TILT Tip: Knowledge Series – Procedural Knowledge

In cognitive psychology, procedural knowledge is the knowledge of “doing things,” “performing actions,” and applying existing knowledge to new problems or situations. Unlike declarative knowledge that usually involves objectively fixed facts and information, procedural knowledge usually involves a series/sequences of steps or processes that could be presented in various orders. For instance, while there maybe multiple ways to solve a certain mathematical problem, some processes may prove to be more effective and efficient than others. Even in the real world, there may be routes (from one place to another) that are preferred by different travelers because they have lesser traffics, despite longer distances. In traditional education, procedural knowledge can sometimes be assessed using pen-and-paper, such as solving a mathematics problem, doing calculations, or presenting a drawing skill. But not all skills can be assessed using the traditional pen-and-paper method, such as driving a car, putting out a fire, playing an instrument, or navigation.

Employment Connections – 600 Commerce Pkwy, Hays

Please join us to learn more about a wonderful collaboration between the FHSU Art Department and Developmental Services of Northwest Kansas (DSNWK). FHSU students are providing structured art experiences centered on weaving, drawing, and photography to help expand the arts in the Hays community. This project is based on the model of Socially Engaged Art, which seeks to create art with communities for their benefit and for the benefit of public arts. Participants are currently working on pieces to be showcased at the Spring Gallery Walk at the Hays Public Library. All art work will be for sale and funds will go towards the continuation of this collaboration between FHSU and DSNWK.

MDC Workshop: Design for Non-Designers

Thursday, May 9; 9:00am to 4:00pm

Memorial Union, Stouffer Lounge

Great design is a critically important component of your marketing efforts – it creates meaningful first impressions, differentiates your organization from competitors, boosts awareness, and is a great way to connect with customers. The MDC's brand-new workshop Design for Non-Designers will explore the elements and principles of design and how you can use it to make your company more appealing to potential customers.

In Design for Non-Designers, participants will learn why design is important for effective marketing, review great (and bad) logos, and much more. A few of the topics covered include using color effectively, communicating with type, tips on designing common marketing pieces, and when to hire a professional or design on your own.

You don't have to be wildly creative to make effective designs!

Piece-of-the-Pie Scholarship

Please share with students and student employees, or consider gifting this opportunity to your student workers:

Students can win the Piece-of-the-Pie scholarship for the 2019 – 20 academic year by purchasing tickets. Criminal Justice Club members are selling tickets for the half-and-half scholarship until May 13, and all FHSU students can win. The more tickets sold, the more the scholarship is worth. Tickets can be purchased for 1/$1.00, 6/$5.00, or 13/$10.00. There are several ways to purchase tickets, including: 1) stop by the Department of Criminal Justice in Rarick 233; 2) email tjlynn@fhsu.edu to request tickets; 3) visit the Criminal Justice Club's booth at the UAB carnival on April 27, where each game played equals one entry for the scholarship; or 4) look for members outside of Starbucks in the Union on May 1 and 2.

If every on-campus student bought just one ticket, one lucky student would win a scholarship of more than $2000. Online students are also eligible to win. The winner will be notified Monday, May 13. The scholarship will be received through FHSU Foundation, as with any other scholarship.

Do not delay; get your tickets today!
