195. History of British Oratory. 3 cr. hrs. History of the development of rhetorical theory and criticism from 18th century British public address to modern times.

The course, Debate Activities 41, for 1 credit hour was proposed but the Senate delayed action until further information could be secured about the course.

In the area of Literature, two of the courses proposed are in the "400" group; and the Senate felt that these should be approved because of the need for courses in this numbered category. The following courses were approved:

138. Modern West African Literature. 3 cr. hrs. Prerequisite, 26. A study of modern West African culture and literature in English, and English translations from French, with emphasis upon socio-cultural, political, and historical attitudes.

400. Seminar. 3 cr. hrs. For Specialist in Education degree candidates. Folklore and literature, American literature of the 1920's, teacher-student images in literature, literature and social problems constitute the basis of this study.

426. Appreciation of Poetry. 3 cr. hrs. A course in how to read and enjoy poems, based on both a theoretical study of poetry and a practical, applied study of six major poets. Not for English majors.

Action on the proposed course, Elements of Photography 29, was delayed until further information regarding the course is provided. The Senate will consider this course at the next meeting.

Division of Physical Science: The following courses are being dropped by the Physical Science Division:

| | |
|---------------------------|------------|
| Chemistry 175 | 3 cr. hrs. |
| Mathematics 158 | 2 cr. hrs. |
| Total | 5 cr. hrs. |

The following courses were approved: (One of these is a "400" numbered course. The course, Scientific Computer Programming 185, is in the data processing. Two workshops for the summer session students were proposed. One is in chemistry and one is in astronomy. The course, Sound Science 20, was formerly taught by Mr. Tom Barr in the Music Division and is primarily for music students. The course, Household Physics 20, is for home economics students.)

180. Workshop in Chemistry. Recent Trends in Teaching High School Chemistry. 3 cr. hrs. The objectives and techniques of the CHEM Study and Chemical Bond Approach of chemistry teaching will be presented. Participants will obtain experience in the new methods of presentation.

185. Scientific Computer Programming. 3 cr. hrs. Two lectures, one two-hour laboratory each week. Prerequisite, Calculus 50. A study of basic programming concepts for the 1620 computer with emphasis on the solution of scientific problems.

400. Foundations of Mathematics. 3 cr. hrs. Prerequisite, permission. For the mature student who wishes to gain an understanding of the basic principles of mathematics. Deals with (a) logic and sets as a foundation for mathematics, (b) the concept of an axiom system, (c) the distinction between intuitive and deductive argument and (d) the distinction between mathematics and its applications.

20. Household Physics. 4 cr. hrs. Prerequisite, none. A presentation of operating principles for equipment used in the home. Treatment is largely non-mathematical. Includes instruction in the care and maintenance of household equipment.

40. Sound Science. 3 cr. hrs. Prerequisite, none. An elementary investigation of the science of sound, sound reproduction, musical instrumentation, and acoustics.

150. Workshop in Astronomy. 3 cr. hrs. Prerequisite, permission. An intensive elementary study of astronomy, with emphasis on recent developments in space science and on instructional devices and techniques. Night-time telescopic observation is an integral part of the course.

Division of Social Science. Five new courses in the "400" area were approved. The courses approved are as follows:

164. American Southwest. 3 cr. hrs. Prerequisite, 4 and 20. A comprehensive study of the exploration, acquisition settlement, development and influence of the region.

400. American Heritage. 3 cr. hrs. For non-majors with a Master's Degree. An examination of the historiography, discipline, and the ideas of American History.

90. Methods of Teaching Secondary Social Studies. 2 cr. hrs. Prerequisite, major in one of the social studies or permission. This is a course dealing with the methods of teaching history, sociology, and political science.

160. Totalitarian Political Patterns. 3 cr. hrs. An analysis of the main totalitarian systems, both European and non-European, emphasizing the role of ideology, the Party, and other selected instruments of rule.

161. Political Behavior. 3 cr. hrs. An introduction to the behavioral approach to the study of politics with emphasis on assumptions, techniques, and concepts, as well as substantive findings of behavioral research.

178. Social Stratification. 3 cr. hrs. Caste, class, and race as forces in status relations in society with special reference to careers, life opportunities, and to institutions.

435. Seminar in Governmental Problems. 3 cr. hrs. An intensive inquiry into the legislative process, political behavior, federal, state and local relations. The teaching of modern political ideologies in the secondary schools, and curriculum and bibliography in government and the political process.

476. Current Issues and Problems in Public Administration. 3 cr. hrs. A review of the traditional theories and concepts of public administration with emphasis on their application to current issues and problems of the administrator.

480. Seminar in Public Law and the Judicial Process. 2-3 cr. hrs. A study of legal materials and the judicial decision-making process. Emphasis is on the growth of the common law, court structure and functions, and the use of legal materials.

490. Perspectives in Sociology and Anthropology. 3 cr. hrs. Central concepts of sociology and anthropology as they relate to the contemporary world along with social change and associated problems in industrial societies. The anthropological emphasis deals with cultural differences and change in the preliterate and folk worlds.

The course, 182 Collective Behavior, was not approved because it was felt that it duplicated the course, 53 Social Psychology.

Division of Music. The following course from the Music Division was approved:

401. Music in the Public Schools. 2 cr. hrs. A cognate course for school administrators. A study and analysis of the organization and administration of the public school music program as a co-curricular and extra-curricular activity.

All told during our consideration of courses this fall the Senate has approved courses totaling 198 cr. hrs. and has dropped courses totaling 129 cr. hrs., thus leaving a net increase of 69 hours. Of these 69 credit hours, 50 were new courses in the "400" area. Thus, there has been an addition of 19 credit hours in courses numbered below 400.

Basic Studies. The program of Basic Studies as modified by the Division Chairmen was approved by the Faculty Senate. The modifications made in the program were discussed briefly. It was evident that there were no basic changes as outlined by the Senate initially.

The proposal from the Council for the Preparation of Teachers was discussed briefly and it was decided to discuss this at a greater length in the meeting next Monday, November 23.

Two letters from President Cunningham to the Senate were presented. The letters dealt with course proposals being made and with the report being made by the Council for the Preparation of Teachers.

The meeting adjourned at 4:50 p.m.

John D. Garwood, Chairman

Standlee V. Dalton, Secretary
