

9-19-1995

University Leader September 19, 1995

University Leader Staff

Follow this and additional works at: https://scholars.fhsu.edu/university_leader

Content Disclaimer

The primary source materials contained in the Fort Hays State University Special Collections and Archives have been placed there for research purposes, preservation of the historical record, and as reflections of a past belonging to all members of society. Because this material reflects the expressions of an ongoing culture, some items in the collections may be sensitive in nature and may not represent the attitudes, beliefs, or ideas of their creators, persons named in the collections, or the position of Fort Hays State University.

Recommended Citation

University Leader Staff, "University Leader September 19, 1995" (1995). University Leader Archive. 720. https://scholars.fhsu.edu/university_leader/720

This Newspaper is brought to you for free and open access by the Student Experience Collections at FHSU Scholars Repository. It has been accepted for inclusion in University Leader Archive by an authorized administrator of FHSU Scholars Repository. For more information, please contact ScholarsRepository@fhsu.edu.

NONPROFIT ORGANIZATION
U. S. POSTAGE
MAIL NO. 1
FIVE CENTS PER COPY

Gen. X, non-trad./pg. 2

Volleyball/pg. 3

Football/pg.4

University Leader

Tuesday, Sept. 19, 1995

Fort Hays State University

Volume 90 Number 9

Opportunity will knock at Career Day

Jenna Winterberg
Managing Editor

The Career Development and Placement Service will be hosting its eighth annual Career Day from 9:30 a.m. to 2 p.m. tomorrow in the Black and Gold Room, Memorial Union.

Representatives from an approximated 40 businesses will be on hand to chat with students. According to Director Dan Rice, the main purpose of having the various employers attend is to provide an opportunity for students and employees to get together on a "one to one basis" and allow students to "expand their information base."

A variety of businesses will be present, spanning across the range of all majors. It will provide a chance for the students to gain exposure to a sampling of possible career avenues, according to Rice.

It will also be an opportunity for individuals to discover what employers in their field may be looking for in terms of educational background or individual characteristics.

The fair further serves as a chance for the companies to "review the student body," Rice said, "to see what students at Fort Hays have to offer."

Rice expects a turn-out of about five hundred students, but feels it is an opportunity of which all students should take advantage.

No interviews take place on Career Day, but contacts made there can result in job placement interviews at a later date, according to Rice. Seniors may find a sampling of opportunities to pursue, but even sophomores can gain valuable connections by attending the fair.

Undecided majors need not exclude themselves, as Career Day has been known to give some such students "an opportunity to find focus or direction," Rice said.

The atmosphere is casual (though some seniors have dressed up and brought resumes in the past), and communication is emphasized between the two parties, especially through informal conversation, according to a press release.

For those students who feel uncomfortable asking questions directly of the employers themselves, the fair will be followed by an employer panel discussion from 2:30 to 3:30 p.m., also in the Black and Gold Room.

According to Rice, a panel of representatives from the companies present are on hand to answer any questions students have in an open forum. If the students shy away from posing their own questions, Rice will have a list of common queries he will ask the panel.

Companies on hand include some national companies such as the Coca-Cola Corporation and the Federal Bureau of Investigation, but most of the employers are from the Midwest region.

Thursday, a "select group of employers will conduct mock interviews," according to a press release. Seniors can sign up for an interview time with the Career Development office in Sheridan 214. Interviews will last about half an hour. The recruiter, according to Rice, will critique the individual's interview by addressing strengths and weaknesses.

Though Thursday's mock interviews are open only to seniors, Rice emphasizes students ranking from freshmen to graduate can benefit from attending the Career Day by making initial contacts with the employers represented.

Students with questions about either of the scheduled events should contact Career Development at extension 4260, or stop by its office in Sheridan 214.

PLAY BALL Jason Summerville, Marion junior, plays catch with a friend Thursday afternoon in the grass outside of Rarick Hall. The two were taking advantage of the warm weather. (University Leader photo by Matt Hoernicke)

English Department to host annual workshop

Dina Ross
Staff Writer

The department of English at Fort Hays State will host its 33rd annual Fall English Workshop from 8 a.m. to 2:30 p.m. on Friday in the Memorial Union.

Lois Ruby, author of young adult literature, will give the luncheon address on Teaching and Evaluating Creative Writing.

Ruby will discuss using middle grade and young adult books in the classroom as an adjunct to the "canon" of books required for young people.

She will also talk about teaching and evaluating creative writing from the perspective of a writer who teaches, rather than a teacher who writes.

Corina Beam and Alicia Brungardt, teachers at Felten Middle School and Hays High School respectively, will present "Teaching the Research Paper in Junior and Senior High."

"Alternative Grading Approaches," will be presented by Steve Kucharik, as another workshop alternative.

