event of the annual meet.

School marks were also set by Jerry Duran, who stepped over the 440-yard intermediate hurdles in 54.0; Butch Gilbert increased his triple jump mark from 45-6½ to 45-11½; and shot putter Bob Ford tied his existing mark of 55-8½.

All winning times and distances "The team couldn't have had better spirit. We went to Emporia with the idea of getting first and that was all we wanted. It was a good team effort because the boys were willing to switch from their regular events to help the team."

E-State Wins Baseball Crown

Emporia State College won the Rocky Mountain Athletic Conference baseball championships last weekend at Pueblo, Colo.

In the final game of the round robin tournament Saturday the Hornets downed Adams State College, 5-4. Southern Colorado State College finished third.

The Hornets dropped the tournament opener to SCSC by a score of 14-13. They then rebounded by winning their next four games.

Tennis Squad 6th At Denver

In its final action of the year Fort Hays State's tennis squad placed sixth in the Rocky Mountain Athletic Conference championships in Denver.

Two Colorado squads, Colorado State College and Southern Colorado State College, finished first and second respectively.

Emporia State Teachers College came in third, Pittsburg State College, fourth and the University of Nebraska at Omaha edged out FHS for the fifth spot. Placing seventh was Colorado Mines and in eighth was Western New Mexico. Host Regis College was ninth, Fort Lewis College 10th and Adams State College was last.

Those representing the Tigers were senior Mike McAtee from Ellsworth; Randy Lawrence, Hays junior; Steve Spratt, Ellsworth freshman; and Joe Kramer, Great Bend freshman.

In dual meet action this season the netters were winless. McAtee was the only letterman on the squad and he owned three.

Golfers Fourth At Durango

Fort Hays State's golf squad closed out its season with a fourth place finish in the Rocky Mountain Athletic Conference championships last weekend in Durango, Colo.

The host of the meet, Fort Lewis College, won the meet with a score of 615, Emporia State College was second at 617, Regis College third at 637 and FHS with 633 strokes. Following the Tigers was Colorado State College (638), Pittsburg State College (639), Southern Colorado State College (647), Adams State College (647), Western Colorado State (656), Colorado Mines (660), Western New Mexico (661), the University of Nebraska at Omaha (662), and College of Southern Utah (684).

R. J. Robertson tied for second medalist in the meet with scores of 78-75. There was also a two-way tie for top medalist with Robertson just one stroke back from making it a three-way deadlock for top honors.

Other scores carded by the Tigers were Mike Schaefer, 81-79; Kelly Deines, 82-80; Art Burtscher, 85-77; Dan Deines, 81-83; and Steve Critchfield, 85-84.

USAF Orchestra To Complete Artist and Lectures Series

The big band sound as played by the official U. S. Air Force dance orchestra, the Airmen of Note, will be featured at 8 p.m. Monday in Sheridan Coliseum.

An art exhibit featuring the historical aspects of the USAF will be displayed in conjunction with the concert at 6:30 p.m. in the Coliseum lobby.

Free tickets are still available for the performance at the Memorial Union information desk and the Hays Chamber of Commerce Office in the Hays National Bank building.

The dance orchestra performance and art exhibit are co-sponsored by the Artists and Lectures Series Committee and the Hays Chamber of Commerce.

The dance orchestra was formed in 1950 to replace the original Glenn Miller Air Corps Dance Band, which was dissolved after World War II.

As a tribute to Glenn Miller, the Airmen of Note portray the Glenn Miller Orchestra in the biographical movie, "The Glenn Miller Story."

The art exhibit will display a selection of original works featuring USAF activities from World War I to the contemporary aerospace Air Force Activities.
