Fall 2020 TILT Course Resource Page and Workshops

FHSU has put together great resources, workshops, and a faculty support network to help you plan for the development of your Fall Courses. You can access these resources on TILT's TigerLearn Blog by following this link: <https://tigerlearn.fhsu.edu/fall-2020/>

A number of FHSU Faculty members have volunteered their skills and expertise in specific areas such as Blackboard, video creation, and online classroom participation. You will find the FHSU Faculty Resource Network at: <https://tigerlearn.fhsu.edu/fhsu-faculty-resource-network/>

This is an asynchronous two-week workshop for those who want to get more comfortable with Blackboard and will cover topics such as Ultra Base Navigation, grade center, assignments, and creating tests in Blackboard.

This is a cohort workshop for a group of 15-25 faculty members and it will be offered twice this month. Please follow the links below to register.

FREE High Plains Music Camp!

July 12 - 17, 2020 (Sunday through Friday)

ONLINE

For 72 consecutive years before 2020, the High Plains Music Camp has been held on the Fort Hays State University campus. Due to Covid-19 we had to make the difficult call whether to have the camp at all. Thanks to all of the camp faculty (FHSU faculty and guest faculty) donating their time to giving online classes to student musicians we are able to offer a COVERTED camp experience. We won't see the students walking around campus with their instruments but we can rest assured that FHSU is being promoted in a very positive way. For any parents or grandparents of student musicians, this is an excellent opportunity for them to dust off their skills before school starts in the fall.

Middle School Band & String students - those entering 6th, 7th, or 8th grades in August, 2020
High School Band, Jazz Band, String, & Vocal students - those entering 9th, 10th, 11th, or 12th grades in August, 2020 plus seniors who graduated in May.

Students must be registered (even though it is free), to have access to the Zoom classes for every instrument. They may register all the way into the camp week. If you have any questions you can email Ivalah Allen at ijallen@fhsu.edu or musiccamp@fhsu.edu. Help us by filling these classes with deserving young musicians.