Other presentations include "Using Writing as a Means to Reach all Students," by Lynne Wagner Hewes; "The Changing Role of English Teachers," and "Integrating English into the Entire Curriculum," by Steve Nilhas, a curriculum consultant.

Goldie Wood will present "A Survival Guide for Beginning Teachers: Balancing Your Sense of Duty with your Sanity."

Kris Bair, FHSU instructor of English and computer lab coordinator, will present "Computer-Assisted Instruction in Writing: Using Word 6.0 and Writer's Helper in Teaching Composition."

"I'm going to demonstrate the computer programs and talk about how secondary English teachers can use them," Bair said. "Computers help students create better papers."

Paul H. Gatschet, chair of the Fall English Workshop, said "Many teachers of English can use considerable help in teaching creative writing well."

"Our main speaker for the workshop, Lois Ruby, is a noted author of young literature and teacher of creative writing in Wichita," Gatschet said. "In this workshop, she will focus on creative writing."

A $35 pre-registration fee, including complete conference activities and a luncheon, are required by today. After today, a $40 registration fee at the door, will include all conference activities, except the luncheon.

For additional information, contact the FHSU department of English at 628-4285.

Music season announced

Karen Meier
Staff Writer

Music-lovers will have plenty to look forward to this season with performances offered by the Encore Series, Hays Symphony Orchestra and the Fort Hays State department of music.

Michael Levine and the Dallas Brass will kick off the 1995-96 Encore Series 8 p.m. Thursday, Sept. 28 in Beach/Schmidt Performing Arts Center.

Twelve FHSU music students will perform with the six-member ensemble for one number.

According to a press release, those students are: Nicholas Ortiz III, Garden City freshman; Victoria Schmidtberger, Hays junior; Angela Pullman and Jacob Steward, Hays freshmen; Scott Griffith, Hoisington freshman; J.J. Rupe, Hutchinson senior.

Ross Burgess, Lebanon freshman; Kayla Gottschalk, Lenexa senior; April Dawson, Norcat senior; Matt O'Gwin, Protection senior; Michelle Schroeder, Topeka freshman; and Dioniso Martinez Jr., Colorado Springs, Colo., sophomore.

The Dallas Brass performs a variety of music styles ranging from classical to jazz, according to promotional material. The group has released four popular recordings and performed world-wide.

Tickets for the performance went on sale at the Student Service Center at Memorial Union yesterday. Reserved tickets are $10 for the general public, $8 for senior citizens and those 18 and under, and $6 for FHSU students. Unreserved tickets are $6, $4 and $2.

The Hays Symphony Orchestra

has scheduled its first performance, "An American Salute," at 3 p.m. Sunday, Sept. 24 in Beach/Schmidt Performing Arts Center.

The concert is free and will feature music by Copland, Bernstein, Sousa and Berlin, according to a press release.

The orchestra is under a new music director and conductor Daniel Delisi, associate professor of music.

Delisi said he enjoys the challenge of selecting music for the orchestra because of the many roles the orchestra plays.

"The music must meet the educational needs of the student, satisfy and challenge the community players and attract and broaden the tastes of the audience."

"Within these boundaries I like to choose concerts with an overall theme—a place, a time, an idea, a style. This gives the audience and the players a sense of cohesion and purpose in listening to the music and increases the richness of the experience," he said.

This year's concerts will include a Presidents' Day concert featuring American music, a concert of music inspired by or written for dance, and a complete performance of Haydn's oratorio masterpiece, "Creation," Delisi said. "It's the orchestra's job to make the meaning behind the music come alive for the audience."

The FHSU department of music has also announced its 1995-96 proposed schedule.

According to a press release, the next scheduled performance is the Fall Choir Concert at 8 p.m. Thursday, Oct. 12, in Beach/Schmidt Performing Arts Center.

Other events include jazz and orchestra concerts in November and the Madrigal Dinner in December.

SING OUT Rager H. Moore II and his accompanist Kristine West Denton performed the song Sailor's Song, for the crowd at the music department sponsored Faculty Showcase Thursday evening in Beach Schmidt Performing Arts Center. (University Leader photo by Chris Jeter)

Editor's Note: The "Generation X" and "Non-Traditional" columns will be printed side-by-side in every Tuesday edition of The University Leader for the duration of the semester. The purpose of the columns is to provide an informative and sometimes entertaining look at student life on both sides of the coin. These columns are for you. If you have any ideas or anecdotes, please write: Attn: Editor, The University Leader, Picken 104 and either send or drop the letter off in our office.

Generation X

Rebecca Schwerdfeger
Editor/Columnist

Traditions.
As I stood at the foot of the altar before friends, family and my Catholic community stating my marriage vows this summer, I knew I was not starting a new tradition, but reinstating an age-old one. The Catholics are now encouraging people being married within the church to have their ceremony during a regularly scheduled mass, thus inviting the entire congregation.

