Women's History Month Fact: "Nothing in Life is to be Feared..."

Marie Curie, physicist and chemist was the first ever woman to receive not just one, but two Nobel Prize Prizes; first for physics (spontaneous radiation) and second for chemistry. Curie's studies would eventually cost her life, as she contracted a radiation-related blood disease and died in 1934.

Email Policy

In December, 2018, FHSU Cabinet approved an updated email policy. The updated policy can be viewed at <https://www.fhsu.edu/policies/info-access/index>.

The main purpose behind this change was to clarify the language about forwarding email. The policy now reads: "Faculty and staff are not to automatically forward their official @fhsu.edu e-mail to another vendor for themselves including their @mail.fhsu.edu Google account. Unauthorized automatic forwards will be removed by Technology Services." We will start enforcing this portion of the policy on Friday, March 8, 2019. Tech Services will remove the "forwarding" setting on any account forwarded to another email system. We will also remove any mail rules that redirect email to another email system.

Security and legal requirements are the primary reasons for keeping all FHSU email within one mail system. We can't ensure that data are being protected in accordance with FERPA, HIPAA, and other regulations when internal communications are being forwarded outside of FHSU's control. We're also required to report privacy breaches to our students, which is impossible to do when our internal communications are funneled to outside platforms. We've invested in additional security features and protection for our Outlook email system, which is why we aren't allowing Outlook email to be forwarded to FHSU Gmail. Additionally, keeping all FHSU email within Outlook also gives us the ability to respond to litigation holds and Kansas Open Records Act requests.

Please email magriffin2@fhsu.edu if you have any questions about the email policy. TigerTech can assist you if you have any trouble accessing or using your FHSU Outlook email account.
