Establishing a Norm of Intonation – Research Conducted by Dr. Li

One of the CSD professors, Dr. Li, is conducting research to establish a norm of intonation. If you are between 18 and 30 years old, without any previous or current neurological diseases, you are invited to participate in this research project. If you participate, you will be asked to read an English paragraph. We will audio record your reading in Albertson Hall. The audio of your reading will be analyzed for intonation patterns to establish the norm. The norm from this research will help a lot of people who have speech difficulties. The whole process will take 15 to 30 minutes.

If you are interested, please fill in the following form, providing us with TWO possible participation times between June 3rd and July 29th. After you sign up, we will provide you with more details. Thank you for your help!

Forsyth Library Presents “Paeans to Opportunity, Diatribes on Opportunism: Contrasting Representations in Gilded Age Literature”

The Gilded Age Literature collection is now on display in the Special Exhibits Gallery on the main floor of Forsyth Library. The foundations of modern America took root during the period known as “The Gilded Age.” To highlight this period, the works of Mark Twain and Horatio Alger are featured in the exhibit as influencers of succeeding generations' understanding of the Gilded Age. The narrative fictions established in the featured texts, as well as their readers' interpretations, convey competing depictions of the period, revealing the complexities of the nineteenth century.

Visit this exciting new exhibit for a limited time during regular building hours. After viewing the display, give us your feedback and checkout a book to learn more about the Gilded Age.

For hours or contact information, visit the Forsyth Library homepage at <https://fhsu.edu/library/>.