This places an emphasis on the sacrament of matrimony and witnessing before an entire faith-sharing community as opposed to the self-absorbed way in which so many focus on materially pleasing marital effects.

I was hesitant at first. I would have to give up selecting my own songs, readings, my styles, even the very order and various ways in which I had wanted everything to be situated and dispense.

I fought with myself for quite a while. This was going to be my special day. I wanted everything just the way I had imagined it since I was a little girl.

Why would I want to dredge up the old purpose of a Catholic marriage in a church, to witness before God and community?

Those traditions had been long since forgotten. Now, people could be married whenever, wherever and however they wanted.

In the end, the little voice inside my mind got the better of me. Tradition was worth the sacrifice.

And it was. Back to the altar... At that moment, as my husband and I voiced our vows before the community, our community, I realized that none of the material visions I had preserved were truly important.

They paled beside the church full of people, strangers, and yet, they were instantly transformed into family.

In the receiving line after the ceremony, came the clincher.

First, family and friends came through and I graciously received their congratulations.

But the stream of faces did not stop there. Many others came through. People I did not know. They were not awkward and I did not feel awkward.

I remember one woman. Bright red hair, laced with gray. She was short, aging and hunched over. She had tears in her eyes.

"Thank you so much," she said to me in a broken voice. "That meant a lot to me. I remember when we always celebrated together."

Tradition is special, because tradition forms a bond between human beings which speaks through the ages and bridges the generations.

Non-Traditional

Dina Ross
Columnist

I took a trip to Topeka to see the Treasures of the Czars and throughout the exhibit, I was reflecting on traditions.

Traditions are the safety blankets which connect us to the past. They are our comfort.

When I was little and it was time to enroll in school, my mother used to take me to get new shoes and clothes.

This custom was established not because she had a good supply of money that appeared to accumulate by August, or because the times were good during the summer.

My mother made sure that I would feel secure and comfortable on those rough first days of classes.

She extended this courtesy to the days I was to take an exam. If I would have a new pencil for that special day, I was reminded of how much she loved me. This was her way of saying: "Good luck on your test."

Traditions are a very important part of everything we do as adults. Those of us who are parents continue to do these simple things for our children's sake.

How else will our offspring remember how home used to be?

I hope my children continue some of our traditions when they are on their own.

My mother used to take me and my brother and sisters to the Independence Day parade every Sixteenth of September when I lived in Mexico.

She has gone on to a better life and I moved away from my country. Therefore, this tradition died.

Here in Kansas, there are not enough Hispanics to celebrate Independence Day, so I will start the tradition when I find enough people to help me do it.

Homecoming is just around the corner and many Voga-Germans will remember their heritage on that day.

Alumni and their family will visit Hays to remember their college days.

Last year, during homecoming activities, I had a great experience: listening to the German polka I was reminded of my own Mexican polka. I had to dance it at least once.

My parents were enthusiast dance enthusiasts and they passed this love for music on to me. When I did the polka, I felt at home.

I will continue to participate in Oktoberfest for as long as possible. My college days, even though they came late in my life, are and will always be, very special.

Traditions are necessary for every human being. They are a reminder of our past and our hope for the future.

Editorial

My grandma once told me, "You can have anything you want in this world, Rebecca. Just make sure you know why you want it."

She was referring to making decisions that I can live with, but it can also apply to a situation which seems to have surfaced recently on our campus.

Either a severe lack of communication between students, faculty and administration has transpired, or perhaps misguided goals have led to a closing of the communication channels on our campus.

The most recent issue pertains to the newly "proposed/instituted" honors requirements as a means of curbing grade inflation.

SGA members are right in becoming upset (see letter at the bottom of the page). They represent the student body, and if actions are being taken against the student body for which better solutions exist, SGA appears as if it is not executing its duties.

I feel now is a crucial time for the administration to step forward and clarify its intentions and the roles it feels student input should play in its decision making capacity.

It is still early in the year and there is much work to do to provide a quality education for the students of Fort Hays State.

I hope that all entities: the administration, the faculty, the staff and the students will play a role in making the future of higher education at this institution something that all parties can be proud of.

For those with the power to decide the future of the students at this university, remember: you can achieve anything, but please be clear you remember what and why your goals came into being.

I hope it was to create a brighter future for the students. Communicate, communicate, communicate.

Rebecca Schwerdfeger
Editor-In-Chief

Letters to the Editor

Dear-Editor:
The University Leader has quite a bit of qualities in it. A lot of sports, classifieds, news, etc.

The only thing The University Leader is lacking is residence hall news.

