Free coffee hour following the movie at the Social Building. This film is a photographic record of the French Himalayan Expedition of 1950, and it closely follows the book, "Annapurna," by Maurice Herzog, the leader of the expedition. Filmed as it happened-the magnificent color documentary of the preparation for, the ascent of, and the agonizing descent of Annapurna, one of the magic circle of "Eight Thousanders," the great mountains of the earth. This film is 57 minutes long. It is a family film and it is being sponsored by the Social Committee. Charges are 25 cents per person, 40 cents a couple, and children under twelve are admitted free.
