MEMORANDUM

TO: All Interested Parties
FROM: R. Lynn Rogers
SUBJECT: Union Activities
DATE: September 22, 1975

This past Tuesday night, we had the usual good attendance at the "How To Succeed In College" class. Unfortunately, what we needed prior to the class was a session in "How To Operate A Projector" as it seems our projectionist, my boss, experienced great difficulty for a few moments. However, after a few well-chosen words, which by the way were not taught in any of our English classes, the projector snapped into shape and all went well.

Our other film being shown the same night did not go so well as we are still having sound difficulties which hopefully will be cleared up this week by Bud Baxter. We've promised him a free pass to the movies and a stolen Gideon Bible if he will just fix it. While it may be interesting to watch Richard Burton star as Bluebeard and cut his way into history, it's quite difficult to lip read English-dubbed Italian made films. I doubt if even Mr. Berlitz could do that.

On Wednesday, we had around 700 Bankers here for a meeting and banquet. Everything seemed to go quite well and they were pleased. I don't believe I've ever been around a group which collectively represented so much money and yet they all talked as if they were destitute. I had hoped to borrow enough money from one of the bankers in order to buy a larger sailboat. However, after the banquet was underway and one of them asked to borrow ten dollars from me, I decided it was time to leave. I'll keep the boat I have!

Friday evening Agnew Hall sponsored a dance in the Fort Hays Ballroom at 9:00 p.m. The decorations were great and even though what sounded like a ten-piece rock band turned out to be two guys with a lot of electronic help, they were pretty good. I don't know where in the hall everyone was but there were only 50-60 people there although from the leftovers next morning, one might have assumed (or consumed) that the V.F.W. held its National Convention here!

Thanks to Anita LeFevre, my Administrative Assistant, and MUAB for the new art exhibit in Cody Cafeteria. The work is a project by Kathleen Kuchar, one of our own faculty members, and we've received many compliments about it. By the way, no we are not attempting to wallpaper the Union. The many large signs you see hanging here and there are the handiwork of MUAB as part of their advertising some of their forthcoming programs. They figure if they are big enough you can't miss them and that those of you who can read will read!

One of the programs is the October 28 concert of everyone's favorite "Barefoot Jerry!" What do you mean "Who?" His group won 22 grammy awards this year for outstanding musicianship! They have many famous records out such as . . . well I'll let you know as soon as I remember. Anyway, the price is right and the fun-filled evening in Gross Memorial Coliseum will be opened by none other than John Biggs! Come on guys, you have to get started somewhere.

Also, next week MUAB will present round two of Jack White, one of the world's great pool (shark) professionals. He will put on demonstrations in the Recreation Area next Friday at noon and again in the evening. We do have a few good stick shooters on campus who might even wind up with a challenge! Be prepared Costigan, Bozeman, and Beardslee. . .

By the way, if anyone is inadvertently offended by these efforts to keep you informed of the Union being alive and well, please accept my apologies and do not challenge me to any sunrise duels as my heart doesn't start beating until noon. (I know, some of you didn't even think I had one!)

More later, provided the action continues. . .