I have seen only one article about all of the residence halls. . . .

If you were to do this, you would probably need someone who lives in the residence halls to submit an article.

Other than that, WAY-TO-GO.
Bryan L. Valentine
Sterling sophomore

Dear Editor:
This is in response to the recent actions of the Christian Coalition, but more especially the recent presence of the Gideons.

What right does any publicly subsidized university have to sponsor any religion, regardless of the majority opinion?

Is the university not aware of the separation of church and state? Furthermore, what happened to the DUTY of governing bodies, both state, national and even this university's, to protect the rights of the minority?

Instead of performing their necessary duties, these governing bodies seem to be implementing the narrow morality of the majority into policy and sometimes law.

If the minority's only protector no longer protects, to whom are we to turn? What right do the Gideons or any other religion have to openly harass the population with their narrow religious views and close mindedness?

Why did the university and as the Gideons claimed, the president of FHSU, permit them to harass and proselytize the student population?

Would groups handing out the Bhavada Ghita, The Books of Enoch, The Books of Thelma or hundreds of other religious texts receive the same approval or cooperation?

Finally, as a Gnostic, I embrace ALL religions as forms of divine wisdom, but I will always condemn the harassment of other people with one's religious views.

Prater Thomas Albin
Kansas City sophomore

The University Leader

Picken Hall 104 600 Park St. Hays, Kansas 67601
News 628-5301 Advertising 628-5884

Copyright 1995 The University Leader

The University Leader (publication number 51990) is published every Tuesday and Friday except on university holidays, and on other occasions not specifically announced.

Students and non-students may subscribe. Mail subscriptions cost $23 per year. Third class postage is paid at Hays.

The University Leader is a general interest publication. Letters should be signed and include a return address. The University Leader is not responsible for the return of unsolicited manuscripts. The University Leader is not responsible for the return of unsolicited manuscripts.

Editor: Rebecca Schwerdfeger
Managing Editor: [Name obscured]
Assistant Editor: [Name obscured]
Sports Editor: [Name obscured]
Health Editor: [Name obscured]
Business Editor: [Name obscured]
Classifieds Editor: [Name obscured]
Letter and Op-Ed Editor: [Name obscured]

Some SGA members express concern regarding decision making methods

Dear Editor

Last Thursday evening at the SGA meeting, we discussed honors requirements for several hours.

We discussed the factors and presented facts relating to the increasing number of students graduating with honors.

In that short period of time, we were able to raise questions and find solutions to problems which somehow managed to elude the "administrative think tank."

Grade inflation presents a serious problem, and needs to be seriously looked into.

Surprisingly, grade inflation wasn't the main reason we were upset.

The fact that we, as students, were able to come up with better ideas to reform the honors requirements shows whoever conjured up this remedy didn't think very long about other possible solutions.

Administration is a difficult job. This is why only the most qualified personnel perform this task.

These personnel are supposed to make good decisions by evaluating all possible solutions to a problem.

The only problem is the administration has been acting like a horse with blinders on, seeing only what solutions are easily in front of it.

To solve this problem, we need to form a committee that can see every point of view.

This committee should be composed of faculty, students and administration, all having an equal say and vote.

This way, no side of the problem is left without exploration.

As student senators, we have decided to challenge the Provost to revoke these new honors requirements immediately.

We digested a lot of information and heard several distraught students at the meeting and became very upset with these changes which have taken place.

We need to work together, to send a clear and concise message to the Provost that we will not stand for these changes made to the honors requirements.

Any student interested in revoking the honors requirements can sign a petition which will be circulating throughout the campus, and vote in the upcoming Fall elections when the issue will be placed on the ballot.

To find out more information, contact the SGA office or your student senator.

Dennis Albright
At-Large Senator
Terry Bruce
Social Science Senator
Chad Nelson
Social Science Senator
Shannon Tuley
Social Science Senator

Editor's note: refer to SGA story, pg. 1, of last Friday's issue for background information.

BRIEFS

Psi Chi meeting

Psi Chi will have a general meeting at 5 p.m. today in West Annex 301. All psychology majors and minors please attend.

Accounting Club

Accounting Club will meet at 6:30 p.m. today in the Trails Room, Memorial Union.

There will be a guest speaker. Hope to see you there.

Block and Bridle

There will be a Block and Bridle Club meeting at 7:30 p.m. tomorrow.

Deposit for the National Convention in Kentucky is due by 4:30 p.m. tomorrow in the Agriculture Office, Albertson 315, and no later. Also, dues must be paid by tomorrow.

Women's Program

Women's Programming will be presenting a Women's Career Exploration Workshop at 4:30 p.m. tomorrow in Picken 307.

This workshop is geared for students who wish to explore career possibilities and develop resume techniques.

Stafford Loans

In order to receive Stafford Loan funds on or after tomorrow, you must complete two steps.

See the advertisement on page four.

Career Day

Career Exploration Day will be from 9:30 a.m. to 2 p.m. tomorrow in the Memorial Union Ballroom.

Graduate School

The deadline to sign up for Fall 1995 comprehensive examinations is Oct. 13.

For further information, please call 628-4237, or stop by Picken 202.

Forum offered

The Protestant Campus Center, 507 Elm St., will have the fifth forum of its series, "Heretics, History and Holiness," at 7:30 p.m. Sunday, Oct. 1, at the center.

Robert Lutz, professor of history, and Roger Paine, professor of physics, will present the topic "The Apple, the Vineyard, and the Kingdom."

For more information, call 628-4237, or stop by Picken 202.

Call 628-4237, or stop by Picken 202 for more information.

Volleyball team 4-10 overall

All Moore
Staff Writer

The Lady Tiger Volleyball Team is currently stuck in a five match losing streak, three of these losses resulting from this weekend's matches against Western State College, Emporia State University and Mesa State College.

According to Tiger teammates, although play hasn't been overly successful, the team members continue to keep their heads up.

The Tigers started out home conference play last Friday against Western State College losing three straight games going, 4-15, 13-15, 10-15.

The women then played a non-conference match against Emporia State University and lost again going 7-15, 15-5, 12-15, 6-15.

The Tigers' last match of the weekend was played against Mesa State.

Mesa is currently ranked 20th in the nation. After going 4-15, 15-8, 5-15, 8-15, the Tigers lost their third match of the weekend.

The Tigers hosted No. 9 ranked University of Nebraska-Kearney yesterday and are scheduled to play a series of away matches this weekend.

BLOCKED SHOT Emporia State Hornet Bonnie Ogilvie tries to spike the ball while Lady Tigers Aimee Sayles and Lisa Wolverton attempt to block the shot. (University Leader photo by Matt Shepker)

Directed Teaching Deadline

October 1 is the deadline for submitting completed applications to student teach in Spring 1996.

Pick up and return applications to:
Teacher Certification Office, Rarick 213

NOTICE

Change in Office Hours

The Student Health Center will observe the following hours during the Heartland Display of the NAMES Project AIDS Memorial Quilt

Wednesday, September 20 • 8 a.m. - 3 p.m.
Thursday, September 21 • 8 a.m. - 3 p.m.
Friday, September 22 • 8 a.m. - 2 p.m.

We will be available for emergencies. There will be NO CHANGE in Doctor's hours.

Please visit the Quilt Display at FHSU Gross Coliseum

Community Welcome

70's ROCK

The Good, The Bad & The Ugly

A highly entertaining and total informative multi-media presentation by BARRY DRAKE

Tuesday, Sept. 19
8 p.m. - The Backdoor

Hundreds of songs & interviews, the story of rock 'n' roll from someone who was there from James Taylor to Bruce Springsteen to the Village People. Writer/recording artist/rock 'n' roll expert - Barry Drake

Gen. Public - $3
FHSU Fac./Staff - $2
FHSU Students - FREE

Community Welcome

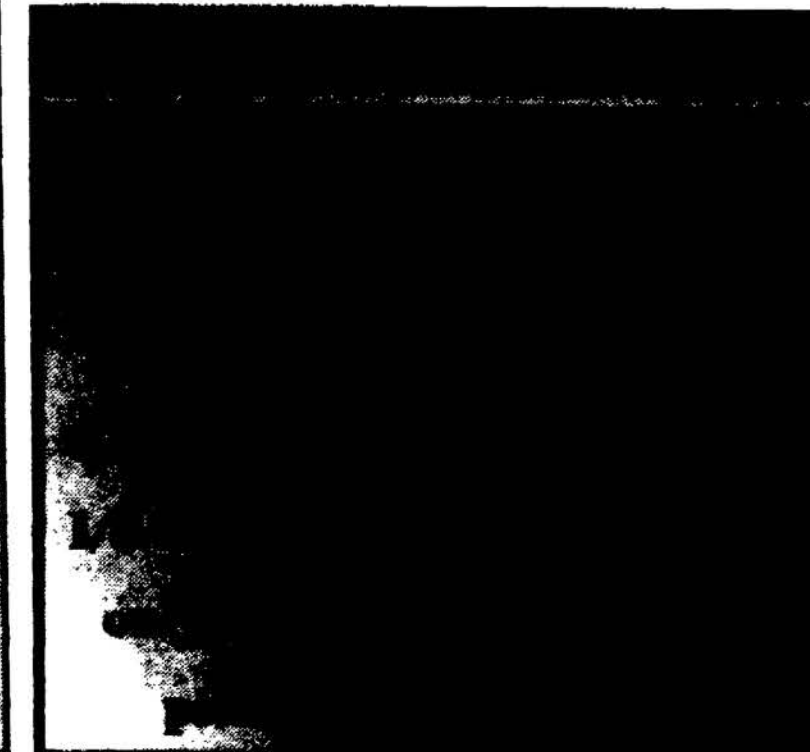

BARRY DRAKE

Concert

WEDNESDAY, SEPT. 20
8 P.M. - THE BACKDOOR

High energy acoustic rock 'n' roll including songs by James Taylor, Bruce Springsteen, The Rolling Stones, Elvis Costello and many more! Combine this with the multi-media program by Barry the night before.

GEN. PUBLIC - $3 FHSU FAC./STAFF - $2 FHSU STUDENTS - FREE

Free Tanning

With a $10 Haircut, get 4 Tanning Sessions FREE

NEW TANNING BULBS FOR OPTIMUM TANNING!

Call today to book an appointment with:
Melissa Stuart • Jenifer Fromholtz • Nicole Klitzke
Kasandra Dillard • Cathy Anderson • Tiffany Stemle

Other Services Available:
Facials • Waxing • Acrylic & Fiberglass Nails • Manicures
Pedicures • Color • Perms • Ear Piercing • Make-up Application

University Card • Mastercard • VISA accepted
2809 Hall Street • 913-625-7632
Must present FHSU Student I.D. • Limited time offer

Visit the Kansas Heartland Display of the AIDS Memorial Quilt

Exhibited for the first time ever in western Kansas

Gross Memorial Coliseum
Fort Hays State University

Opening Ceremony:
Thursday, Sept. 21, 7 p.m.

Display Hours:
Sept. 21, 7-10 p.m.
Sept. 22-23, 8 a.m.-10 p.m.
Sept. 24, 9 a.m.-5 p.m.

Closing Ceremony:
Sunday, Sept. 24, 5 p.m.

For more information,
call (913) 628-4293.

THE NAMES PROJECT
AIDS Memorial Quilt

FREE admission; donations accepted; groups welcome

Why see the Quilt?

AWARENESS: Kansas has 1,415 cases of AIDS. Northwest and southwest Kansas have the fastest rising rates of HIV and AIDS per capita. AIDS is the leading cause of death among Americans ages 25-44. By the year 2000, everyone will know someone with HIV.

COMPASSION: One in 250 Americans is infected with HIV. The fastest growing group of newly infected American adults is women ages 16-36. The World Health Organization estimates that two American women are infected with HIV every minute.

EDUCATION: Among exposure categories, the greatest percentage increase of AIDS worldwide is among people exposed to the disease through heterosexual contact. In a May 1995 poll, 54 percent of American children said that they think they might get AIDS.

INSPIRATION: The AIDS Memorial Quilt, nominated for a Nobel Peace Prize in 1989, is the largest example of a community art project in the world. This may be your only chance to see a project of such international scope in your area.

MOTIVATION: Studies show that two-thirds of high school students said viewing the Quilt made them think more about their chances of becoming infected with HIV and nearly nine out of 10 indicated they will be more likely to take steps to avoid infection.

Shanahan leads Tigers

Rod Smith
Staff Writer

Junior Jason Shanahan, a Colorado native, led the men's race from start to finish and came away with his first collegiate win.

The Tigers ran away from the competition on Saturday as both men's and women's cross country teams took first place at the Colorado College Invitational in Colorado Springs, Colo.

The men scored 48 points, easily outdistancing second-place finisher Colorado College, who tallied 72 points.

On the women's side, the Tigers compiled 32 points, less than half the total of second-place finisher Western State, which only ran their "B" team.

It marked the second time in two weeks Shanahan had placed in the top five.

Junior A.J. Lee, who put 12 seconds from last week's time, ran second for the Tigers. He placed third overall, covering the 5-mile course in 27:39.

Other scorers for the men were freshman Jeth Fouts, 8th; freshman Brian Michael, 15th; and junior Jason Haskett, 21st.

On the women's side, the Tigers packed up to walk away with the team title. The women's scorers all finished in the top 10.

Senior Summer Vann and junior Jen West both ran sub-20 minutes for the 5k course and placed 2nd and 3rd, respectively.

The other three scorers for the women all ran under 21 minutes.

Sophomore Chandra Russell placed 8th; freshman Summer Green took 9th; and Senior Leslie Nielsen finished 10th.

Tigers lose to Bronchos in 28-0 wild horse race

Marc Menard
Staff Writer

The FHSU Tigers, who entered the game against Central Oklahoma ranked 18th in the NCAA Division poll with a 1-0-1 record, are now 0-6 in their series against the Bronchos after losing 28-0 Saturday.

"Anytime you lose it is disappointing. We just didn't play very well," Head Coach Bob Cortese said.

The conditions of the field at Wantland Stadium certainly added to the woes of the struggling Tigers, according to Cortese. The rain and mud made for a sloppy field as there were eight turnovers between the two teams.

"They just played better in the mud than we did. They were able to capitalize on our mistakes and we did not capitalize on their turnovers," Cortese said.

"We are not a real tough and physical team on offense. We have good players, we're not playing to our capabilities right now," Cortese said.

According to Cortese, the Tigers offense will try to focus on getting back to the fundamentals as they prepare to take on the University of Nebraska-Kearney this week.

According to Cortese, the key may be motivation. "They are all competitive athletes. It will be up to the kids to motivate themselves to play harder," Cortese said.

The Tigers return home this week as they prepare to take on UNK who won Saturday against Moorhead State 46-14.

"They are another good team, perhaps the biggest team that we will face this season," Cortese said.

Defensive players Mike Lankas and Steve Porter missed the game with Central Oklahoma because of injuries according to Cortese.

"When you play the tough teams early in the season you are going to get beat up a little," Cortese said. Kickoff for Saturday's contest against UNK is scheduled for 7 p.m. at Lewis Field Stadium.

DATE LINE
NEED A DATE
Meet Guys & Gals
In Your Area!
Call 1-900-945-6100
Ext. 4262
$2.99 Per Min. - Must Be 18 yrs.
Procall Co. (602) 954-7420

Attention Stafford Loan First-Time Borrowers!

In order for you to receive your Stafford Loan funds on or after September 20, you must complete the following steps:

1. Return your promissory note to your lender at least 5 days before disbursement.
2. View a 15 minute loan video prior to disbursement of funds.

Funds will be disbursed in the Loans and Grants Office, Sheridan Hall 108, between the hours of 9 a.m. and 3 p.m. M-F to those students who have completed the steps above. Be sure to bring your FHSU Student I.D.

Free Enlargements

Free
Super
Size™

Now when you buy a Double Cheeseburger Extra Value Meal, you can Super Size it for free. That's more golden delicious fries and more icy soft drink at no extra charge. Get the picture?

NorthHays - 3406 Vine St.
SouthHays - 1201 Vine St.
Russell - 1435 S. Fossil

Have You Had Your Break Today?™

©1995 McDonald's Corp. For a limited time only.

FORT HAYS STATE THEATRE
INVITES YOU TO JOIN US FOR OUR 30TH YEAR OF PERFORMANCE IN FELTEN-START THEATRE:

BECOME A 1995-96 SEASON MEMBER

Four Great Shows--Choice of Four Performances--Best Seats--Air Conditioned--Free Babysitting--30% off Regular Prices--Produced, Directed and Performed by Citizens of Hays, America.

THE BEST LITTLE WHOREHOUSE IN TEXAS October 6-8 and 13-15 Here it is, our classical musical comedy, an engaging romp with all the satiric bite of a playful puppy. A whale of a good time!	THE NORMAL HEART -- November 16-19 This show is an explosive drama about our most terrifying medical crisis, the AIDS epidemic. Larry Kramer's play turns out to be an affirmation of both love and humanity.
JAKE'S WOMEN -- February 29-March 3 Neil Simon has created a poignant comedy about a writer who has gotten into the habit of turning his own life script, an illuminating drama about a man who discovers the courage to love.	PRELUDE TO A KISS April 25-28 A romantic fable about a magical identity swap, and about whether one can truly know one's partner in life and love.

Please make checks payable to Fort Hays State Theatre. Please mail this form and your check to: Fort Hays State Theatre, 600 Park St. Hays KS 67601-4099. For additional information, please call (913) 628-5365.

Name _____
Address _____
City _____ State _____ Zip _____
Telephone Day) _____ (Evening) _____

Thurs., Fri. and Sat. evening performances at 8 p.m. --- Sun. matinees at 2 p.m.

I wish to purchase (#) _____ sets of adult non-student season tickets at $14
 (#) _____ sets of non-FHSU student season tickets at $10
 (#) _____ sets of FHSU student season tickets at $5

Informal Notice of Accessibility: It is important that you enjoy the theatre productions. Persons with special needs or requirements should provide advance notice by calling (913) 628-5365.

ENCORE

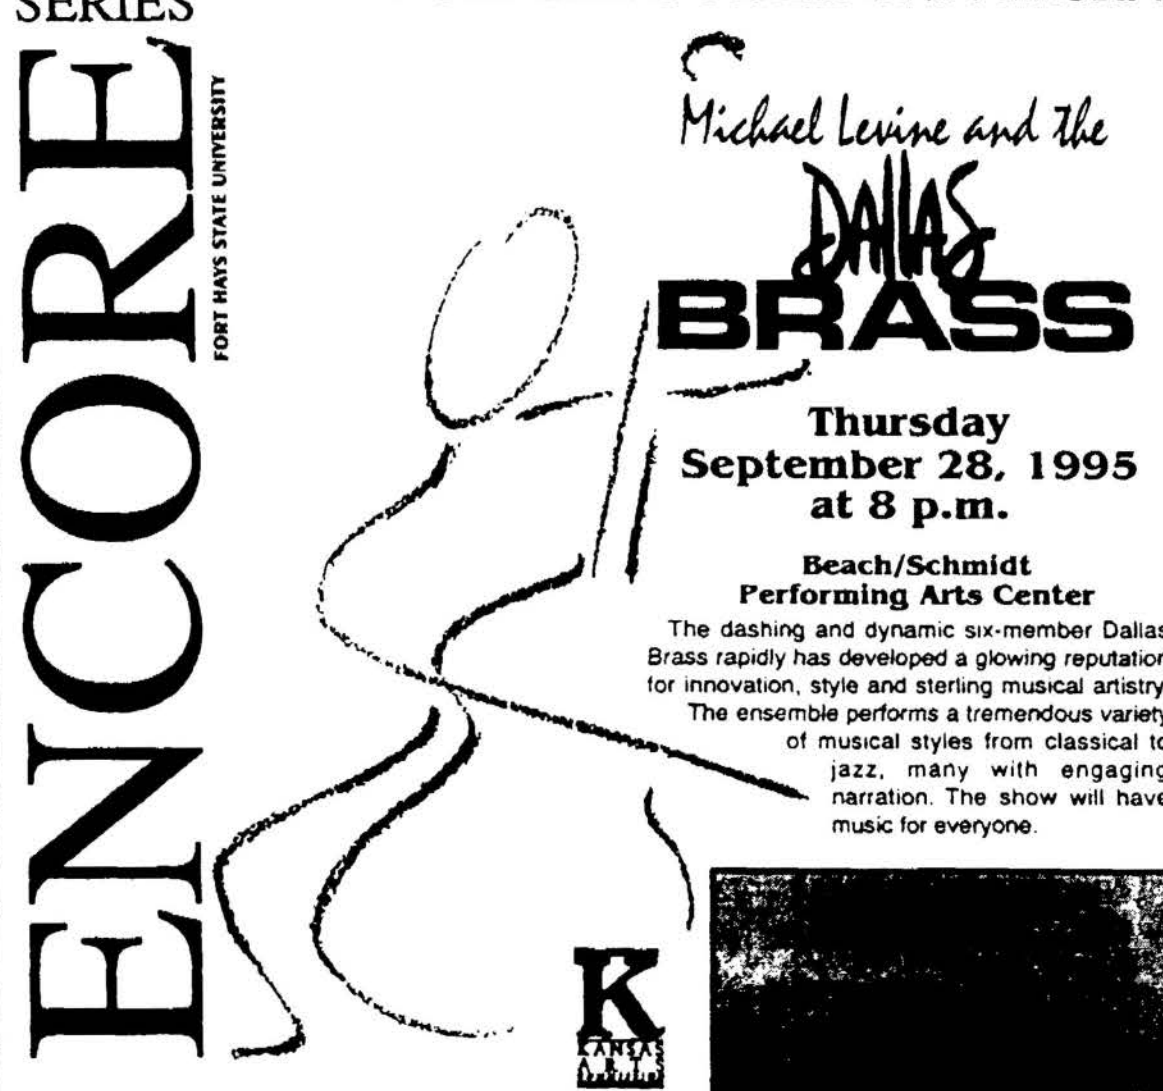

FORT HAYS STATE UNIVERSITY

Michael Levine and the DALLAS
BRASS

Thursday
September 28, 1995
at 8 p.m.

Beach/Schmidt
Performing Arts Center

The dashing and dynamic six-member Dallas Brass rapidly has developed a glowing reputation for innovation, style and sterling musical artistry. The ensemble performs a tremendous variety of musical styles from classical to jazz, many with engaging narration. The show will have music for everyone.

Tickets Go On Sale Monday, Sept. 18 at The Student Service Center.
Charge Orders By Calling (913) 628-5306.

... information call 1-206-634-...

... Outrageous Long Dis-

... tax

... Anytime! Any-

... Great for home,

... school or travel. ...

... the ...

... 913) 628-5365.

So. California. Call Resort
Employment Services 1-
206-632-0150 ext. 157741.

Outrageous Long Dis-

ance Bills? Save up to $200!!! $23.99 per tax

$24.99. Anytime! Anywhere! Great for home,

school or travel. ...

... the ...

... 913) 628-5365.